Vol. XXVII. No. 23. EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN MARCH 24, 1922

PROF. E. S. KING, of the public speaking department, and Mrs. King were seriously injured in an automobile accident last Saturday evening. Mrs. Leverenz, house mother at Abbot Hall, was in the same accident but escaped with minor cuts and bruises. While Professor King was able to leave the hospital late in the week, Mrs. King is still confined to her bed with severe injuries, including several broken bones. While her condition is reported to be improving slowly, it is probable, according to hospital authorities, that she will be unable to leave the hospital for several weeks. The Kings were returning from a dance at Lansing in a taxicab when the accident occurred. Turning into the West entrance to the college grounds from Michigan avenue, the driver failed to see a west bound trolley and skidded directly into the path of the oncoming car.

THE ANNUAL SPRING vacation begins at noon Friday, March 24, registration for the Spring Term being scheduled for Tuesday, April 4.

ARTHUR KRAFT, well known tenor singer, who was scheduled to appear on the Liberal Arts Course Monday evening, postponed his concert one month.

J. W. WESTON '14, for several years county agricultural agent leader in the Upper Peninsula, was recently appointed potato specialist with the college extension division. As soon as a successor for the county agent position can be secured, Weston will move to East Lansing to take up his duties in the new field.

ON SATURDAY, APRIL 1ST, a "Friday banquet" will be held in East Lansing under the auspices of a group of faculty men and East Lansing business men. The banquet, which will be in honor of Mr. Friday's assumption of office on that day, is to be held in the People's Church. It will be the first opportunity for many college and East Lansing men to meet the new president. It is to be a stag affair.

M. A. C. WAS WELL REPRESENTED at a convention of fieldmen from the Mill and Elevator Mutual Insurance Companies held at Indianapolis last week. Of the 75 delegates in attendance, 12 were engineers who claim M. A. C. as their Alma Mater. L. P. Dendel '14, of Lansing, served as president of the Fieldmen's Association last year. Other M. A. C. men at the recent convention included: E. F. Bouchroush '00, C. H. Hall '13, Gleason Allen '13, W. H. Thompson '15, R. A. Shenefield '20, E. C. Hach '20, R. W. Noddis '20, R. C. Kinney '21, R. A Backus '21 and R. M. Maitland '21. Seven of the M. A. C. men took part on the program of the convention.

THE M. A. C. SUMMER SCHOOL will run from June 26 until Aug. 4 this year, according to announcement just made by Prof. E. H. Ryder, director of summer session work. In addition to regular undergraduate courses in all divisions of the college, adapted material in agriculture, engineering, home economics, and applied science is being planned for special courses. The curriculum of the summer session has been broadened considerably this year in order to meet the demand from teachers of the state for work especially designed for their needs. Vocational education for home economics teachers who need further work to qualify under the Smith-Hughes legislation is included in the courses as announced.

EXCALIBUR, NEW M. A. C. honorary fraternity, initiated its first delegation of new members last Tuesday evening. Excalibur, a men's general campus activity society, was started a year ago by popular election of the original group. Future selection of members will be made by the fraternity itself. Honorary groups of this kind are present in practically all the leading universities of the country. Bringing together the leading men of each college year, they provide an effective working unit for direction of campus sentiment and activities.

AN EFFORT TO PREVENT conflict in scheduling dates for the many and varied undergraduate activities will be made next term by the calling together of presidents of all campus organizations at the beginning of the term. At this meeting which is being sponsored by the Student Council, dates for the more important term activities will be assigned.

THE POSSIBILITY THAT GOLF may become a recognized sport on the college athletic program in the future was brought out recently by action of Director C. L. Brewer in issuing a challenge to the University of Michigan for a dual match between joint student-faculty teams of the two institutions. M. A. C.'s nine-hole course has been worked into fair playing condition, and many students and faculty will try their luck at the ancient game this spring.

STUDENTS OF THE GIRLS' physical training classes staged an exhibition of their winter term work in the gymnasium Monday evening. Gymnastics, interpretive dancing, swimming and various indoor games were illustrated in the exhibition, which was held under the direction of the women athletic instructors, Miss Grimes, Miss Landenbach and Miss McCormack.

PRESIDENT-ELECT DAVID FRIDAY spoke at a joint luncheon of M. A. C. and Michigan alumni in Detroit on Thursday, March 25.
To Organize St. Clair County Association.

Organization of a St. Clair County M. A. C. association will be effected at a meeting in Port Huron on March 27. A committee of five, representing the alumni of the section, is calling the get-together meeting and arranging a program for the occasion.

Supper at 6:30 and general visiting afterward are announced as leading "features." Wives, husbands, and sweethearts of M. A. C.-ites are all invited. Plans call for a personal representative from the college to aid in the organization work. The First Methodist Church, Lapeer Avenue, is to be the meeting place.

Those who sign the letter of announcement, as a committee, are: Jane McNinch '19, Marion Cameron '18, Marshall Draper '21, Harold Springer '21, and R. S. Campbell '04.

1912 Plans Tenth Reunion.

Lansing members of the class of '12 are making an early start with preparations for the tenth reunion of the class in June. The following "story" of the reunion plans comes from the pen of E. E. Hotchin:

"The opening gun of the 1912 campaign has been fired, although all energy is being directed toward the main offensive to be launched June 21st, when the members of the clan will assemble for their 10th reunion on the old M. A. C. campus.

"Saturday evening, March 18th, a few of the Lansing residents gathered for the purpose of renewing acquaintances and discussing plans for the coming reunion. The clever letter sent out by Ralph Goodell was able to interest at least a dozen, and these few fit the tires to start the class spirit boiling.

"Ralph Goodell was appointed chairman of the publicity committee. All members are now asked to take a day off and make suggestions as to what they would like to do when they return for the reunion. Then if any time is left of the day, go out and earn a dollar to send for campaign expenses.

"Clint Ballard will lead the committee which will arrange for a reunion banquet on the evening of commencement day. Mrs. Latie Robinson Gunson will be in charge of the reception committee.

"Verne Branch has been asking that some good costume be devised as appropriate for the dignity of the class and the solemnity of the occasion, so you are all asked to witness likely that Verne is designated officially as chairman of the 'Costume and Stunt Committee.'

"Each one of the chairmen has the power to appoint as many to assist him as he wishes, so you are severally and collectively notified to be ready when called to do your stunt."

The Detroit Threemian Alumnæ held their monthly dinner at the Blue Bird Tea Room on Tuesday, March 14.

"Buck" Ewing Issues '92 Reunion Call.

Members of the class of 1892 were summoned to appear upon the old campus next June for the thirtieth reunion of their class in a letter sent out recently by G. Elmer (Buck) Ewing, East Lansing representative.

"Our thirtieth anniversary next June must be a red letter day," said Ewing in his letter. "It is also the regular reunion date for '90, '91 and '93. We want to get all who ever belonged to the class (and never joined any other) whether they graduated or not. They are always '92 men, you know. If you know any of the old boys' whereabouts, please let me know their addresses and also take it upon yourself to get word to them, for we want every man to come back.

"Practice up the old yell and rehearse the class song. Come and help us whoop-er-up in June. East Lansing headquarters at 307 Abbott Road.

Those of '92 whose addresses are known, and to whom the reunion letters were sent, are listed below. News of any others will be appreciated.

Flint M. A. C. Club Meets.

About forty members of the Flint M. A. C. Club gathered at the Dresden Hotel on March 30th for a banquet and meeting. Discussion of the college name question came up during the evening, and the following resolution was passed:

Whereas, there exists among the alumni of the Michigan Agricultural College a widespread dissatisfaction with the present name of the college, which misrepresents the college training of two-thirds of the present day graduates; and,

Whereas, we believe this misrepresentation of name to be a serious handicap in the growth and influence of the institution along technical lines, without compensatory advantages in the field of agricultural education; and,

Whereas, we believe that changing the name of the institution to "Michigan State College" or some such equivalent name would benefit both the institution and its alumni:

Be It Resolved, that the Flint Alumni Association of the Michigan Agricultural College record its earnest desire to secure an early change in the name of the college.

A resolution of thanks was tendered C. W. McKibbin for the service he rendered the M. A. C. alumni body during his term as secretary of the general association.

The following were present at the meeting:

THE M. A. C. RECORD
The M. A. C. Record

A few 1921 Wolverines, one of the most attractive issues of the M. A. C. year book ever published, were left over after all Wolverines had been made. These books are being offered for sale now at the “barbain” price of three dollars each, a bit of news which will be of particular interest to members of the 1921 class who did not secure Wolverines last spring or who wish additional copies as souvenirs.

Orders should be sent to C. W. Gustafson, business manager 1921 Wolverine, East Lansing, with enclosure of the three-dollar price plus postage for a five-pound package.

Athletics

M. A. C. Will Not Join New Conference

That M. A. C. will not affiliate with the proposed Mid-West Collegiate Athletic Conference was indicated by Director Brewer on his return from the organization meeting of the schools interested, in Chicago, last Saturday. Institutions in the proposed group are too widely scattered and too far apart in relative athletic standing to permit satisfactory conference relations, for M. A. C., at least.

Notre Dame University took the same attitude regarding the new conference, and it is apparently an open question as to whether or not the organization will be completed at all.

Brewer attended meetings of the Western Conference, or so-called “Big Ten,” held in Chicago at the same time. Discussion of independent and “summer” baseball in relation to college eligibility, and the general question of allowing college athletes to represent any outside team while they are undergraduates came up before the Conference, with final decision delayed until the June meeting.

Of particular interest to M. A. C. was the decision of the Western Conference group to limit their schedules (after next year) to teams which held to strict “conference” eligibility rules. M. A. C. has followed these regulations closely in recent years, and will benefit greatly by the stand of the Big Ten. It will mean that the disadvantage of having to meet teams from colleges of approximately her own size, which have used freshmen and followed no close eligibility rules, will be largely eliminated. In the future, practically all western schools will have to “clean up” in order to be recognized on the schedules of leading teams. M. A. C., already on a sound eligibility basis, will have no house cleaning to do, and will make a decided relative advance in the ratings of the college athletic world.

Necrology

Ernest Howard Bradner ’69.

Ernest H. Bradner, ’69, died at his home in Sacramento, California, March 4, 1922. J. N. Bidwell, who sent in this information, in a recent letter says, “During the few years that Mrs. Bidwell and I lived in Sacramento, we grew to know Mr. Bradner rather intimately. He was always a ‘big brother’ to any M. A. C. acquaintance, and had a very kindly disposition toward anyone he could assist. He was very fond of flowers and usually had one with him, and for his friends. I recollect his telling me that he taught school for a good many years after coming to California, until his health failed.”

James Satterlee, ’60, adds this tribute, “Just a word or two in addition to the above. The passing of E. H. Bradner leaves three graduates of the class of ’69, Richard Haigh, Paul J. Wilkins, and myself, among the living. Bradner was my roommate during the last three years of our college course. The last year we occupied a room together on the third floor of old College Hall. A rather lonely place but it left precious memories. Bradner came from a pleasant farm home at Redford near Detroit. He was a loyal friend, a faithful student and absolutely clean in his moral life. I lost track of him, as I did of most of my classmates, during the strenuous days of rail splitting and land clearing for twenty years after leaving college. But the old companionship was delightfully renewed when I visited his home in Sacramento eleven years ago. I found him the same lover of flowers and trees and music and children and of clean living that characterized him in the old college days. He was greatly enamored of his adopted city and state, and always spoke in his letters of the glorious mountains and forests and climate of golden California. He was keenly enjoying his home life and altruistic work.

“His passing on leaves another vacancy in the number of the ‘Old Grads’ who came in direct contact with Abbot and Kedzie, with Fairchild and Miles, and with Prentiss and Clute and Cook in the pioneer days at M. A. C.’”

James Satterlee.

This comes from I. T. Pickford, Hart, Michigan: "Still and yet agricultural agent for the best county in Michigan. No—I didn't make it the best. So far as old M. A. C. is concerned there is room for more effective improvement than merely changing her name. We trust she is now starting a new lease of sane development. We want to be proud to recommend M. A. C. to prospective students. She must get ahead of the high schools in lab. equipment and teaching force; also ahead of the farmer in practical application of theory. Any of us can tell a farmer sixty things in sixty minutes that he ought to do. He will admit most of it, but how—well that is the problem we farm agents are working at from all angles."

"But if you do come, come late.
"If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming.
"If you don't attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and other members.
"Never accept an office, as it is easier to criticise than to do things.
"Nevertheless, get sore, if you are not appointed on a committee, but if you are, do not attend the committee meetings.
"If asked by the chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everyone how things ought to be done.
"Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly, unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the association is run by a clique.

The ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

offered by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston for the best answer to Mr. Edison's question, "Who Was John Hancock?" has been awarded to Leon V. Quigley, a student at the Worcester (Mass.) Polytechnic Institute. This answer, giving a correct, concise and comprehensive statement of the position occupied by John Hancock in American history, is printed below in full.

"Who Was John Hancock?"

JOHN HANCOCK was an American statesman and patriot. His signature is found on the oldest and most important documents of Massachusetts, and of the United States. He was the first signer of the Declaration of Independence and was the first Governor of Massachusetts.

John Hancock was born at Quincy, Massachusetts, in 1737. He graduated from Harvard College, and entering upon his uncle's business became a successful merchant in Boston. He gained much in social power and in wealth, being meanwhile justly popular for his integrity and ability.

He was in 1765-1770 a selectman of Boston and a member of the general court. With Samuel Adams he led the Massachusetts Whigs, and only escaped capture at Lexington and Concord by virtue of the valiant fight by the Minute Men on the "Nineteenth of April in '75."

John Hancock was subsequently known in various positions: as President of the Continental Congress, as Major-General of the Massachusetts military forces, as President of the Constitutional Convention. He died at Quincy, Massachusetts, October 8, 1793.

The historical position of John Hancock is unique in State and Nation. He wielded great political influence but was always liberal and public-spirited. His name is most prominent as a Whig leader during the American Revolution in such events as the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party and the battles of Lexington and Concord.

John Hancock signed his name first to the Declaration of Independence. He thus risked his own "life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness" that these privileges might be obtained for others to enjoy. To this end he "pledged his life, his fortune, and his sacred honor."

That he was popular and efficient may be judged from the fact that he was for ten years Governor of Massachusetts, being elected annually to this office by popular vote.

John Hancock insured the life of the Nation—

We will insure your life with the same integrity
