The M. A. C. RECORD

Established 1896

Published for the alumni and former students of the Michigan Agricultural College by the M. A. C. Association.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly during July, August and September; thirty-five issues annually.

Membership in the M. A. C. association, including subscription to The Record, $2.50 per year.

Unless members request a discontinuance before the expiration of their memberships it will be assumed a renewal is desired.

Checks, drafts and money orders should be made payable to the M. A. C. Association. Entered as second class matter at the post office at East Lansing, Mich.

PREPARING NEW STADIUM PLANS

Approval by Senate Makes Money Available for New Athletic Field—Early Decision Expected on Site so Work Can be Started.

will mean good seats enough to accommodate crowds which will come to the college for first class games. It will give the athletic department an opportunity, long sought, of bringing Michigan and some of the other big teams to East Lansing for at least one big game each year with the knowledge that expenses will be met and that spectators will have good vantage points from which to witness the contests. Alumni will be offered the unique opportunity, at least it is unique in the annals of M. A. C., of having available the desirable seats they always seek for important home games and the college will reduce the hazard to the spectators who come to see an athletic contest rather than guard their

With the stadium bill passed by the Senate and its certain approval by Governor Groesbeck, M. A. C. is on the way to having a $160,000 structure for its athletic games. This

Under the provisions of the bill the money will become available immediately and the athletic board is anxious that work be started as soon as possible. It is probable that the state department of construction will erect the stadium and that it will begin work as soon as a site is selected and the plans are finally approved.

Two plans have been submitted to the board. One of these calls for an oval shaped enclosure seating about 20,000 people and the other for steel stands seating the same number. Steel is cheaper in the first cost but has not the appearance nor the lasting qualities of concrete and it is probable that the latter material will be chosen.

In general the plans call for stands somewhat similar to those at the University of Detroit field but it will be recommended that the structure be made oval in shape and that part of the horseshoe be completed, with provisions for the other end to be filled in when it becomes necessary to provide accommodations for a larger number of spectators.

It is proposed to make the stadium as sight-
KEDZIE, '99, CHOSEN FOR BACCALAUREATE

Commencement activities this year will be marked by the appearance here of W. R. Kedzie, '99, now pastor of the First Congregational church in Cleveland who will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on June 17. Dr. J. W. Laird, president of Albion college, a distinguished speaker and scholar, will deliver the commencement address on June 18.

The first event for alumni who come to the campus over the week-end will be the water festival on the Red Cedar on the evening of June 15. June 16 will be Alumni Day. It will be entirely in charge of graduates and former students and will be devoted to their entertainment.

In the morning ground will be broken for the Union Memorial building. At noon there will be the alumni luncheon and the annual meeting of the M. A. C. association. Afternoon will find the alumni and varsity baseball nines entangled on College Field for the honors of the day and the evening will be given over to class reunions and general activities with a band concert. The baccalaureate address on Sunday and commencement on Monday will draw the attention of many of those interested in such events and that concludes the regular program for the occasion.

Notices are constantly coming into the alumni office from those who intend being present for Alumni Day. Some of those who registered their intentions last week are Alice M. Powell, '17, Ionia; Marguerite Gunn, '22, Harbor Beach; D. L. Hagerman, '13, Grand Rapids, and Major and Irma Thompson Ireland, '01 and '00. Major Ireland writes from Ann Arbor. "We plan to attend commencement in June. Both Major Ireland and Mark Jr., have been attending the University of Michigan this year in the graduate school and the first year of the college of engineering, respectively. Major Ireland has been designated as Roy D. Chapin Fellow in highway transport for 1922-23 and has been completing his work as director of the quartermaster tractive resistance of road research. Their Ann Arbor address is 906 Greenwood avenue. After spending the summer in Michigan, the family, except Mark Jr., will proceed to Fort Eustis, Va., near Yorktown, for station."

Sophomores will demonstrate their efficiency at entertaining when they stage their class prom on June 1.

LOWER FARE PLAN TO AID REUNION

June 16 will be the first opportunity M. A. C. alumni have had to try out the week-end commencement idea which has proved a success at many other colleges. It has been generally noted that Saturday is the best time for graduates and former students to gather because it interferes less with their work and does not use up a part of vacation for those who are fortunate enough to enjoy such a holiday.

In preparation for this reduced fares have been granted on a large number of railroads through the middle west and eastern states. The Canadian Passenger association announces that it will cooperate with lines in the United States to the extent of allowing the reduction on through traffic between points this side of the boundary. This gives those living in the eastern section a chance to take advantage of several travel routes offered.

Half fare will be allowed on the return trip from Lansing only when a certificate is obtained from the ticket agent at the starting point one-way and a ticket purchased at the full rate to Lansing. This certificate will be validated on the campus and will entitle the bearer to half fare on his or her return trip. It will be necessary that at least 250 avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the railroads in order to have the reduction take effect. Dependent members of the families of members of the association are entitled to the lower rate as well as the member. The same route must be traveled returning as is followed coming to Lansing.

THREE VOLUNTEER PLEDGES TO FUND

Mary Allen, '09, who has gained fame as a singer in New York city has doubled her previous pledge to the Union Memorial building fund.

Zora Lemmon Treen, '14, sends in a subscription from Kenmore, N. Y., and expresses the wish that it might be more.

Wayne Crampton, '21, superintendent of the consolidated school at Buckley, doubles the pledge he made while in college.

Sgt. L. W. Green, who has been acting as drum major of the college band, has resigned from the service. J. H. Smiley, '23, is leading the band.
EXCAVATION WEEK PLANS OFF

Student Work on Union Memorial Building Cancelled Because of Interference with Practice House—Break Ground Alumni Day

Placing the Union building site over the location occupied by the Practice house has prevented the excavation week which had been planned by the Union. The college authorities found that the scheme would interfere too much with the work of the co-eds, necessitating the removal of the house or at least hindering its operation to such an extent as to cause trouble to the senior girls.

The event had been scheduled for May 7 because it was considered that that time in the term would be least troublesome to faculty and students, a later date was found impracticable and the committee decided to drop the proposal rather than inconvenience the college. A shortage of room for co-eds has caused the administration to rent several houses off the campus for the use of women students and the abandonment of the Practice house before the new Home Economics building is ready would increase the difficulties of the department.

The Union committee reported last week that the campaign among the students for $75,000 had almost reached its goal with less than $300 still to be pledged. Work in Detroit is rapidly adding to the total of the campaign. Miller and Stewart were assisted by W. O. Hedrick for two days in their canvass of the city and turned in a total of more than $20,000 in pledges for the first two weeks. On May 1, Stewart left the field committee to take up his work in Lansing where he has become district agent for Straus investment bonds. With the heaviest part of the work completed Miller will continue until all of the fund has been subscribed.

Sod will be turned for the Union Memorial building on the morning of June 16. E. W. Ramsey, ’00, president of the M. A. C. association and one of the moving spirits behind the Union building idea, will be chairman of the program in connection with the ceremony. The band will play and several prominent men will speak. This will be followed shortly after commencement by work on the excavation at the direction of the contractor who will have charge of that part of the construction. It is the intention of the executive committee of the association to let contracts for the different parts of the building as the money becomes available. It is expected that $100,000 in cash will be available July 1. Pledges for more than this amount will fall due June 1 and as the completion of the building depends upon the regularity with which these are paid it is believed they will be turned in rapidly once bills are sent out.

HARRISON, ’85, ASKS NEWS OF HIS CLASS

Gentlemen:

A copy of the M. A. C. Record was mailed to me a short time ago and I read it with pleasure with the exception of the account of Bob Hemphill's death. He and I sat side by side in all of the classes in our years in college and, of course, became very good friends. I enclose my check for $2.50 for membership and a year's subscription to The Record.

I have not been back on the old campus for many years but believe that I will some time during the coming summer. During Frank Kedzie's presidency I received a few letters from him, he being my professor years ago in chemistry. I was always very fond of him as well as his father.

I have been located in this city for the past 22 years and have been connected with several activities and have made good in all of them. We have a wonderful country down here in the heart of the greatest coal fields in America and perhaps in the world. Have a thriving city of over 50,000 people and modern in every way.

I would be pleased, if it is possible, to learn more of the boys of the class of '85 and trust that some time in the future some of us may meet on the M. A. C. campus.

With kindest regards, I remain,

Yours very truly,

L. H. Harrison.

Charleston, W. Va.

The Freshman baseball team played Lansing high school April 27 and will meet the same team May 16. These are the only games thus far on the schedule for the 1926 squad.
It may be that no man lives who typifies the Ideal Alumnus. Yet, in any alumni body, there are those who so closely resemble the ideal that their attitude is an inspiration to all the rest. What, then, are the attributes of the Ideal Alumnus?

He is the one who realizes that the measure of success which he has attained is not due entirely to inherent genius, but in a large part, to the knowledge and inspiration which he gained during his college years.

He cherishes the memories of those college years as a fundamental asset to the enjoyment of his maturity and old age.

He obliterates from his memory whatever there may have been of petty grievances and fancied injustice toward him during his college course.

He sees the faults of his Alma Mater, but, instead of growling about them; he seeks some measure by which they can be remedied.

He realizes that to be of the greatest service to the institution and to each other, the alumni must be effectively organized. He supports the Alumni Association by attending its meetings when possible, by paying the nominal dues, and by subscribing to its publications.

He lends his knowledge and judgment to the formulating of sound policies for the administration of the association and the college.

Finally, the Ideal Alumnus sees the need of interesting young men in securing an education. He knows the high quality of the education which is offered at his Alma Mater and so goes out of his way to urge ambitious youths to follow his footsteps.—Worcester Polytechnic Institute Journal.

To watch a college tennis match is a lesson in sportsmanship. While the Michigan team was having extreme difficulty in winning a doubles match from the M. A. C. men there was not a question which came up that the side which might have benefited through the umpire's decision did not insist that the ball be served over again.

Here was a lesson for those teams which are continually questioning the judgment of the umpire or referee. To some who look upon the game as the sport of weaklings it would seem like a step downward to send a squad in one of the major sports to a tennis court to learn sportsmanship but there is an opportunity there and this does not apply particularly to M. A. C. or its opponents. It is a lesson well worth learning. It would make all college sports models of true sportsmanship if the lead of their tennis teams were or could be followed.

M. A. C. sending out championship debaters begins to make the college look more like a general educational institution than a mere school for instruction in agriculture. The three men who composed the triumphant team which traveled over two thousand miles have done much to add to the prestige of their college.

An extensive program of street lighting and paving is being planned by East Lansing for this year. In addition a petition has been presented by citizens of the city for better fire protection. It is proposed to meet this by erecting a fire station and purchasing adequate equipment. The station would be built to accommodate two pieces of apparatus but only one would be purchased for some time, according to city officials. If the college agrees the building will be placed on college property, thus insuring protection for campus buildings.

The Sphinx, local honorary society for co-eds, has selected the following new members: Helen Harvey, '24, Battle Creek; Ruth VanWinkle, '24, Lansing; Clarissa Anderson, '24, East Lansing; Gladys Hoff, '24, East Lansing; Helen June Gould, '24, Harbor Springs; Bernice Randall, '24, Grand Rapids; Ruth Christopher, '24, Lansing; June Calahan, '24, East Lansing; Inez Severance, '24, East Lansing; June Clark, '24, Lansing; Naomi Hensley, '24, Detroit; Merle Freeman, '24, Sycamore, Ill.; and Frances Holden, '24, Milford.

A half dozen letters have been received concerning the site for the proposed stadium. This is a matter which should be settled soon whether or not the legislature sees fit to grant the request made for a loan to erect the structure. All expressions of opinion thus far have favored the location south the Red Cedar. What is yours?
"Close Beside The Winding Cedar"

The class of 1924 has introduced a new feature into the social life of the college. A bridge dance occupied the attention of the members of that class and their friends last Friday in the gymnasium.

Some of the old games are not quite so innocuous as their names suggest. "Duck-on-the-rock" resulted in a knock out for John L. Killoran, '25, Lansing, when he intercepted one of the rocks with his head. He soon recovered.

Dr. E. C. Franklin, president of the American Chemical society and a member of the faculty of Stanford university, addressed the M. A. C. section of the society April 30 on "The Ammonia System of Compounds Experimentally Illustrated.

Alumni who received tickets for the band and glee club concert at Prudden auditorium are requested to forward them to Hugo Swanson, East Lansing, immediately or turn over the price of the tickets to him. The concert made some money for the band.

Glen Osgood, '17, who spends most of his time in St. Johns, Mich., visited the alumni office last week and increased his pledge for the Union Memorial building because he has been assured by the recent activity that the structure will be erected.

The college officially adopted Eastern standard time as its schedule regulator on Monday, April 30. This synchronizes M. A. C.'s activities with Detroit but much of the rest of the state is out of sympathy with the scheme and has left its clocks as they were.

The forestry department reports that more trees have been shipped from the forest nursery this year than at any time since the war. A number of large orders have been received for trees for forest plantations in the southern part of the state, a number of them for Christmas tree plantations.

G. H. Collingwood, '11, is in charge of an extensive reforestation program which is being carried out in New York state. The Seneca Nation of Indians on the New York reservation has ordered 22,000 red pine seedlings as one part of the plan to reclaim waste lands for forest purposes. Collingwood is on the faculty at Cornell.

Federal students taking the course in beekeeping will each purchase three colonies of bees and care for them during the summer months. The class last year did this and the advantage to the students in putting into practice the principles they learned in the class rooms was reported as decided. M. A. C. is the first college to put this into practice.

Freshman caps will be of a new type next fall, according to a recent ruling of the student council. It is decreed that henceforth the newcomers must all wear brown caps with a visor at least three inches in length, that the agricultural students shall surmount this headpiece with a green button, the engineers will use red and the science students, orange buttons.

The forestry department is sending 11,000 trees to Kent county for this year's planting on the new forest experiment station on the county farm in cooperation with Kent county. L. C. Palmer, '21, will have immediate charge of the station. A number of species of trees will be planted in different mixtures and a large number of Norway spruces will be planted this year.

Major-General Earl Stewart, commanding the 32nd division, reviewed the cadet corps Monday afternoon. The entire corps of dismounted units and one troop of cavalry participated in the ceremony. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the maneuvers. Besides the regular review there was a special exhibition by the cavalry, including close order drill combat tactics and hurdling. As is customary under these circumstances the cavalry carried off the plaudits of the onlookers. The entire corps, however, received the approval of the general and his staff.

A miniature Holcad was the souvenir for the old and new members of the staff of the college publication when they met at the Flower Pot tea room on April 25 for their annual banquet. J. B. Hasselman, director of publications, was the main speaker of the evening, discoursing on the part played by the student newspaper in college life. Holcad service pins were awarded to the following: J. D. Gamble, '23, Arthur Dinsmore, '23, Wright Wilson, '24, Elsie Gelinas, '23, Inez Severance, '24, C. E. Johnson, '23, and Paul Hartsuch, '24.
MARY ALLEN'S STORY ROMANTIC

Hard Work and Determination Took Graduate to Top Ranks of Singers—To Fulfill Life's Ambition in Concert at College May 17.

Few roses strew the path of the beginner in the musical profession. Her efforts are objects of close scrutiny by critics who know not care nothing about her background, her struggles for approbation. Merit rules. Proved, it dominates all other considerations, but first it must be proved. And this has been the case of Mary Allen, '09, who left M. A. C. to become a teacher of home economics, found her desires lay more in the direction of commanding attention as a singer than a teacher of sewing and cooking and followed the bent of her convictions. She will sing in the gymnasium at the college on May 17 for the benefit of the Union Memorial Building fund under the auspices of the alumnae council and will give her friends in Lansing and East Lansing a chance to satisfy themselves that the commendation of New York critics is not faulty.

For five years she followed the course outlined for students of domestic science, entering college as a sub-freshman. Her next year was spent in Detroit where she taught in the public schools, three years there after she taught in Cape Girardeau, Mo., where the determination to succeed as a singer took complete possession of her career. Encouraged by voice teachers she deserted the ranks of pedagogy and determined to spend two years in study to fix, if possible, the value of her voice.

Her dreams of fame were not long in coming true. Not long when measured in years but ages when those years are filled with unremitting work urged on by a controlling, inspiring ambition. At the end of her two years of trying she was rewarded by being made soloist with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra. This may not have been sufficiently convincing to her that she was on the right road but the following year she matched her voice with the best in the state of Missouri and was given first place at the annual contest of the National Federation of Musical clubs.

A season on the road with a concert company took her all over the United States and Canada, enriching her in experience but draining her financial resources. A season in vaudeville and two summers on chautauqua circuits added to her fund of experience. During all of this time she was studying with that persistency for which real artists are noted. The rigorous life of traveling with a company which spent but a day or so in a place had not reduced her ardor nor the quality or effectiveness of her voice.

Fate will play its pranks with its favorites even and Mary Allen was no exception to this rule. She was to be the star member of a vaudeville troupe and went to New York city for her first engagement of the season, the company managed to complete that one but ended its career immediately afterward. This left Miss Allen stranded in the metropolis and to add to complications she fell ill, two weeks before Christmas of that year. Church engagements were few and sparing in their remuneration until she managed to impress one director so favorable she was engaged as soloist in one of the largest churches in the city. Then the upgrade began. She found her associates in positions where her talent would not pass unnoticed. Eight times she sang with the New York Symphony orchestra. Three times with the Philadelphia Symphony. Three times she has been soloist with the New York Oratorio society and countless other prominent places have been at her beck. She has found her voice equal to singing with the outstanding musicians of the country and has appeared on programs with some of the most prominent of these.

On her way to East Lansing she will appear in three notable presentations but she counts her visit to the college as the most noteworthy of these. She writes: "This year I am realizing three ambitions. First, I have found the voice teacher I have been searching for all my musical life and almost despaired of finding. Second, I have sung the 'Messiah' with the New York Oratorio society and the New York Symphony orchestra, to a sold-out house in Carnegie hall and, third, I am to sing a concert at M. A. C. my alma mater, a place than which there is none dearer in my heart."

Mary Allen's career is typical of the successes which M. A. C. has produced, for it shows that M. A. C. moulds character and builds personality. With the conviction that she could sing she went before the most severe critics and proved her worth. She returns to M. A. C. as the most illustrious member of the alumni body in her field. She returns as the embodiment of that spirit which has prompted graduates of the college to go out into competition with the best and return victors. Her achievements are the result of whole-hearted effort. Competent critics give her a place as one of the best contraltos and especially commend her enunciation and the quality of her voice. She merits M. A. C.'s honors for her achievements and the desire she has exhibited to do something constructive for the college.

STATE GUARD HEAD DIES IN LANSING

Maj-Gen. Earl R. Stewart, recently appointed commanding general of the 32nd division of National Guard troops, died at his home in Lansing on May 1, after a short illness, from heart trouble. General Stewart is survived by a widow and a son and daughter. The son, J. H., is a member of the freshman class at the college.

During the World war General Stewart served as a major with the 32nd division and is known to a large number of M. A. C. men who were members of that unit. He had made his home in Grand Rapids until 1919, when he was appointed a member of the public utilities commission and moved to Lansing. When not in the military service he followed the profession of law. For more than 30 years he was connected with the Michigan National Guard, serving in the Spanish-American war and at the Mexican border.

On Monday, April 30, he reviewed the M. A. C. cadet corps in a special parade and cavalry exhibition in his honor and complimented Lt.-Col. Sherburne on the excellent showing of his men.

Members of the class of 1923 were scheduled to make their first appearance on the campus in caps and gowns tonight. The annual swingout which had been set for May 8 was put ahead a day and the haughtier members of the student body are planning to make their trip around the campus walks, returning to the Forest of Arden to form the numerals of the class and then disbanding for the band concert, which will be a feature of Monday evenings during the rest of the term. These concerts are planned to start early in the evening, with Eastern time in vogue they will get well under way before dark.

KUHN FINDS ALBION'S WEAK POINT

Although M. A. C. got away to a one-run lead in the first inning the Michigan batters slugged their way to a 16 to 2 victory when the teams met at Ann Arbor on May 2. Misplays by the Green and White infielders and the apparent inability of the pitchers to decide the opposition counted heavily in the scoring. Eight errors were tallied against Coach Walker's team, enough to decide any ball game. It was again apparent that the Michigan jinx was working overtime for the men who played well in all other games fell down against the university. The satisfaction of avoiding a shut-out was the only consolation presented by the score.

From the standpoint of his performance Captain Kuhn of the baseball team deserves credit for a no hit, no run game against Albion college. His mates amassed 13 runs during the afternoon while the visitors were allowed to cross the plate once, and that run was entirely due to the refusal of the umpire to call an Albion runner out when he was hit by his own batted ball. The runner realized what had happened and practically abandoned his trip to first base but the arbiter for the day ruled him safe. The game was replete with freak decisions which benefited both sides. Stephens added to the novelty of the game when, while holding his bat over his shoulder and trying to dodge the ball it hit his bat and fell fair. The catcher had him out at first before he realized he was eligible to run the bases.

Albion used two pitchers who could not do much to defend their fielders and the fielders in turn piled up seven errors as their contribution. Smith, left-handiner, the last relief hurler presented by the visitors, went well after a short spell of hesitancy. In batting the Albion lineup presented a solid front. Only one man was able to knock the ball out of the infield and he fell easy prey to Stephens in the first inning. Kuhn bunted along, passing an occasional man but not allowing the slightest liberty with his delivery. In the fifth he struck out all three men who faced him.

Heavy batting by part of the home team coupled with inexcusable errors by the visitors brought in most of the runs. Gasser went to bat five times. Three times he was safe on infield errors and twice he was passed. He scored five runs.

In most respects Albion resembled the M. A. C. team which faced Michigan only a few days previous but a shifted batting order and the results of three days of intensive practice in slightly varied positions gave Coach Walker's combination a new lease on life and it demonstrated a different type of spirit, than the Wolverines ran up against.

M. A. C.                 Albion.

Albion:

Notre Dame's vaunted hitters looked like wooden men when they faced Kuhn's curves on College Field last Friday and a whirlwind finish won the game for the home camp by a 6 to 5 score. Both sides were guilty of glaring errors in the field. M. A. C. wobbled under fly balls and bad throws accounted for much of the trouble the baseball players had in taking down the honors. However, "Bub" had the whip hand throughout the contest. He displayed complete impartiality in the selection of his victims, striking out fifteen batters and spreading this total over the entire lineup presented by the visitors. Four mealy hits were registered against his delivery. At least one of the was extremely questionable and another would have been an out with good outfielders in his supporting cast. Although the two runs scored in the ninth by the Green and White were unquestioned gifts a like number were handed the Irishmen early in the game. Kuhn was up first in the final session. He drew a base on balls and Beckley was sent in to run for him. Falvey on the mound for Notre Dame perpetrated a balk and Beckley went to second. Daley bunted on the second ball pitched and both men scored when the pitcher fielded the ball and threw into deep left. Falvey's heave over third base went all the way to the goal line at the north end of the field. Sepaneck contributed to the interest of the afternoon by driving out a double and triple, both of which went all the way to the bleachers in left center. McGivney, a left hander, weathered through the first six innings with varied fortunes but quit when, with one out, Sepaneck tripled in the seventh. Falvey was more effective but threw away the game after his team mates had presented him with a lead in the eighth.

RELAY TEAM FIFTH IN DRAKE EVENT

M. A. C. entries in the Drake Relays failed to place among the winners. Captain Atkins was eliminated at five feet eleven inches in the high jump, Herdell was unable to keep up the pace in the hundred yard dash, Fesenden was ouclassed in the discus and the two-mile relay team ran fifth in that event in a field of fourteen starters. Klaase, running anchor, dropped the baton when it was given him and lost a chance to finish higher.

Green and White trackmen found competition keener than last year and the lowering of Drake records cost them several chances to place in the finals. Last Saturday they met the Ohio State team at Columbus and the rest of the season with the exception of the Michigan Intercollégiates will be spent away from home.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR ALLEN CONCERT

Tickets for the Mary Allen concert on May 17 at the college have been placed on sale with the members of the alumnae council and through student organizations. Student admission has been placed at fifty cents to allow all possible to hear this distinguished graduate and others are charged seventy-five cents. All except the bare costs of the concert will be turned over to the Union Memorial building fund.

Press notices from the New York newspapers accord her the highest praise for her work. She will sing a selected program in English.

The Freshman baseball team defeated the Lansing high school nine in the first contest of the season for the yearlings, taking the city team into camp by 8 to 2. Kuhn, brother of the varsity captain, and Raynes, who also has a brother on the varsity squad, pitched for the youngsters and were held up in great shape by Fremont behind the plate. The Fresh hit with a will and at the proper time to bring in runs. The squad has the appearance of a first class college outfit and should augment the chances of the varsity another year.

H. C. Newman, '24, East Lansing, has been elected basketball manager for next season. J. K. McElroy, '25, is assistant manager.

MARRIAGES

Post-Mollhagen

Robert E. Post, '20, and Novine Mollhagen were married on April 8, 1923, in St. Joseph, Michigan. Mr. Post is a student at the University of Wisconsin and should be addressed at 440 W. Johnson street.

Ramsey-Baert

Clarence F. Ramsey, '20, and Katherine Baert, '23, were married Friday evening, April 27, at the home of the bride in Grand Rapids. They will make their home in Lansing where Ramsey is assistant superintendent at the Industrial school.

CLASS NOTES

Since the first request was sent out for photographs or snapshots for the columns of Class Notes there have been portrayed representatives of a wide range of classes. There is room in The Record for one of these pictures each week. They add greatly to the value of the publication, according to its readers. If you have not conferred this favor upon your friends in the ranks of the M. A. C. association do so at your first opportunity.

L. H. Harrison is "busy all the time" at 1208-9 Union building, Charleston, West Virginia.

The post office department at Missoula, Montana, sends us a change in address for Mrs. J. T. Holmes (Caroline Lawrence) to Box 1593, Missoula.

J. Lee Baker should be addressed at 768 Penobscot building, Detroit.

Amy Hurlburt Fowler has moved, according to postal information, to 30 Williams street, Pontiac.

for western Michigan for the Consumers' Power company, with headquarters in Grand Rapids.

Harry Lee Bakr is with the state forester at Charlottesville, Virginia.

D. A. Spencer writes as follows: "I am still in the service of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry in the capacity of senior animal husbandman in charge of sheep and goat investigations. For a few months this year during a period of emergency I was acting chief of the Animal Husbandry division. News was rumored that I was chief but I was only acting. Much of my work takes me into the wild and woolly west."

We have just received word from the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company that L. S. Esselstyn is now connected with the Fruit Growers' company, Corporation building, Los Angeles.

Recent information from the post office indicates that Morris Knapp is not at 229 Lincoln avenue, Detroit.

Philip C. Baker has for his mailing address, 768 Penobscot building, Detroit.

Grace Hitchcock says: "Am still practicing horticulture on the farm about seven miles south of Ludington. We are only a mile off the Michigan pike and I hope M. A. Cites traveling this way can find time to visit us."

Floyd A. Carlson gave up his private practice as a landscape architect in Milwaukee to accept a position as director of parks and public property for the city of Kenosha, Wisconsin. He says: "Am working on city planning studies at the present time, including zoning studies and comprehensive park and boulevard system. These studies are being made in cooperation with Harland Bartholemew of St. Louis. Wisconsin graduates are in the majority here in the city employ, although we have one Michigan man who sticks by me in arguments for Michigan. If any M. A. C. folks come this way they are welcome to anything I have. Will even give them the privilege of playing golf on our course to keep them interested while here. It has been

All Together, Now!!!

Are you ready when the song leader gives the signal? When the bunch sings the old songs don't just hum the tune. All of M. A. C.'s best songs, with the music, are included in an attractive booklet of convenient size. You boosters of the Green and White need it on your pianos. It is indispensable for branch association and club meetings. Your copy will be mailed prepaid upon receipt of 50 cents at the alumni office. Attractive prices for group orders. The proceeds will be applied to the Memorial Union Building Fund.
so long since I have been in conversation with any M. A. C. man that I have forgotten my M. A. C. ways.

The powers that be in the postal world tell us that K. B. Spaulding is now in Detroit at 4306 Pingree avenue.

J. T. Bregger is with the Stark Brothers Nurseries with headquarters at Louisiana, Missouri. For the past two months he has been representing them at various state horticultural society meetings and fruit shows in the eastern part of the United States. Glenn Thomas, '17 is at the head of the mail order department.

Lyle M. Wilson and wife, chiropractors, have located at 113½ West Exchange street, Owosso, Michigan, after completing their course at the Palmer school at Davenport, Iowa.

W. C. Eggert is with the Pacific Gas and Electric company at San Francisco, California, and lives at 312 VanNess avenue.

Word has come to us from the post office that M. S. Nelson may be reached at Box 996, East Lansing, Michigan.

Fred England is distributor for Chevrolet motor cars in the Lansing territory and is always ready to be of service to M. A. C. people. They have just moved into their new quarters at 311-317 S. Capitol avenue. He and Mrs. England (Florence Stoll, '16), are living in the Porter apartments.

Arthur Bayliss is doing structural drafting and at the present time is in charge of the drafting room at F. A. Chapper Iron Works at Detroit. He lives at 3404 Chope place.

"Still have the grasshopper habit. Now going to be at Ingersoll Rand company, 260 St. James street, Montreal, Quebec," writes Tommy Keating. "Liked Boston all right while I was there but thought it might be warm in the summer."

1255 Granger avenue, Lakewood, Ohio, now appears under the name of Helen Kellogg Drew on THE RECORD. She hopes the Cleve-

Have You Paid Your Debt to M. A. C.?

You know your education cost the state twice as much as it cost you.

As a business or professional man or ordinary citizen this must make it clear in your mind that you are under a moral obligation to make a return on this investment.

HERE IS ONE WAY

Do your share to help build the UNION MEMORIAL building.
It will be an imposing structure of great utility.
It will be an attraction to desirable students.
It will serve students, faculty and visitors and, to consider it from a selfish viewpoint, it will provide you with a campus home, a place to meet your friends, a clubhouse where you will be always welcome and where you can enjoy true M. A. C. hospitality.
