FARMERS OFFERED BROAD PROGRAM

Specialists in Agricultural Topics, Health, and Economics Offer Instructive Lectures; Dr. Cadman Champions World Peace Before Capacity Crowd; Child Labor Amendment Discussed.

With an estimated attendance of 8,000, Farmers' Week this year was considered as the most successful in the history of the event. There were several noteworthy incidents, contributing to the success of the occasion. The address of S. Parkes Cadman, noted lecturer, as a regular number on the college Liberal Arts program, came on Wednesday evening during Farmers' Week, adding a feature of the unusual sort to round out a list full of the kind of material constructive for the undergraduate as well as for the farmers of the state.

Although definite figures were lacking concerning the actual attendance, E. B. Hill, '15, assistant to Dean Shaw, stated that the week just concluded was by far the most educational and popular of any convention thus far. Because of the multitude of attractions during the week, it was difficult to carry on a systematic registration. Open highways were an important factor in making the trip possible to many of the visitors.

President Butterfield came in for a large share of the speaking during the week. The fact that this was the first opportunity for him to meet the groups as executive of the college made him a much sought speaker as well as affording the program committee the use of an able lecturer on agriculture and its problems.

At the Monday evening session, in the gymnasium, Dean Shaw presiding, health and sanitation was the topic of the evening, Dean Ward Giltner lecturing on "The Animal Disease Situation" and Dr. Wm. Evans, health editor of the Chicago Tribune, speaking on the "Health of the Farmer."

On Tuesday a varied program was offered to the packed house that gathered in the gymnasium, Jacob DeGeus, presidthat selfishness on the part of the nation in refusing to aid the needy countries of the world is a poor way of repaying the very nations whose blood has contributed so much toward that which we now consider truly American. Urging greater cooperation with England and France Mr. Cadman stated that drastic measures should be condemned when suggested by statesmen as means of bringing about the payment of the debts of these nations to the United States. The war with Mexico in 1848 forfeited our friendship with South America and we are rapidly heading in a similar direction with our friendship with Europe, stated the lecturer. "A common mind for justice and peace" he said, "is as possible of realization as the recent common mind of the world for slaughter. Our business is to love all men, to obtain self reverence, self knowledge and self control." In his closing remarks he pleaded for a better international harmony, cessation of wars, and the championing of justice and peace.

Efficiency is the word that best describes the theme of the Thursday sessions. Eugene Davenport, '78, presiding during the afternoon, had a comprehensive program to offer for the approval of the visitors. First came a lecture on "Factory and Farm Efficiency" by H. H. Musselman of the agricultural engineering department. This was followed by "The Economic Situation in Agriculture" by B. H. Hibbard of the University of Wisconsin. "The Ways of Cutting Down the Cost of Farm Supplies" was presented by H. E. Babcock, general manager of the Grange League Federation, followed by Miss Jean Krueger, dean of home economics at M. A. C.

The evening meeting, at which President Butterfield presided, was a fitting culmination to the economic program offered during the afternoon. The proposed child labor law was ably presented to the interested listeners by Owen Lovejoy and Mrs. Dora Stockman, member of the State Board of Agriculture.

Concluding the evening session was an admirable lecture on "Lessons for the American Farmer from European Agriculture," given by Huston Thompson of the Federal Trade Commission. He stated that the rapid increase in American population, approximately 1,400,000 every year, was making the need of observing European methods of agriculture very necessary. Intensive farming would eventually have to be the rule rather than the exception in America, he went on to say.

Music for all general sessions was furnished by the music department of the college. The advent of the liberal arts division at M. A. C. is giving the music department a decided impetus, which was very evident by the quality of music offered to the visiting farmers. The college orchestra, men's and girls' glee club and the Varsity quartette, were all warmly received and encored by the audiences. A feature of the week was the singing contest between the various granges of the state. To allay any suspicion as to the judging of this contest, it was also broadcast over WKAR, allowing radio fans to confirm the decisions of the judges.

As usual, exhibits were coincident with the general and sectional meetings held during the week. Opportune use was made of the new buildings by augmenting many of the exhibits, chiefly the horticultural, grain and farm mechanics.

Another year should witness the staging of an even more popular Farmers' Week, as by that time both the new Horticultural and Union buildings should be open to the visitors for the first time. The revamping of the Campus will also be more nearly completed by that time, as the landscaping of the new boulevard and the grounds around the new buildings will by that time have received due attention.

Farmers' Weeks at M. A. C. are due for increased popularity and educational value. With the completion of new buildings, the state is beginning to appreciate the possibilities of M. A. C. and most of all the College is rapidly becoming a place which more people like to visit. When an auditorium is available, the College will be equipped to accommodate such gatherings.

WKAR'S SCHEDULE FOR REST OF MONTH

A complete schedule for the rest of February for the programs to be sent out by WKAR has been prepared by the committee of which J. B. Hasselman is chairman. After March 1, there will be some variation from this general plan and one of the features now under consideration is a short extension course in agriculture and gardening. This would be made attractive to farmer and city dweller alike by introducing lectures on home gardening and floriculture.

Basketball games and musical programs are drawing a wide response from the owners of receiving sets. The playing of the Pastime orchestra has been noted by requests for additional numbers from points far distant from East Lansing. Recently the station officials have been receiving letters and telegrams from Pacific coast people who are getting much of the important programs broadcast by the station. Canada and all sections of the United States are represented in the letters, telegrams and cards sent to the station by interested followers of radio.

The program for the last two weeks of February follows:

Monday, 7 to 8—Educational, M. A. C. faculty.
Wednesday, 7 to 9:15—Music.
Friday, 7 to 8—Educational, state departments.
Saturday, 12:30 to 1:30 a.m.—Dance programs, Pastime Players.
Daily (except Sunday), 12 noon—Weather forecast.
Home basketball games at M. A. C.—Feb. 20, 28 and March 3.

Eastern standard time is used throughout. The wave-length is 285.5 meters.

KETTUNEN, '17, HEADS
STATE CLUB ACTIVITY

Arne G. Kettunen, '17, has been appointed state leader of boys' and girls clubs and has taken over the duties of the office formerly administered by R. A. Turner, '09, who recently accepted a supervisory position with the federal department of agriculture in the same work.

Kettunen has been connected with club work since completing his course in agriculture and since 1919 has been stationed at Marquette in charge of this activity of the extension division in the upper peninsula. He has taken up his residence in East Lansing.

GAUTHIER TO RETAIN POST AT WESLEYAN

George E. Gauthier, '14, who has been director of athletics and head coach at Ohio Wesleyan university for four years has signed a contract to continue in that capacity for three years more, according to an announcement by the president of that university.

Twice during Gauthier's regime Wesleyan football teams have won Ohio conference championships and in the past three years they have lost but one game to a conference opponent. His track and cross-country teams have also been successful. His work has extended beyond intercollegiate coaching and he has developed an extensive system of intra-mural athletics at the institution. He was prominently mentioned for the position as head coach of a Big Ten football squad a short time ago and has been included, among those offered similar posts at other colleges.

Manufacturers of dairy machinery and supplies demonstrated their products in the armory during Farmers' week in connection with the meeting of the allied dairy industries.
Judging by its reception by students and general public the experiment of the M. A. C. Union in producing a vaudeville program instead of the operas which had been staged in previous years was a complete success. Financially the project promises to pay all expenses and possibly show a small profit. The entire plan was manufactured for the occasion, no precedent had been established to guide the staff in charge of the work through any of the multitudinous details and that the results were generally approved is a considerable accomplishment.

It has been apparent for some time that the plan of presenting an opera was a little ambitious for a college the size of M. A. C. It has always been necessary for the Union to obtain an outside director and music, although it has been fortunate in having the services of a man who gave much of his time and skillful effort to the production, the feeling that such a production should be the result of College effort was strong.

In the matter of finances the vaudeville presented slightly less of a problem for the outlay was less than that demanded by an opera. What was more important in the affairs of the participant the vaudeville took less of the individual’s time in rehearsals for the small number engaged in each act could rehearse without those in the other acts being present. By this was eliminated a drawback of the opera from the viewpoint of those interested in scholarship matters.

It seems as if the Union had made the best possible selection for its program and future years should add to its prestige in theatricals.

There are two distinct types of alumni and the line between them is most sharply defined when there is a project afoot, one class, tries to run things by wind power and the other class uses applied effort. The former supplies the directions and the criticism and the latter supplies the cash and the energy. One group expends its resources of strength in attempting to tell the other and, incidentally, the rest of the world, why all that has been done is wrong and why it will be impossible for those who do things to complete their tasks but fails to offer constructive suggestions of any sort, the other class dig up the suggestions and carries on the work.

This condition is by no means confined to alumni work, it is evident in undergraduate life, in affairs of the state and of the nation but its ubiquity is no excuse for its existence. The disgruntled citizen who withdraws from the world because it is not conducted according to his ideas will find it no better when he decides to return but he might have made it better by staying and joining in the work of his fellowmen. Experts say that one of the reasons for the so-called depression in the agricultural industry is the lack of ability in the farmer to carry out a cooperative project and this might well be applied to all of the evils of the world. There will always be workers and drones, biters and barkers and a group of alumni presents a cross-section of life. This should not be for a college education ought to teach those who receive it that the howl of the coyote in the hills may be heard farther but it will frighten fewer people than will the growl of the watchdog in the center of the city.

Several large evergreen trees near the residence at No. 7 Faculty Row, occupied by President Butterfield, have been removed. With the future removal of the practice house from the southwest corner of the Union Memorial building that structure will occupy a more commanding place on the landscape.
"Close Beside The Winding Cedar"

A. J. Clark, professor of chemistry and director of the College band, has been commissioned a major in the officers' reserve corps, chemical warfare section.

Several days of mild weather and a rainstorm dissipated the covering of snow and ice on the Campus during the past week and made the entrances to the College grounds impassable to the unwary driver.

Union Memorial building fund receipts for the past seven weeks have averaged $1,000 per week, setting a new mark for this particular period of the year. New subscriptions have been added to the list at the same rate.

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary fraternity for college journalists, is offering prizes for the best Campus newspaper work displayed by sophomores and freshmen in a contest being conducted in conjunction with the Holcade.

Mild weather destroyed prospects of the hockey schedule being completed. It is planned that future seasons may find the rink protected so that only an extended spell of warm days will prevent the carrying out of a regular program.

In the calendar year of 1924, $36,690.00 was paid into the Memorial building fund treasury, an average of $100.00 per day. Accounts in arrears do not total ten percent of the list but that percentage is enough to handicap the committee in its program.

W. F. Johnston, '91, has resigned as agricultural agent for Wexford county and has accepted a similar position in Van Buren county. Johnston's experimental work on legumes and poultry raising, and his activity in organizing rural clubs of various types won him public commendation while at Cadillac.

R. H. Kelty, '19, in charge of apiculture in the department of entomology, was a speaker at the Farm and Home week at Iowa State college.

With the J-Hop and the Varsity club party occupying the center of attention during the last week-end athletics gave way to social events. The former was held in the gymnasium on Friday night and the latter followed the next night in the same place.

A speaker before the Michigan Poultry Producers' association advocated more extensive equipment for the College poultry department during the Farmers' week program and the nurserymen of the state advocated an additional short course in their session.

A bill has been introduced in Congress authorizing the department of agriculture to sell to the College the building now being used by the weather bureau. If this proposal is approved another site on the Campus will be given to the department for the construction of a building to house the offices of the bureau.

The Olympic society indoor baseball team went through its intra-mural schedule without a defeat and took the championship honors in the inter-fraternity competition. A lengthy schedule of inter-class basketball is now occupying the attention of the students. Several teams have been formed in each class representing the various divisions of the College.

A movement is under way to have the Wolverine become an all-college publication. Since it was first published it has been produced by the members of the junior class but has been representative of the entire College. It is proposed to take this step in order to make the annual the result of a more general effort and to distribute the responsibility for its success.
NEW UNION VENTURE WELL RECEIVED

Vaudeville Program Replacing Opera Accrued Praise; Presented in Five Performances at Lansing Theater; List of Specialities Offered by Students.

What was characterized generally as a well-balanced program carried out with the skill of a professional performance and the charm of amateurs drew capacity crowds to the Gladmer theater during the showing of the Union vaudeville revue February 5, 6, and 7. Its first venture in this field of entertainment drew for the Union commendation of a type which had been hoped for but hardly expected in the early stages of preparation for the event. Newspaper critics and theater goers of the city joined in expressing their approval of the departure from the usual opera.

The bill was such as might be presented in a high-class vaudeville theater. It had jazz and classical music, singing, dancing, magic and mind reading. In the first act the Duncan sisters in their Topsy and Eva specialty were impersonated by Maxine Evans, '27, Chicago, and Betty Adams, '28, Calumet. In song and dance these two presented entertainment of a high type.

The Pastime Players, well known as a student orchestra popular for Campus dances and regular fixtures on the broadcasting program of WKAR, presented a list of selections which met with general approval from all audiences.

One of the acts which required much time in the preparation was presented by F. B. Ranney, '25, and R. Gordon, '27, who gave an exhibition of mind reading using the tricks employed by their professional contemporaries. Ranney poses as a princess until the close of the act and the sketch was introduced in a clever manner.

In "A Moth and Two Flames", the local chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatics fraternity, exhibited polished acting and an unusual coordination for such productions. Professor E. S. King, for twenty-five years in charge of such work at M. A. C., directed the cast. The play involved the predicament of a youth who proposed to two girls and was accepted by both.

The Varsity male quartette was well-received in its share of the program which consisted of a selection of tuneful numbers including "The Hunting Song" from Robin Hood and "Asleep in the Deep." The quartette is also a favorite with broadcasting audiences and Lansing organizations.

Ariond Stolz, a former student living in Lansing, presented a sleight of hand performance the equal of those shown in many theaters; he was deft enough to keep the audience entertained throughout his part of the bill.

Davies and Scofield put on the comedy hit of the show in their act which included dancing of an eccentric variety and singing. They were repeatedly encored at every performance and the time of their appearance was doubled in the final evening by the insistent demand of the audience.

One of the high spots of the program was the string quartette which presented a list of classical music. Violin, cello, harp, and piano comprised the instruments used by Frances Ayres, Zona Eberly, Frances Chambers and Geneva Church. It was as pleasing a bit as can be found on any program and the lighting effects with the participants in colonial costumes added to the success of the act.

In the crowning act of the bill twenty dancers took part. There was a chorus with ability and pleasing appearance, clog dancers, a Spanish dancer, two couples in a minuet and the Pastime Players to furnish the musical setting. The chorus of twelve girls was led by Maxine Evans who also appeared in the first act on the program. They sang and danced with spirit and demonstrated the benefit of long practice.
When the proposal for another opera met opposition from the faculty the vaudeville was offered as a substitute. Thus those in charge of the production started work without the benefit of past experience and bore the brunt of pioneering. E. E. Schaffer, Ionia, a senior engineer was chairman of the committee in charge of the vaudeville. He was assisted by a selected group of students from whom will be chosen the manager of the 1926 production, plans for which will be discussed at a dinner to be given performers and staff on Tuesday evening.

M. A. C. is well represented at the Merrill-Palmer School this term. Five seniors, Elsa Foote, Thelma Kling, Irma Rupp, Margaret Plant and Emily Perry are taking graduate work while Belle Farley, '22, is doing some teaching and postgraduate work. The school is at 71 East Ferry avenue.

The question "Have you a little fairy in your home?" has been answered by Ray A. Hunter, '18. He says it's a boy and answers to the name of Ray Alexander, Junior. The young man arrived January second.

Dr. Edwin W. Bishop, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, Lansing, was the convocation speaker on February 11.

NEW HOSPITAL OPENS TO PUBLIC FEB. 17

On February 17 the new College hospital will be opened to inspection by the M. A. C. staff and the Lansing medical fraternity. The structure at No. 1 Faculty Row has been so completely overhauled that it bears no resemblance to a residence and has become a compact, efficient building for the care of all types of ailments found in a community of students. Members of the legislature have been invited to view the place on its opening day. A stringed orchestra will furnish music from 4 to 8 o'clock.

No attempt was made to follow the custom in the management of the Union opera and take the vaudeville production to cities other than Lansing. Alumni in other sections of the state may have an opportunity to see the show in future years.

Alumni Opinion

Editor of The Record:

Personally, I am in favor of retaining the good old well established name, Michigan Agricultural College, and thus far I have heard of no valid excuse for changing it. I am inclined to resent the inference in recent numbers of The Record that only "old fogies" and "demagoggs" are in favor of retaining the name.

VARSITY SQUAD DEFEATS DETROIT

Fresh Basketball Men Beat Highland Park Junior Five on Same Program With Legislators as Guests of Evening; Swimmers Also Win.

With the freshman squad vanquishing Highland Park Junior college, 24 to 11, and the varsity taking the measure of the University of Detroit, 23 to 22, legislators who were guests at the games saw the Green and White dominate the basketball floor for one evening.

In the regular game it was necessary for the contestants to go through a five minute overtime period before the issue was decided. Hackett tossed a field goal just before the timekeepers stopped the regulation game and tied the score. Richards came through in the extra session with a goal from the foul line which kept the victory at home. Along with Richards and Hackett, McMillan and Frederick were the outstanding players on the M. A. C. lineup, both of the latter registered two baskets from the floor.

Coach Kobs' men took the lead early in the game and at half time had an 11 to 5 margin. The Detroit quintet drew away in the second period and it was only the last minute play of the M. A. C. squad that prevented a defeat.

The freshmen outclassed their opponents and made the game with Highland Park Junior college less of a contest than when the two teams met at Detroit the previous week. Ten men took part in the play of the yearlings.

Nominating Committees

President Rogers, as directed by the constitution of the M. A. C. Association has appointed the following committees, each to prepare a complete list of candidates for office and report their choices so that they may be printed in The Record by March 20. Members are urged to send to the committees their suggestions for candidates. The committees are:

Fred L. Woodworth, '98
Chairman
2244 Edison Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Willard M. Coulter, '18
1265 Randolph S. W.
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Cora Feldcamp, '05
1211 Delafield Place N. W.
Washington, D. C.

W. R. Rummler, '86
Chairman
1212 Tribune Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

O. W. Schleussner, '12
Box 1052 R. D. 5, Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. E. W. Ranney, '99
Greenville, Mich.

At the annual meeting on June 20 the following offices are to be filled: President, Vice-President, Treasurer, one member of the executive committee for a term of three years, two members of the board of directors of the M. A. C. Union. All officers must be members of the M. A. C. Association in good standing. Executive officials should be close to Lansing so that the pressing affairs of the organization may be handled expeditiously especially during the financing and construction of the Union Memorial building.

Committees must make their selection and report the result to the alumni office by March 10 so that the two tickets may be published in The Record for March 15.

Ballots will be sent to all members of the Association in good standing as of May 1. After the committees make their reports there is an opportunity for nominations at large by any twenty members of the Association in good standing. These nominations must be signed by all twenty members and will be placed on the ballots with the names presented by the two committees, and must be forwarded to the alumni office at least forty days before the date of the annual meeting, or by May 10.

The advantage of this method of nomination is that each member has an equal voice with every other member in choosing the officers of the Association and only members in good standing are allowed to vote.

To the man out of college ten years

TWO MEN stood on the steps of a fraternity house on the Sunday evening before Commencement. Said one of them:

"A college man ought to earn as many thousand dollars a year as the number of years he has been out of college."

Said the other: "That sounds fair enough. Let's keep in touch with each other and see how it works out."

At the end of the second year one of them was earning $40 a week, while the other was earning $35.

At the end of their fifth year one was earning $6,000 a year, the other $4,000.

At the end of their tenth year one was earning $12,500, the other $5,000.

Why did one man stop?

Something happened in that five year period; what was it?
The same thing which happens to many thousands. The $5,000 man got into a department of a business (it happened to be the engineering department; but it might as easily have been sales, or accounting, or advertising, factory or office management, traffic, or any of the others). He became proficient in the work of that department—so proficient that he built a wall around himself. He knows too much about that one department, and too little about the others, ever to get out.

The other man realized that large success demands a capacity for using and directing the work of other men. He will never know as much about any department as his friend knows about engineering. But he knows enough about all departments to employ others and to profit by their work.

This case is not exceptional. Take the statistics of a typical class of a great university.

You who read this page—do you wonder why the Alexander Hamilton Institute should pass by hundreds of readers of this magazine and address itself to you?
The answer is simple: You are the typical Institute man. You are in your thirties; the average age at which men enrol with the Institute is 37.

You are married. A majority of the men who enrol with the Institute are married.

You are a college man. Forty per cent of the men who enrol with the Institute are college men.

In other words, this training is specifically designed for you. The record of the 250,000 men whom the Institute has trained (whose average situation was so nearly parallel to yours) is the best possible guarantee that it is worth your while at least to get the facts.

What will the next ten years mean to you?
The facts about the Institute are all in a book called "Forging Ahead in Business."

It can be read in a single evening, but it contains the proved results of sixteen years' experience in training men for larger earning power—all sorts of men in all sorts of positions. There is a copy of this book for every thoughtful reader of this magazine—and in particular for the man who has been ten years out of college. It will come to you by mail immediately upon receipt of your name and address. Send for it now.
