ANNOUNCE FARM WEEK PROGRAM

Noted Speakers Listed to Discuss Various Phases of Agricultural Economics and Rural Community Life; Exhibitions Increased in Number and Size.

Farmers' week, February 2 to 6, will be marked this year by the customary meetings of farm organizations and a program which will bring to East Lansing national authorities on farm problems. More than thirty groups of farmers will make the week the occasion for their annual meetings and will take part in the general program which will deal largely with phases of farm economics.

H. M. Gore, secretary of agriculture, is scheduled as one of the chief speakers of the week. He accepted the invitation of the committee before the death of Secretary Wallace and asserts he will keep the appointment unless circumstances at Washington interfere with his making the trip. Secretary Gore is also governor-elect of West Virginia. Dr. H. Parks Cadman, noted New York minister and lecturer and Dr. J. M. Evans, of Chicago, authority on health matters will be two speakers from outside technical agriculture. Dr. Evans is scheduled to speak February 2, Dr. Cadman, February 4, and Secretary Gore, February 5.

Men from the federal department of agriculture, from the east and west, who have devoted time to the study of farm economics and rural life will be included on the program. F. R. Pirtle of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics will discuss "Selling the Public." John M. Kelley, a widely known authority on advertising will speak on his specialty as applied to the farmer. B. H. Hibbard of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin will describe conditions on farms of Wisconsin. H. E. Babcock, secretary of a cooperative organization in New York in which the farm bureau and grange are participants is also listed. President Butterfield will address one of the meetings on social life of the rural community. John Keich, well known in the east for his work in rural sociology will also speak.

Fred Arbogast, a practical farmer from Union City, will describe "How to Pep Up a Wornout Michigan Farm." He achieved distinction by raising 4,000 bushels of wheat on 100 acres of Michigan land. Members of the College staff will also address the various meetings.

The annual Hort show conducted by students in that department will have opposition from other departments. A poultry and rabbit exhibit, an egg show, and a potato show will vie with the fruit on exhibition in drawing the attention of the visitors. While the customary showing of other products will also be on display. The poultry show demonstrated such popularity last year that it will utilize the engineering shops this time while others will be distributed about the Campus.

For entertainment there will be the usual features including a basketball game and parade of farm animals and implements. There will also be the attraction of the Union Vaudeville revue which will be presented at the Gladmer theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of that week.

Among the organizations which will meet at the College during the week is the Michigan Press association comprised of editors of country weeklies, the various breeders' associations, crop improvement association, and a score of other of a similar nature. The program is certain to draw to the College a larger number of people than can be accommodated in the Campus buildings for meetings or attending exhibits but sessions of organizations will be scattered as much as possible to prevent overcrowding.

A complete lack of facilities for such affairs on or near the Campus will again prevent the holding of an alumni luncheon such as has been held in the past. With the Union Memorial building in operation, as it should be in another year, a day and time can be set apart for a general get­ together during the week. In the meantime the alumni office at 3 Faculty Row will be open for visitors and all former students attending are urged to make use of such facilities as it can offer.

NEW YORKERS ELECT HARTWIG PRESIDENT

The Western New York M. A. C. Association held its annual meeting January 17 at Syracuse, N. Y. President Butterfield was with us at the luncheon after which he delivered a public address to the faculty and students of Syracuse university and community leaders of central New York. We all greatly enjoyed meeting President Butterfield and the association unanimously pledged its support to him.

Those who attended the lecture were strongly impressed with the ability, sincerity and wonderful personality and character of M. A. C.'s leader. The remarks of the press were most complimentary to President Butterfield and M. A. C.

Forty-three attended the luncheon which we believe is the best attendance to date. Syracuse was chosen for next year's meeting. The following officers were elected: H. B. Hartwick, '20, president; Howard Haight, '20, vice-president; A. L. Bibbins, '15, secretary.

The luncheon was served by the domestic science department of Syracuse university under the direction of Dean Knapp, the newly elected secretary of state of New York; in fact, she left her duties at the Capitol to serve the luncheon. All Aggies were firm in the belief that if she handled the duties of the secretary of state's office as well as those in the kitchen and dining room that she would be a most wonderful public official.

NEED COMPLETE LIST OF WORLD WAR DEAD

There is still some doubt that the list of M. A. C. men who gave their lives in the world war is entirely complete. Recent search of available records has increased the number from forty-two to forty-eight. The following list is the best compiled thus far, alumni having knowledge of names which should be added will prevent an injustice being done by sending them to the alumni office, together with such information as they may have in respect to date of death, unit with which the man served and other details.

The Washington, D. C., M. A. C. Association has pledged itself to procure a bronze tablet commemorating the war dead of M. A. C. for the Union Memorial building; this tablet must have all names entitled to be placed upon it, a careful check by RECORD readers will aid in making the list accurate.

MARY ALLEN TO SING
IN DETROIT MARCH 24

Mary Allen, '09, will sing the contralto part in Mendelssohn's "Elijah" with the Detroit Symphony choir and orchestra under the direction of Ossip Garbiritwitsch, at Detroit on March 24. Miss Allen has been meeting with marked success during the past two years and has engagements for appearances with several noted organizations.

This will be her first appearance as a singer in Detroit, her home city, and where she taught in the public schools before studying music. In May, 1923, she sang a concert at the gymnasium under the auspices of the alumnae for the benefit of the Union Memorial building fund. Metropolitan critics have continued strong in their appreciation of her voice and ability.

Dean S. S. Marquis, rector of St. Joseph's parish, Detroit, was the convocation speaker on January 21.
By March 20 the names of those chosen to be candidates for officers of the M. A. C. Association will be made public by the two committees appointed in accordance with the provisions of the constitution. In the meantime it is the privilege and duty of the members of the Association to suggest to the committees printed in this issue the names of those they believe would make good officers.

There are two outstanding qualifications for elective officeholders. They should be willing to undertake the work of the positions for which they are nominated and they must be members of the M. A. C. Association in good standing. It is customary in such organizations as this that those who are willing and capable be continued in office for such a length of time as they will consent to accept election. This scheme is one which makes for permanence of policy and undoubtedly works with advantage to the Association.

With the introduction of the bill in the state legislature which would authorize a change in the name of the College to Michigan State those who have long expressed themselves as favoring this move have a chance to do constructive work in support of their convictions. Legislators generally want expressions of opinion from their constituents to justify their decisions.

Reunion plans are best made before the rush of spring comes. The season set aside for such functions is June and the season set aside for making preparations for the "biggest ever" could appropriately be January. Thus far the classes of '85 and '17 have started the preliminary work on programs. Among the other groups scheduled to meet for special reunions are '70, '75, '80, '83, '90, '95, '00, '05, '10, '15, and '20.

Class secretaries not already engaged in the tasks accompanying such important events as five and ten year reunions can well afford to apply their energies to the work immediately. Lansing and East Lansing boast several hundred alumni and former students who usually take over most of the work involved but they need early notice as to what their duties are to be.

Chickadees, blue jays and cardinals have been busily forecasting spring throughout the winter season on the Campus, they are most optimistic considering the zero weather of the past two months.

With three B's, one A and a C, Paul Anderson, '26, Lansing, was the highest standing man on the football squad and was awarded the silver trophy for his achievement. Hugh Robinson, '25, Detroit, football and basketball player equaled the marks made by Anderson but had already received a trophy for the best defensive work among the linemen on the squad so he was disqualified for the scholarship award. Complete figures for the men on the football squad show the general average to be slightly less than B. There were twelve A's, forty-eight B's, fifty-two C's, eighteen D's, no conditions and two failures.

A series of Student Forum meetings began on January 14. N. A. McCune, '01, pastor of the People's church was the first speaker, others scheduled to address the students and lead discussions include: Professor W. W. Johnston, President Butterfield, Dean Gittner, Professor E. A. Bessey, Professor H. R. Hunt, and Dean Shaw. The program is sponsored by the College Y. M. C. A.
"Close Beside The Winding Cedar"

Line Coach Taylor is in charge of football classes conducted two hours each week in the gymnasium as a part of elective physical training work.

Co-eds will enjoy their annual gambol at the gymnasium on February 6. They will while away the evening without the assistance of members of the opposite sex.

Members of the class of 1926 decided to hold the J-Hop on February 13 without the usual banquet, then they reversed their decision but have continued the ban against corsage bouquets.

A. J. Clark, professor of chemistry, has been elected president of the Lansing Kiwanis club succeeding Dewey A. Seeley, '98. Jacob Schepers, College treasurer, is a director of the club.

With the usual type of stunts and several special attractions the College Y. W. C. A. entertained students and guests at the annual carnival presented by the organization in the gymnasium.

With the aid of the citizens of Rochester, the alumni and friends of the University of Rochester have completed a campaign for a $10,000,000 building and endowment fund for the institution.

L. Whitney Watkins, '93, and Mrs. Dora Stockman have announced that they will be candidates for re-election to the State Board of Agriculture for six-year terms beginning January 1, 1926.

Henry T. Ross, '04, former state senator and member of the executive committee of the M. A. C. Association, is spending part of the winter with neighbors near his farm at Milford. Late in December fire destroyed his home and most of the household goods. He will rebuild when weather permits.

Coach John L. Taylor, who has trained M. A. C. linesmen for two seasons is in charge of the freshmen basketball squad this year. He has seventy-five candidates from whom to select a team.

A four-day school for veterinarians began at the College January 24 and will continue through January 30. Topics of special interest to the various branches of the profession were to be discussed by specialists.

Final reports from the registrar’s office indicate that a total of 1870 students was enrolled for the winter term including the short course men. The four-year enrollment is 1732, a marked gain over the same date in 1924.

Students in charge of preparations for the annual Hort show, February 2 to 6 are preparing for the largest and most complete exhibition in the history of the event. Several special attractions will be offered for the benefit of the visitors.

Cavalry students will learn some of the arts of war as practiced in their branch of service through a series of motion pictures to be exhibited in February detailing the proper manner of accomplishing the most important tasks of the mounted soldier.

The College was well represented at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Washington during the holiday vacation period. A large number of members of the staff and many alumni took part in the various meetings.

Three visits to the Campus in eleven years is the record of C. D. Curtis, '11, an official of the bureau of public roads, who asserted on his most recent journey to East Lansing that he would make these trips oftener in the future.
CAPITAL HONORS SCIENCE DELEGATES

Washington Repeats November Meeting on December 31 to Entertain Alumni and Faculty There for Organization Sessions.

One who signs himself "Critic" and who is suspected of being a member of the class of 1905 sends the following account from the national capital:

That it is not hard to get an M. A. C. assembly together was demonstrated on the night of December 31 when thirty alumni of the college and their friends met at the Grace Dodge Hotel in Washington. The local members were busy with holiday affairs and not many were able to attend. Besides this, they had turned out for a banquet on November 12, when a total of sixty-eight had assembled to greet one another and to do honor to President Butterfield, Dean Shaw, Dean Krueger, Mrs. Stockman, H. W. Gowdy, Dean Bissell, R. J. Baldwin, Dr. Howard E. Edwards, Dr. U. P. Hedrick and other old grads including several Deans and Directors from about the country.

The days immediately preceding the December meeting had seen many M. A. C. men in Washington from widely remote parts of the country. Incidentally it may be remarked with justifiable pride that in the agricultural sections of the Associations for the Advancement of Science, some of the most prominent men were from M. A. C. E. J. Krause, '07, of the University of Wisconsin, where he is handling the post graduates in botany and plant physiology was perhaps the most eagerly heard speaker in his fields. Then there was V. R. Gardner, '05, professor of horticulture at the College, who spoke on several occasions. During his first address, when, as always, his audience was listening closely, watching the man quite as much as hearing what he said, one of his fellow alumni remarked to another "Old Vic is running true to form"; and he was too—no question about it. His subject was "Pruning". The words were coming in trip hammer fashion, snap-snap. You could fairly hear the twigs jump as they were clipped off.

Others prominent at these meetings were M. J. Dorsey, '06, of West Virginia, president of the Association for the Advancement of Horticultural Science who presided with ease and ability. C. P. Close, '95, secretary of the same organization who seems to have a life lease on the job; Phil Wessels, '05, of Riverhead, L. I.; L. D. Bushnell, '05, bacteriologist at the Kansas Agricultural College, and no one knows how many more. There were quite a number of the M. A. C. faculty present with whom the Critic could not even get in touch.

But to return to the banquet, Gardner told of the generally satisfactory condition of things at the College; McHatton, '07, arose to talk about the alumni but never touched the subject, as good speakers so often fail to do; Phil Wessels responded to the subject "Women" by delivering an original poem so satisfactory that at least two of the ladies present insisted upon having copies; McClintock, '13, made the serious order of the evening lighter by giving a reading from James Whitcomb Riley; and lastly, Dr. W. A. Taylor gave the closing talk of the evening by reminiscing in interesting manner and leaving the impression in the minds of everyone present that the whole program had been of high class and thoroughly dignified.

Of the sixty-eight present at the meeting in November, '04 lead all other classes with five present. This time, the laurels went to '05 with seven on hand. These were, O. B. Burrell (Galena, Md.), L. D. Bushnell, V. R. Gardner, Cora Feldkamp, C. A. Reed, Katherine (McNaughton) Reed, and Phil Wessels. The oldest class represented was that of '88, with W. A. Taylor and L. H. Dewey present. As so often happens, Arthur Adelman, '04, was the only engineer present. Dayton Guerney of the same class was forgiven this time as he had but lately been through an operation for mastoid.

The Association like the Grace Dodge Hotel as a meeting place so well that it will go there again on February 21 for the annual banquet and election of officers. Arrangements are already under way to make this as successful as have been the other meetings of the year. It may be the equal of any meeting the Association has ever held. The call is hereby sent out to all M. A. C. people who are likely to be in town at the time to keep the place and date in mind. If possible for out of town guests to do so, it is requested that they send notice to the Secretary, Miss Edna B. McNaughton, Tudor Hall, 10th and Massachusetts avenue, N. W., of their coming, or, upon arrival in the city to telephone C. A. Reed, care Department of Agriculture during office hours or at his home other times.

Detroiters' Doings

Social events are beginning to take up the time of M. A. C. folks in Detroit. The first dancing party of the season will be held Thursday, February 5, at the Detroit Federation of Women's clubs, 4811 Second Boulevard. A vigorous effort is being made to bring out a large crowd and start the season right. Cards will be provided for those who do not care to dance. Cost will be $1.50 per couple.

Proof that the class of '23 can lay claim to class loyalty and class spirit was shown in the informal dinner party staged by the men of the class living in and near Detroit on January 5. Ten men of the class met at the St. Johns Arbor for dinner; two came in from Birmingham while Ann Arbor and Milan were each represented by one. Following a short discussion of the activities of the local M. A. C. club and other alumni doings, it was decided to organize for the purpose of getting together once a month during the winter. C. E. Johnson was named president and Fred E. Holmes secretary. The date for the next get together was set for Saturday, February 7. It is planned to make this a combined dinner and theater party. Watch next week's Record for more particulars. Those who made the first blowout a success and are working to make the next one a bigger one are: W. C. Johnson, and E. P. Weamer, of Birmingham; W. A. L. Willard, of Milan; George Irvine, of Ann Arbor; C. R. Clausen, F. E. Holmes, J. H. Smiley, R. K. Phelps, F. W. Henshaw, C. E Johnson, and Eli W. Middlemiss, '20.

Roy W. Knopf, who spends most of his time with the City Board of Health as a milk inspector, has been confined at home in Blissfield for most of the last month with a bad case of erysipelas.

L. E. Perrine, '23, reports that he is no longer with the Consumers Power company as cold weather caused the cessation of the construction work that he was on. Both he and his brother, E. C. Perrine, '24, are working with their father in his machine shop at present. They should be addressed at 8614 Carrie ave.

MARRIAGES

CLARK-JERMIN

Announcement is made of the marriage of Harold R. Clark, '24, and Dorothy A. Jermin, '23, on January 1, 1925. They are at home at The Oaklands, Ann Arbor, Mich.

MILLER-BURKE

Harold Miller, of Lansing, and Helen Burke, '24, of St. Johns, were married December 31, 1924. Their home is in the Abbey apartments, Abbey Court, Lansing.

ROBINSON-KELLER

Donald G. Robinson, '22, and Margaret Keller, '23, were married last May. They are living in Detroit at 15034 LaSalle blvd. Robinson is assistant purchasing agent for the Detroit Range Boiler and Steel Barrel company.

HERH-COWLES

Charles Ryman Herr and Anna Bryan Cowles, both '15, were married in Lansing, January 19, 1925. After March 1 they will be at home at Flemington, New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Herr are both graduates of Columbia university, he receiving his degree in law in 1920. He is a member of the firm of Griggs and Herr of Somerville, N. J. Mrs. Herr has recently returned from the Orient where she had been in charge of Junior Red Cross work in the Philippines.
WRESTLERS EASILY DEFEAT MICHIGAN

Score 20 to 6 Victory; Basketball Squad Loses First Game in Notre Dame Series; Score Close to 1924 Figures for Contest at South Bend.

Wrestling has not come to be regarded as a major sport but it may be installed as such if the squad under the direction of Coach Burhans continues at the rate it started on January 17 when the Michigan team was defeated at East Lansing, 20 to 6. Last year the two squads had a close contest but the Ann Arbor contingent has evidently failed to keep step with the progress of the Green and White and the net results of their latest entanglement found Captain Hansen's men better by far than their antagonists. The home team registered four falls and lost three decisions by narrow margins.

C. M. Morhardt, '26, lost a decision to Baker in the 115-pound class in the first bout on the program. F. H. Williamson, '25, went the full twelve minutes with Karbell in the 125-pound class and took the honors in the overtime period allotted to him. Captain Hansen in the 135-pound event threw Toepper in 5 minutes, 11 seconds. A. W. Bergquist, '27, won from Kailes in 4 minutes, 45 seconds, wrestling in the 145-pound class. J. A. Murray, '25, finished his match in record time, pinning down Langguth in 3 minutes, 42 seconds, in the 175-pound class. L. E. Teeter, '26, lost his match in the 155-pound class to Sinclair on points. F. H. Hogan, '28, in the heavyweight class, lost a decision to Goldstein.

Wrestling has but recently come into prominence in the M. A. C. program after a long period when it was not recognized as an intercollegiate sport. The victory over Michigan is the first one of major consequence for the squad under Coach Burhans, who took over his duties last year.

Notre Dame's basketball team defeated the M. A. C. five at South Bend on January 16, 37 to 14, close to the score by which the Green and White suffered a reverse at the hands of its old rival in their first contest in 1924. A lack of effective offensive work was again the dominating factor in the loss of the game. Nuttila, captain of the squad and outstanding scorer during the past two seasons has not yet succeeded in restoring his skill and substitutes have lacked his former form.

After the Notre Dame game Robinson, regular center on the squad suffered from leg trouble which kept him out of the game for more than a week. Bilkey, second choice for the job, was also unable to play, adding to the coach's troubles in keeping an effective combination on the floor.

The Notre Dame contest was quite free from fouling, neither team suffering heavily. The summary:

NOTRE DAME  M. A. C.
Dienhart RF: Mason
Conroy LF: Hackett
Nyikos C: Bilkey
Mahoney RG: Richards
Dahman DG: Federicks

Substitutions—Crowe for Dienhart; McNally for Conroy; Kiser for Dahman. M. A. C.—McMillan for Mason; Nuttilla for Hackett; Robinson for Bilkey; Hultman for Federicks; Marx for Hultman.

Field goals—Notre Dame: Crowe 3, McNally 3, Nyikos 3, Mahoney 2, Dahman, Kiser.

M. A. C.—Mason 2, Hackett, Richards, Marx.

CLASS NOTES

In summing up his activities since leaving college in 1875, O. E. Angstman says: "Just a general law practice since 1877. September 1881, the "Acanthus Club", was organized here, which I joined in 1884, now in its 44th year, so I have been a member for forty years, successively, re-
Nominating Committees

President Rogers, as directed by the constitution of the M. A. C. Association has appointed the following committees, each to prepare a complete list of candidates for office and report their choices so that they may be printed in The Record by March 20. Members are urged to send to the committees their suggestions for candidates. The committees are:

Fred L. Woodworth, '98
Chairman
2244 Edison Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

W. R. Rummler, '86
Chairman
1212 Tribune Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Willard M. Coulter, '18
1265 Randolph S. W.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

O. W. Schleussner, '12
Box 1052 R. D. 5, Los Angeles, Cal.

Cora Feldcamp, '05
1211 Delafield Place N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Mrs. E. W. Ranney, '99
Greenville, Mich.

At the annual meeting on June 20 the following offices are to be filled: President, Vice-President, Treasurer, one member of the executive committee for a term of three years, two members of the board of directors of the M. A. C. Union. All officers must be members of the M. A. C. Association in good standing. Executive officials should be close to Lansing so that the pressing affairs of the organization may be handled expeditiously especially during the financing and construction of the Union Memorial building.

Committees must make their selection and report the result to the alumni office by March 10 so that the two tickets may be published in The Record for March 15.

Ballots will be sent to all members of the Association in good standing as of May 1. After the committees make their reports there is an opportunity for nominations at large by any twenty members of the Association in good standing. These nominations must be signed by all twenty members and will be placed on the ballots with the names presented by the two committees, and must be forwarded to the alumni office at least forty days before the date of the annual meeting, or by May 10.

The advantage of this method of nomination is that each member has an equal voice with every other member in choosing the officers of the Association and only members in good standing are allowed to vote.
cently elected president the seventh time. So far as I know, this is the oldest literary society in the country anywhere. We have a printed program, each year, and do good serious work, meet once in two weeks, omitting July, August, and September. Good dinner at every meeting, the one having charge of subject, entertains. Number limited, have about 20 active members. Most of the members have two degrees, all educated men in various walks of life. I feel like adding, that I am sure that I have been as active and busy a lawyer as most anyone in the profession, but I have been guilty of stealing a little time, almost daily, to devote to study and general reading, philosophy, science, history, biography, etc. I have been interested in mechanical things of all kinds, lots of fine tools, quite a wood-worker, always a gardener, some vegetables, many shrubs, and lots and lots of flowers, and did my own work, as a good M. A. C. man should. I made a fine mechanic of our son, but it was a case of “the pupil excelling the teacher,” because he took electrical engineering at U. of M. so couldn’t escape excelling as a mechanic. Our son-in-law died, so our daughter and the two baby boys came to us. This information is pertinent, because I can now relate what good mechanics my two grandsons already are, at the respective ages of 7 and 9. We have had them over six years. I have been much interested in the various bodies of Free Masonry, as this might be termed, non technically. In a word, I wish to make this all as plain as one must to a Briton, as they say. I just want to go on record as one who believes, that one may do as well in his chosen business or profession, if he has a reasonable hobby or two on the side. When I started in the law, I scarcely slept, studied in my office every evening until late and deprived myself of all outside pleasures of every kind. After about three or four years I repented, a wise though not a sadler man for repenting. I am as active in the profession as ever, and down to date, am filled with steel springs, (touching wood this minute, a cheap and harmless precaution) willing to work, as long as I feel like it.” Angstman’s residence address is 1726 Chicago boulevard, Detroit, and his offices at 710 Penobscot building.

Until 1883 Ervin D. Brooks was a farmer and teacher. He then started his practice of medicine, specializing in eye, ear, nose, and throat. The scene of his activities is Kalamazoo, Michigan, where he lives at 10 South Park street.

Charles McKinney, president of Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti, started his career as a teacher in Charlotte. Then in 1866 he took over the duties of president of the Central Michigan Normal school. He left there in 1900 to take the position as president of Milwaukee Normal school, where he remained until 1912. Since that time he has held the position as head of the Normal school at Ypsilanti. McKinney is editor in chief of The American Schoolmaster. He has written articles in educational journals, and has had one book published. The Personality of the Teacher.

Homer D. Luce worked in a general store in Indiana until 1884. He then moved to Lansing where he entered the drug business. In 1894 he sold out and formed the company with which he is now associated, The Hugh Lyons company. He lives in Lansing at 711 S. Capitol avenue.

His headquarters are at the University of California.

C. H. Hilton says that he is at the “same old stand” at R. 4, Benton Harbor, and that the latch string still hangs out for all M. A. Cites.

W. W. Wells comments from 325 Smith avenue, Lansing: “If anyone who feels melancholy at the thought of a change in the name of the college care to understand how the engineering graduates feel on the subject, let him imagine himself in the following situation. He is applying for an agricultural position, and his prospective employer asks where he received his education. He is obliged to say that he is a graduate of the Illinois Medical college, and is asked ‘Why didn’t you stick to medicine?’ The name will not mean much in helping to hold a position, but it can be a handicap in securing one. There are two ways in which a change of name would tend to increase the attendance. Engineering graduates would be less inclined to send their sons to some other college, and students would be less liable to go to some other college before completing their course.”

Maurice F. Johnson is a mathematics instructor at the University of Michigan, and lives at K. F. D. 8, Washtenaw road, Ann Arbor.

F. W. Howe is on leave of absence this year from Syracuse university. He intends to teach some courses in agricultural economics and organization at Peabody college, Nashville, Tennessee, this summer. His address is 640 E. Colvin street, Syracuse, N. Y.
