LEGISLATURE FAVORS STADIUM

Bill Meets Approval in House and is Expected to Pass Senate—House Accepts Appropriation Measure as it Comes from Committee

Two achievements were marked up for the friends of M. A. C. last week. Both the stadium loan bill and the appropriation bill for the college were passed by the House and were expected to find good treatment in the Senate. As it came from committee the appropriation bill includes $400,000 for a horticultural building and greenhouses, $150,000 for remodeling the power house, $50,000 for miscellaneous buildings; provisions for a new bridge over the Red Cedar, the purchase of the Minnis farm; $35,000 for research, $150,000 for extension.

While the amount allowed in this bill is not as much as the college requested it still is much more than has ever been granted before for general expense outside of building appropriations. In noting the value of research to the state the legislature has done one thing which was not expected and President Friday's extension program was treated liberally when the slashes made in the budgets of other state institutions are considered.

The horticultural building will provide the college with a most modern plant for the instruction of students in this science and will also place in the hands of the department the facilities needed for graduate work and study. The chemistry building could have been added with much benefit to the college for the department is housed in several different buildings and the concentration of this work would give it the same advantage as that enjoyed by the bacteriology department. As matters stand, however, with the erection of the library and home economics building some of the departments which are now badly crowded and inconveniently by lack of proper offices will have an opportunity to better themselves. It is probable that all administrative offices will be centralized in the old library and all laboratories and class rooms for the women in the home economics building, relieving the congestion in the agricultural building.

In providing a fund, not to exceed $150,000, for the erection of a stadium at M. A. C., the legislature has gone beyond the bounds of the most roseate dreams of students and alumni. As no other single action could this will insure the athletic future of the college and through having favorable conditions the college will be attractive to desirable students. Governor Groesbeck has been back of this plan from the start and has urged it upon the legislature, alumni in the assembly have given it their unqualified support and those throughout the state have added their influence by requesting that their senators and representatives give M. A. C. a chance to replace the broken down stands on College field with seating facilities comparable to the needs of the college.

ALUMNAE COUNCIL CHOOSES OFFICERS

The Alumnae council held its annual meeting at the Flower Pot tea room on April 16 and re-elected its officers for the coming year. Mrs. Frank Carpenter, '02, will continue to direct the alumnae affairs of those living in Lansing and East Lansing. It was decided at the meeting that the council would continue to support the Practice house. In conducting the Flower Pot tea room during the first period of its existence the alumnae cleared enough money to contribute $1,000 toward the Practice house and purchase equipment for the tea room. This was turned over to the college when the home economics department took over the management of the tea room.

Mrs. J. F. Cox, '16, was appointed chairman of a special committee to handle the arrangements for a concert by Mary Allen, '09, in the gymnasium in the interest of the Union memorial building fund.

There were about twenty members present and dinner was served.
DETROIT CLUB HAS DANCE ON MAY 4

Spring has brought renewed visions to the members of the Detroit M. A. C. club and the alumni there have planned a dance for Friday evening, May 4, with cards for those who do not dance, at the Twentieth Century club, Columbia and Witherell streets. President Friday has been invited as the guest of honor and the patrons will be Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McColl, '90, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodworth, '98, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pagelsen, '89, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lightbody, '90. The arrangements for the party are in the hands of a committee headed by G. V. Branch, '12, and E. W. Middlemiss, '14. Sub-committees are in charge of the following chairmen: music, Newell Hill, '08; refreshments, Julia Grant, '06; publicity, Sheldon H. Lee, '17; hall and reception, W. G. Knickerbocker, '16; tickets, W. W. Barron, '15.

This event is expected to draw the best crowd of any social affair in the history of the club and the committees report plans are being made to take care of all who attend.

Another affair on the books for Detroit alumni is the annual Intercollegiate baseball day which has been scheduled for May 12. Alumni of all colleges participating in this event, attend a luncheon together, march to the game with their various individual attractions and this year they are scheduled to witness the first appearance of the New York American league team in Detroit. Two of the luminaries in the sports world who have promised to attend the luncheon are Walter Camp, noted football expert, and Judge Landis, supreme commissioner of baseball. In addition to these the alumni will entertain Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb at the luncheon.

It is entirely probable that the Swartz Creek band will provide the thrills of the day for the collegians and that it will again carry off the honors for the afternoon by its antics and music. Last spring this organization took all of the plaudits of the crowd and the M. A. C. bunch in Detroit is depending upon it to repeat its triumph. There were 58 M. A. C. alumni in line last year and they made more noise than groups double their size. It is predicted that the loyal few will be augmented by a considerable number when they gather for the march from the Hotel Statler to the field on May 12. Tickets are being reserved in a block for the Green and White rooters this year, obviating the trouble experienced in 1922.

H. E. Van Norman, of the class of '97, has undertaken a big job as president of the World's Dairy Congress association. Until the summer of 1921, he was dean of the branch of the College of Agriculture, University of California, situated at Davis, Calif. At that time, he was allowed leave of absence at the suggestion of the United States department of agriculture so that he might devote his entire attention to the congress. He still retains the title of professor of dairy management. Before going to California, Mr. Van Norman was head of the dairy husbandry department, Pennsylvania State college, and prominent in promoting state and national dairy activities. In addition to the congress association presidency, he is president of the National Dairy association, a place which he has held for eleven consecutive terms.

The World's Dairy congress, to which the president of the United States has invited all nations to send official representatives, will be the first international dairy meeting to be held in the United States. It will also be the first held anywhere since 1914, when the sixth meeting of the International Dairy federation was conducted at Berne, Switzerland, just before the outbreak of the World war. The federation is cooperating with the congress association and will consider the congress its seventh meeting.

The delegates will assemble at Washington, D. C., on October 2 for the formalities attendant upon the opening of an international gathering of an official nature and spend two days discussing the broader aspects of dairying—scientific, economic and humanitarian. October 4, they will spend at Philadelphia, receiving a demonstration of the educational work of the National Dairy council. On October 5, they will arrive at Syracuse, N. Y., where they will hold sessions mornings until October 10. Afternoons, they will follow the program of the National Dairy exposition. On the evening of the 10th, the congress will hold an international banquet, the largest gathering of dairy scientists and leaders ever assembled. Sight-seeing excursions have been arranged to follow the close of the exposition on the 13th.

R. Van Meter, '26, is the first football casualty of the year. He broke a collar bone while engaged in blocking practice.
IMPORTANT MATTERS BEFORE ALUMNI

Question of Change in Election Form to be Decided—Engineers Appointed to Building Committee—Films for Meetings

At the annual meeting of the M. A. C. association on June 16 there will be several matters of policy up before the organization for decision. Among the most important of these will be that of a change in the manner of electing general officers. It has been the feeling among some of the alumni that the choice of officers rests in the hands of a few and this it is designed to change so that votes may be cast by all members whether or not they attend the annual meeting. In making such a change it will be necessary to amend the constitution.

Before the association had expanded to its present size the old system undoubtedly was representative enough for most of those interested were able to attend the meetings and the resultant choices for offices were generally approved but the new problems with a great territorial expansion puts the problem in a different light. The executive committee of the association has prepared a plan which will be submitted for action at the annual meeting.

Another matter upon which the executive committee registered a decision on April 21 was a proposal to prepare a reel of motion pictures of the college and alumni affairs so that it would be available for presentation at the various meetings of the branch associations and other places where it is requested. It is planned that these pictures will be of a general nature, covering important college and alumni affairs, probably through the late spring and fall.

It will show the events of alumni day, June 16, the alumni parade, the alumni-varsity baseball game, notable figures in campus life, progress on the new buildings, football crowds, homecoming activities and other things which will tend to give the observer a bird's-eye view of college affairs.

In preparing these pictures it is planned to renew them each year so that they may be up to date and kept in circulation among the various alumni organizations and meetings where they will be in demand. To accomplish this there will be a nominal charge made for each showing and the money will be used to add more film for the following year to replace the part that is out of date. It will also be necessary to arrange an itinerary for the film so that it may reach as large a number of alumni as possible during the winter months. The campus will make an ideal setting for such a production and with the added interest there will be a general demand, it is anticipated, for the use of the films. Officers of branch associations should begin to check up their dates immediately so that the route to be followed by the film can be arranged.

Another important matter settled by the committee was the appointment of an advisory committee of engineers to protect the interests of the association in the erection of the Union Memorial building. President Ranney was empowered to select such a committee and he chose Grover C. Dillman, '13, Leslie Belknap, '09, and Fletcher A. Gould, '07. Dillman is deputy state highway commissioner, Belknap is a former deputy state highway commissioner, now in the road contracting business and Gould is a member of the faculty of the civil engineering department.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be held Saturday, May 19, at 1 o'clock in the alumni office at 3 Faculty Row.

LOAN FUND GIVEN TO HELP WOMEN

The largest gift to M. A. C. in its history for the establishment of a student loan fund has been received by the college from the estate of the late Col. George P. Sanford, formerly editor of the Lansing Journal. The money was left to his widow for life and upon her death was entrusted to a sister, Mattie King Baillie, for life use. The recent death of the last named legatee allowed the fund to be sent to the college. The interest will be used to aid those girls at M. A. C. who are unable to defray their own expenses.

All other bequests of this nature have had limitations or have required scholarship qualifications of the highest order but this gift puts M. A. C. in possession of the largest sum which has ever been turned over to it for a scholarship prize or loan purposes. The income from the fund will be available for the use of co-eds next fall.
May 13 will mark the sixty-sixth anniversary of the founding of M. A. C., the first college of its type. Through the intervening years since that day in 1857 the institution has undergone a complete metamorphosis; established to work out a theory that the agricultural population of the state could benefit through such a college it has taken its place at the head of a great number of like schools and has advanced far beyond the realm of theory into an intensely practical undertaking.

There were times when the existence of M. A. C. was seriously threatened; there were people who saw in the college a useless expenditure of money, a notable folly. It had these obstacles to surmount besides devoting itself in a whole-souled manner to the problem of proving that science had a permanent place in the farm life of the nation. And all of these things it has done. It is an unnecessary gesture which would point to the distinguished names among M. A. C.'s alumni, they have left their marks in every walk in life.

With the introduction of the engineering division, the college took upon itself a broader task and fulfilled it. Then came veterinary science, forestry, home economics and applied science to add their sum to the great mass of learning possible for the M. A. C. student. In the meantime the agricultural departments were growing in efficiency and possibilities.

On the sixty-sixth anniversary of its founding M. A. C. deserves the congratulations of those interested in the progress of science and education. It deserves the plaudits of graduates, many of whom have not yet reached a full realization of the value of their alma mater. It richly merits the commendation of the leaders in national life who are in a position to note its achievements. M. A. C. is, and will continue to be, the expression of the best motives of the state of Michigan. It will nurture the spirit of patriotism and extend the light of learning. In the accomplishment of these two things lies the success of M. A. C. and it holds close to its allotted path.

The Student Viewpoint

It is possible that certain of the men interested in M. A. C. student publications in the past bear a feeling of resentment towards the manner of electing editors and business managers to fill vacancies caused by retiring administrations. Undoubtedly there is a definite expression of sentiment on the campus against the existing methods of election.

In recognizing the fact that the resentment comes, in the main, from disappointed aspirants, it is, notwithstanding, a notable fact that an expression of discontent is in evidence among those on a publication staff who are not in line for executive positions. There is, for instance, the sport editor of either the Wolverine or the Holcad. He has had little voice in the direction of the publication. His position has been one requiring the utmost ability and awarding the smallest amount of honor. The co-ed editor, the class correspondents, society reporters, and just the ordinary "cub" reporters, have had practically no opportunity to register any expression of personal desire in the selection of an editor.

M. A. C. has been fortunate in the selection of editors of the various school publications. Rarely has a man been elected by popular vote who has not been capable of directing the work, but there is a possibility of such an occurrence.

The college attempts to leave the selection of talent to the masses. They feature popularity at the expense of ability, oftentimes.

There is a very evident solution of the problem: the students should elect a representative group to function as a student board of publications; this body would elect the staff of the Wolverine and the Holcad; the staff, in turn, would select its own editor and business manager. Under such a plan, competence would be brought to the fore, and an efficient administration might be demanded by the students.
The twelve honorary societies and fraternities at the college held their combined party in the gymnasium on April 28.

The Women’s league has organized for the next year with the following officers: president, Naomi Hensley, '24; Detroit, vice-president, Ruth Christopher, '24, Lansing; secretary, June Clark, '24, Lansing; treasurer, Jessie MacKinnon, '25, Bay City.

The University of Michigan failed to report its score in a recent rifle match with the M. A. C. sharpshooters. The total of 3532 to 0 will make up for some of those football and baseball results the Wolverines have been running up against the Green and White teams. Although the time has passed for allowing results to be turned in, the meet may yet be recognized, thus averting an excellent effort on the part of M. A. C. to even up matters.

Tuition charges have been increased during the past year or so at most of the large endowed universities. Harvard charges $250 per year, Leland Stanford, $225, Princeton, $300 and the University of Chicago recently increased its charge to about the same level as these. There is no tuition charge at M. A. C. for residents of the state and the graduates of your college are given the same consideration as are those who pay the heavier expense.

A late spring does not find Tom Gunson lacking in ambition to have the campus at its best as the buds swell on the trees and green dots the campus where the brown grass of winter has long been familiar. Squads of men have been raking up the old leaves and twigs left through the winter, lawn rollers have been pressed into service and campus roads put into condition with scrapers: There is perpetual preparation for the coming of two dignitaries—Spring and the Alumni.

Thirteen men were initiated into Phi Sigma, the honorary biological fraternity for graduate students, at a recent meeting of the organization. They come from widely separated colleges. They are: P. R. Miller, Iowa State; B. B. Robinson, Texas A. and M., and W. H. Hosterman, Penn State, all specializing in farm crops. J. R. Cole, Mississippi A. and M.; B. A. Walpole, Ohio State and W. H. Thies, M. A. C, specializing in botany. C. R. Megee, Missouri Agricultural college, and H. H. Wedgeworth, Mississippi A. and M., doing graduate work in botany and farm crops. H. R. Adams, M. A. C; L. J. Allen, M. A. C, and C. C. Dethloff, Kansas Agricultural college, doing work in soils R. J. Werdon, M. A. C, dairying. H. M. Wells, Ohio State, horticulture.
WATER FESTIVAL DISPLACES PAGEANT

Commencement festivities will start a week earlier than usual this year because of commencement day coming on Monday, June 18. On the Monday preceding the seniors will make merry at their class picnic, afternoon and evening. The class dance will be on the evening of June 12; cap night is scheduled for June 13; the senior play, June 14 and a water festival on the evening of June 15; the baccalaureate sermon will be delivered June 17 and diplomas will be given out June 18.

Part of the program has not been completed. President Friday is trying to secure a noted speaker from the east for commencement day and the baccalaureate speaker has not been announced but other affairs in the hands of student committees are being prepared for the entertainment of the seniors and their guests.

The water festival will take the place of the pageant which has been more or less a fixture at commencement time during the past few years. The new scheme is to make the Red Cedar east of Farm Lane the scene of a series of events which should prove attractive. There will be various water sports, canoe races, canoe tilts, diving exhibitions, swimming races, a dance feature by the co-eds on a platform built over the river and a river pageant with floats entered for a list of prizes. It is believed probable that temporary bleachers will be erected for the spectators on the north bank of the river and that the south bank will be lined with society booths which will be entered in a competition for the most attractive. A variety of fireworks and lighting effects will be displayed during the latter part of the program which is being planned to end just at dark.

This is the first attempt at using the Red Cedar as the scene of such a pageant. The large number of canoes on the river and the interest which has been aroused in swimming and diving as competitive sports seem to indicate considerable interest will be displayed by the students in these events.

One of the certain signs of spring is the resurrection of time-worn Fords which dodge about East Lansing and the campus at breathtaking speed. They are all in various stages of disrepair and disintegration but they carry loads of students who neglect to enjoy the benefits of walks across the campus unless they have fair companions.

MAY HAVE LUNCHEON IN NEW BUILDING

Frank Johnson, '95, of Detroit, is the first to officially notify the alumni office of his plans to be present on Alumni Day, June 16. A. W. Wilson, '07, will make the trip from Toronto for the day. He recommends that the name of the college be changed to "Michigan School of Applied Science" because he believes it would benefit the large proportion of graduates who complete courses in the various divisions of the college outside of purely agricultural lines.

O. T. Goodwin and G. C. Dilman have been appointed by R. E. Loree, secretary of the class of 1913, to serve on the reunion committee in charge of alumni day. Others who will take part in formulating the plans for June 16 are Luther Baker, '03, L. Whitney Watkins, '03, F. E. Rogers, '83, Mrs. L. C. Plant, '86, Dewey Seeley, '88, Edna Smith, '03, H. W. Norton, '03, and the secretaries of the classes of 1918 and 1922.

It is now believed possible that the alumni luncheon will be held on the first floor of the new home economics building. The structure is laid out in such a way as to allow the use of practically the entire space for seating the diners and the meeting of the association can be held by calling all into the large room, originally designed for a cafeteria, on the north side of the building. Arrangements will be made to have classes seated together as nearly as this is compatible with their wishes, and the home economics building will offer advantages to the caterer which have been missing at all previous luncheons of this sort.

Although the dedication of the library had been planned for June 16 lack of progress on the building due to a labor and material shortage, may necessitate the postponement of that ceremony to some later date. Roofs are being raised on both buildings and the appearance of the campus is undergoing a marked change.

A student committee is working on the raising of $15,000 toward the erection of a pipe organ in the new People’s church. The goal of the general campaign has been placed at $300,000, $50,000 above the mark originally set. It is expected that this sum will be raised in Lansing and other cities of the state. The new church will be built near the corner of Grand River avenue and Michigan and a sign proclaiming this purpose has been erected on the property.
CALIFORNIA MAN SENDS CHECK

Thum, in College One Year, Contributes $100 to Memorial Building Fund—Total Passes $260,000—Partial List of Pledges

Another mark of the interest which M. A. C. men feel in the Union Memorial building plan is the check recently received from William Thum, w'84. Thum was in college during the year '80-'81, according to the college records and is now living in Pasadena, Cal.

There was no letter accompanying the check which was for $100 and Thum had received no special request to aid in the fund. He is a member of the M. A. C. association and had received one of the Union Building booklets.

During the first week of the campaign in Detroit the field committee added a total of $11,000 in pledges, including the renewals with the new sums. This places the grand total of the fund at approximately $260,000 without the addition of the recent collections.

Some of those who have entered their pledges in the new campaign are listed below. They include only those pledging $100 or more and the list is limited to those whose final initial is either A or B. The files are practically complete for all subscriptions up to April 12.

$500: Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Barkwell, Grand Rapids.
$200: Lee J. Ashley, '12, Luther Baker, '93
$125: Wallace S. Beden, '16.

MARY ALLEN COMES TO COLLEGE MAY 17

On Thursday, May 17, Mary Allen, '09, will appear in the gymnasium at the college in a concert for the benefit of the Union Memorial building fund. Mrs. J. F. Cox, '16, chairman of the committee appointed by the alumnae council to arrange for the concert, has planned to distribute tickets to the members of the council and to the societies at the college. Students will be charged 50 cents each and all others will be charged 75 cents. Miss Allen will come to East Lansing from Wooster, Ohio, where she presents a program at a May festival and will return to New York city after her concert at the college.

One of the events which will mark the concert will be a reception in honor of Miss Allen and various social affairs are planned for her during her stay in East Lansing. As the first representative of M. A. C. to rise to the ranks of noted singers Miss Allen merits a crowded house when she returns to her alma mater. She spent five years at the college, entering as a sub-freshman in 1904 and since graduation has spent her time entirely in the study of music or work on the concert stage. Her recent recognition in critical New York has brought added fame to M. A. C.

BURROUGHS LEADER OF ELEVATOR MEN

At the recent annual meeting in Chicago of the Mill & Elevator Mutual Fire Insurance Field Men's association, F. F. Burroughs, '09, was elected president for the ensuing year. "This association, which is national in scope, is the most active fire prevention body in the country today," says L. F. Dendel, '14, "and its policies are largely in the control of M. A. C. men. Others present included L. H. Baker, '33, Glen Allen, '13, C. H. Hall, '13, W. M. Thompson, '16, R. M. Maitland, '21, R. A. Backus, '21, and myself."

Co-ed swimmers will compete for intersociety honors at the gymnasium on May 5.
Flocks of hits mixed with groups of errors and misplays which could not creep into the error column netted Michigan 21 runs while the home team strove in vain to send a run across the plate. In all but one inning but three batters faced the U. of M. pitcher while the visitors made merry with the bludgeon at the expense of three M. A. C. pitchers, only faltering when they were exhausted from running the bases and Johnson, with his usual resourcefulness and coolness saved the day from a worse rout by turning them back in the last few innings. Ross, who pitched masterful ball against Chicago, started the trouble with two out in the first inning when he walked Haggerty and Knode tripled. Beckley misjudged a fly and the second run was scored. The Wolverines added three in the second, three in the third and seven in the fourth, in the fifth they dropped to five and in the sixth they only contributed one to the total which went through the other three innings without additions. Kuhn, and Wenner were equally as ineffective as Ross and Johnson proved the day’s best pitcher although his offerings were hit freely in the first inning he took the mound.

Noonon for Michigan had the local batters stopped, and when they did hit safely they perished on the bases. The seventh inning was his poorest. He passed two men and another was safe on an error but a double play ended M. A. C. hopes for a score.

All of the evils which may affect a baseball team hindered the Green and White. Walkers crew has hit better pitching with a vengeance, it has fielded faultlessly in the face of greater odds and has performed well on the bases but Tuesday it forgot how to do any of these things. It may have been the crowd of more than 7,000 which witnessed the game, it may have been stage fright at facing the Michigan nine, it may have been any one of these things but it was a spectacle not ordinarily witnessed on College Field. There is little chance of a repetition for a team seldom goes entirely wrong all at once.

Signs proclaiming that the bleachers in left field were condemned and that spectators used them at their own risk apparently were effective in showing the legislators that M. A. C. needs a stadium for they went back to the capitol and the following morning the stadium bill was passed by the House 64 to 22.

M. A. C. students are apparently of the opinion that a team needs cheering when it is winning but the cheering section was beaten after the Michigan team had taken a lead of two runs in the first inning of the game on College Field. After that there was sporadic yelling by individuals but nothing general until the latter part of the game when there was a chance to score.

Governor Groesbeck’s advocacy of the stadium has evidently been the medicine which was needed to make the legislature see one of the handicaps under which the college has been struggling. The measure had the staunch support of the executive from the first.
FAR EAST ALUMNI
GATHER AT MANILA

A Manila, P. I., newspaper testifies to the extent to which M. A. C. reaches throughout the world in the following article which was printed late in February:

Eleven loyal alumni of Michigan Agricultural college attended the luncheon given at the Manila hotel Saturday: C. W. Edwards, '09, director of the department of agriculture experiment station at Guam; Mrs. Edwards; D. D. Wood, '11, conservator of forests for the British North Borneo company, with station at Sandakan; Mrs. Wood, '11; E. W. Brandes, '13, bacteriologist, United States department of agriculture, investigating plant diseases throughout the world, especially diseases of sugar cane; Miss Anna B. Cowles, '15, director of the Junior Red Cross, Philippines chapter; E. G. Hoffman, '10, manager of the Binalabagan sugar estate; Ludovico Hidrosillo, '09, director of agricultural extension in the Philippines; Leroy H. Thompson, '13, supervising mechanical engineer, bureau of public works; Santiago Iledan, '20, instructor in agriculture, Munoz agricultural school; J. L. Meyers, '07, engineer and contractor, Manila.

A picture of E. G. Hoffman, '10, with Mrs. Hoffman and their daughter appeared in the April 9 issue of THE RECORD.

CALIFORNIA PLAN FOR BIG MEETING

Southern California alumni are preparing for a regular evening when they gather for their annual meeting at the University club in Los Angeles on the evening of May 7. There will be a song leader on hand to get the bunch into action on M. A. C. songs and copies of the favorites will be handed out so that no excuses will be accepted along the line of a lack of knowledge of the words. There will be a regular dinner at the new University club and Dr. R. B. Von Kleinschmidt, president of the University of Southern California, will be the chief speaker of the evening.

In addition to these noteworthy features David Roth, famous memory expert, will entertain with feats of memorizing. It is expected that the club members will all leave saying, "How do you do. I am Addison Sims of Seattle. I met you at the campus at M. A. C. in 19? How is John, your third child. Do you recall that there were 24 fish known to be in the Red Cedar in the spring of 19?"

Among the other affairs listed for the evening will be the election of officers of the association for the next year. The time schedule which E. M. Harvey, '16, moving spirit of the organization, has painstakingly worked out, includes the following: Dinner, 6:30 to 8:15; Get-Together Recess, 8:15 to 8:30; Business Meeting, 8:30 to 9.

Letters have been sent out to all alumni living in the district of Southern California and Harvey requests that any from outside who expect to be in Los Angeles on that date get in touch with him at the Woodill & Hulse Electric Co., Los Angeles, and reserve places for the dinner. To quote from the letter: "Every one of the hundred and fifty minutes will be crowded full of interesting action."

CLASS NOTES

Since the first request was sent out for photographs or snapshots for the columns of Class Notes there have been portrayed representatives of a wide range of classes. There is room in The Record for one of these pictures each week. They add greatly to the value of the publication, according to its readers. If you have not conferred this favor upon your friends in the ranks of the M. A. C. association do so at your first opportunity.

The following fail to respond to mail sent to the addresses given in the list. The alumni office will appreciate information concerning the whereabouts of any whom you happen to know.

Have You Paid Your Debt to M. A. C.?

You know your education cost the state twice as much as it cost you.

As a business or professional man or ordinary citizen this must make it clear in your mind that you are under a moral obligation to make a return on this investment.

HERE IS ONE WAY

Do your share to help build the UNION MEMORIAL building.
It will be an imposing structure of great utility.
It will be an attraction to desirable students.
It will serve students, faculty and visitors and, to consider it from a selfish viewpoint, it will provide you with a campus home, a place to meet your friends, a clubhouse where you will be always welcome and where you can enjoy true M. A. C. hospitality.
