LUNCHEON PROGRAM UP TO HAYS, '11

Member of Fifteenth Anniversary Class to Direct Antics at Annual Affair In Union Memorial Building; Business Meeting and Dedication of Tablet to Be Separated From Feed Time; Programs Ready When You Register.

All that is needed for a big day on Saturday, June 19—which it has been mentioned previously, is the date set for Alumni Day—is the cooperation of the weather man. The latter question is a serious one this year for the class of '98 of which Dewey Seeley, dispenser of atmospheric disturbance for this part of the state, is a noted member, is not due for a reunion. However, Seeley has promised to do what he can in honor of the first anniversary of the class of '25 which had two of his sons as members so that matter should be almost settled. In getting down to work on the program for the day the committee headed by J. D. Towar, and including four other notables, found a good sized job on its hands. For the first time in the recent history of this affair an attempt will be made to separate the alumni luncheon from the business meeting and formal program. In accomplishing this task the committee has requested James Grant Hays, '11, commonly hailed as "Jimmy", to conduct the ceremonies incident to a proper observance of the occasion. Hays refuses to announce his completed plans but he will have general charge of the affair from the time the classes begin to gather until he turns the meeting over to President Rogers after the luncheon.

It is well to bear in mind that the first duty of an alumnus or former student upon returning to the Campus is to register in regular form in the lobby of the Union Memorial building. There will be class lists and other interesting information at hand to show him or her where to locate the rest of the gang, if the gang should not be on hand to extend the customary greetings. This should be done on the evening of June 18 or the morning of June 19 for the luncheon is due to start at 12 o'clock sharp, and the committee has decided in favor of a cafeteria style meal where you can rush in and grab what you have coming without going through the agony of awaiting the attention of a waiter. The luncheon, by the way, will cost a single dollar and it will be wise to purchase your ticket at the first opportunity. There will be the customary tax of twenty-five cents to cover the extraordinary expenses of the day and this is for each person instead of covering an entire family. Therefore upon registering purchase your luncheon ticket for one dollar, pay your registration fee and buy tickets for the rest of the family at a dollar each, unless they should be registered in which case the tax will be twenty-five cents per head over the cost of the luncheon ticket. The luncheon will be one of the seven wonders of the world, it will be worth the price.

On the morning of June 19 you should have some time to wander around the buildings, or perhaps you will want to go to other buildings on the Campus or look through the new People's church, which was recently dedicated. Be sure to register first; then you will be able to get all of the necessary information for enjoying the whole day.

Classes will gather before going through the line for lunch. "Jimmy" Hays will remind you of this and he will be aided by a group who will not listen to your arguments so join up with your class and go through with it. This herding work will begin about 11:30 and the south stairs will be used so that the crowd will not inconvenience itself in getting up to the second floor.

The luncheon itself will be confined to eating and listening to the program prepared by the committee. At the close of this affair the tables will be removed from the ballroom and all will be urged to gather there for the formal program of the day which will include the dedication of the memorial tablet to be placed in the main lobby. This portion of the program will also include the annual meeting and the presentation of reports and resolutions.

After the meeting all of those who are accustomed to indulge their desires in the matter will go to College field to see the varsity and alumni baseball teams tangle in their annual battle on the diamond. During the interim between the game and the president's reception at 8:30 there is ample time for class dinners and group reunions of various sort. The alumni dance will follow the reception and will complete the day. It is a question of being on time and being prepared for a large event for there will be no chance to ponder on your duties at the office or on the farm, no opportunity to bewail the fate which keeps you below the average at golf or makes the mileage on your tires less than Bill Jones' boasts, the day is dedicated to a celebration and it will be that if you are willing to show that you can keep up with your class and with the youngsters who graduated the next year.

Printed programs will give you all instructions in respect to your conduct during the day and you will be given one when you register. The Union Memorial building will be in complete operation for your convenience.

MICHIGAN ABOUNDS IN WILD FLOWERS

With the coming of spring, the nature lovers will again spread the contagion of their enthusiasm. No matter whether the subject is that of bugs, birds, butterflies or wild flowers, there is always something new to be seen—something "just around the corner". You do not necessarily have to know the names of the wild flowers to enjoy them, though such knowledge will add to your interest and pleasure. Several good books have been published, which are helpful as guides to anyone interested in learning the names of the common flowers.

One should learn to enjoy the flowers in their native haunts. It is really much easier to become acquainted with them in this way. The picture of a flower in its native habitat brings up the picture of others which are usually associated with it. The person who has learned the names of one or two hundred wild flowers and has learned how to enjoy them, will not usually want to dig them up. Some of the rarer species are in danger of being exterminated. There are about fifty species belonging to the orchid family growing in this state. Several of these are very showy; while others are quite inconspicuous, and would naturally not be apt to attract the attention of most observers. The time to look for these plants is in the late spring up to the middle of summer. Many orchid species bloom even later. There is a fascination about hunting orchids, for the nature lover who wants to find something rare. They form beautiful subjects for the flower photographer. Some enthusiasts have come clear from the east to photograph some of our orchid species. The majority of the attractive species in this state grow in mossy bog. Certain rare species, however, such as Calypso and the Nodding Pogonia grow in mossy woods or in rich leaf-mold. The orchids, more than any other group of wild flower, need protection. This is especially true of the showy species that grow in bogs. They should be picked sparingly if at all. The time will probably come when some species will disappear from the Lower Peninsula; let us save them as long as we can.

There are between twenty-two and twenty-three hundred species of ferns and seed plants growing in Michigan without cultivation. This includes the introduced weed flora as well as those plants which were originally found here, in other words, the native species. The list includes about three hundred trees and shrubs, their being about ninety trees alone. Since many of the species are grasses, sedges, or plants with more or less inconspicuous flowers, the number with showy flowers is probably not more than one-third the total.

Nearly every child is acquainted with one or more of spring flowers, such as the Bloodroot, the Spring Beauty, Trillium, Hepatica, and the Adder's Tongue. These plants are common in nearly every woodland; but there is danger, in some sections, of their being taken to excess. In parts of the east, especially New England, all of these species are put on the protected list. Children should be taught to pick them moderately, leaving enough flowers to produce seed for the future. Practically all of them are perennials and spread slowly by means of underground parts; for that reason the rootstocks should not be pulled up.

Michigan is rich in her wild flowers. Learning to appreciate them, to enjoy them properly and to conserve them is a matter of education. The boy and girl scout organizations of the state are to be congratulated for the spirit they have shown in regard to this form of wild life conservation.

Both the Albion and the Western State Normal co-eds defeated the representatives of the Green and White debaters in a triangular affair on April 13. The child labor amendment was up for discussion. Members of the varsity squad are: Elizabeth Sackett, '28, Lansing; Jetta Thompson, '28, Onaway; Margaret Winters, '28, Lansing; Thelma Estelle, '28, Lansing; Ellen Farley, '29, Albion; Dorothy Robinson, '28, Manistee; Florence Albright, '27, Saginaw.
It may be that this is the proper time of year to consider the question of college football as it affects Michigan State College, in particular. Throughout the winter the newspapers, alumni magazines, and periodicals generally have given much space to the problem as they see it. Columns have been printed following the speech made by E. K. Hall, chairman of the rules committee when he startled the collegiate world, at least as it applies to alumni and undergraduates, by his pronouncement against the exploitation of the individual through All-American selections and similar honors. He brought about a far reaching discussion which may or may not have been beneficial to the game. The chief theme has been “What is the matter with football?”

Walter R. Okeson, alumni secretary of Lehigh university, a football player of note during his undergraduate days and president of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials, sums up the entire matter of a few sentences which are reprinted from the Ohio State University Monthly. “What is the matter with football? Mighty little. Generally speaking the game is all right; all that is wrong is the attitude of everybody in regard to it. They forget it is a game. And furthermore, they overlook the fact that it is a mere undergraduate activity and seen to think it a matter of grave public import. In short the faculties, the undergraduates, the alumni, the newspapers and the public all view football as a serious matter and one that must not be laughed at.

“There’s your answer; laugh at it. It’s a game to be enjoyed by players and spectators. Not something in which defeat spells loss of efficiency and honor for the college of the team which on that day happens to lose.

“Football is worthwhile because it is a great game, full of joys and thrills for any player who approaches it in the right spirit. Permit him to approach it in the right spirit. Stop taking yourselves so seriously, you coaches and fans!”

While football is on the boards as a topic it might be well to point out that the prices of tickets for games this next fall will remain as they were last year. There has been much discussion in the past over the fact that the prices charged for home games have been higher than those charged for some conference games. The cost of football at East Lansing is a matter for deliberation for several factors must be taken into the reckoning. The stadium was built with funds loaned to the College, the athletic plant, insofar as outdoor athletics are concerned, is still in an early stage of development. There should be funds available for new baseball stands, tennis courts and a whole string of intra-mural grounds but none of this money will come until it is earned. There has been no campaign among the alumni to provide these things and the net cost of seats is much lower than were a general subscription asked and the entire does not fall upon the alumni. ‘Think it over when you receive your application for tickets and see the prices, there is more than one side to the question.

A CATHEDRAL AISLE IN THE PINETUM
VARSITY WINS AND LOSES

Hope Easy Victim On Founders' Day; Butler Goes Thirteen Innings to Take Honors.

State met its fourth defeat of the season on May 8 when Butler invaded the Spartan camp and won a thrilling overtime contest, 7-4. The Varsity had an uphill climb during the regular innings, Butler maintaining the lead most of the time. Each team received credit for 12 hits while State made four misplays and Butler three. In the seventh Del Zimmerman made one of the longest drives ever seen on College field, crossing the plate before the ball was relayed back to the infield. Kuhn relieved Wakefield in the ninth when the bases were full and successfully retired the invaders.

In the thirteenth Butler collected four consecutive singles which netted three runs. The Varsity was unable to make a counter in their half of the final frame.

Against Hope college on Founders' Day the Varsity played airtight ball and won, 6-2. At all times "Lefty" Tolles had the game well in hand, striking out eight of the visitors and allowing but seven hits. For five innings both teams went scoreless, giving the record attendance a real exhibition of baseball.

In the Hope game Coach Kobs changed his batting order somewhat and the new front seemed to aid the State attack considerably. It was in the sixth that the Varsity put the game on ice by sending four men across the home plate. With two on, Baynes made a pretty single scoring both runners. From this point on State played more confidently and found little trouble in loading the bases time after time.

Fleser led the State attack with two singles and a homer while Haskins contributed three singles. Spiekerman had a perfect day at bat, drawing three passes and hitting a single.

A left handed moundsman proved the undoing of State in its game with St. Viators on May 15, score 3-2. Throughout the game it was a pitchers' battle between Dundon and Wakefield, with the former having the best of the argument.

A hasty shift of the Spartan lineup to eliminate left hand batters from the State offense failed to create the drive necessary to win. State collected six hits against eight for the visitors. Errors were frequent on both sides, Captain Kiebler contributing three misplays and Kuhn one. Kuhn appeared in right field in place of Zimmerman, who bats from the left side.

Carl Baynes played a spectacular game at second, successfully killing three drives which looked like sure hits. In the ninth inning Zimmerman, who was sent to bat for Fleser, singled cleanly and when Kiebler came to bat State had second and third occupied, but the best Kiebler could do was fly out to right field.

IOWA TAKES RELAY AND MEET HONORS

State lost the mile relay and consequently the meet in its dual encounter with Iowa State at the stadium on May 8, 67-64. Prior to the final relay the Varsity led, 64-62. Too much credit cannot be given to Grim and Alderman for their work. Alderman took first in the 100 and 220 with Grim coming in second in both. Grim took first in the 440 while Alderman won the broad jump and took third in the javelin. Then, when the count stood 64-62 in State’s favor just before the final event of the meet, Alderman and Grim were sent into the mile relay. It was the first time that the former had ever attempted this distance. Grim ran third and had a 30 yard handicap to attempt to make up, with Alderman following an anchor man. But the previous activity of these men was too much. Although they gained considerably on their opponents they could not make the grade sufficiently to win.

Wylie of State sprang a big surprise by almost defeating Conger of Iowa in the mile, the latter was forced to a long sprint to win. Tillotson had a bad day in the discus when he placed second, with Alderman following an anchor man. But the previous activity of these men was too much. Although they gained considerably on their opponents they could not make the grade sufficiently to win.

Wednesday, May 12, was senior swing-out on the Campus, one of the numerous events of the past week.

First Annual Governor’s Night was staged at the Union on Tuesday, May 25, at which time Governor Groesbeck was the principal speaker at an all-college smoker. The Governor spoke on “Public Life as a Career.”

Iowa lost the mile relay and consequently the meet in its dual encounter with Iowa State at the stadium on May 8, 67-64. Prior to the final relay the Varsity led, 64-62.

Wylie of State sprang a big surprise by almost defeating Conger of Iowa in the mile, the latter was forced to a long sprint to win. Tillotson had a bad day in the discus when he placed second. For the first time this season he failed to place first in this event in a dual meet.

No records were broken or endangered during the meet, a wind hampering the runners considerably.

RECORDS FALL IN NOTRE DAME MEET

Alderman, Grim and Wylie Continue Pace Which Has Put Them Among the Leading College Runners of the Year; Visitors Win by Placing Straight In Three Events.

Alderman, Grim and Wylie established new College records in the dual meet with Notre Dame on Saturday, May 15. Alderman was timed at 10.9.8 in the hundred, Grim at 49.9 in the 440 and Wylie at 4.27.6 in the mile. All three marks were accepted as official and will replace the present marks for these events.

Alderman's time of 9.8 seconds replaces the mark made by H. E. Moon in 1904 of 10. flat and since then equalled by Ernst in 1922 and Herdell in 1922 and 1924. Grim's time of 49.9 breaks his earlier season mark of 50. which then displaced the mark established by DeGay Ernst. Wylie's feat of accomplishing the mile in 4:27.6 bettered the time of Adolph, 1921, by 5.4 seconds.

It was in the hurdles, middle distance and field events that Notre Dame was able to clinch the result of the meet, 78-48.

Tillotson resumed his winning pace in the discus with a distance of 129 feet. Alderman was high point man of the day with firsts in the 100, 220 and broad jump and second in the javelin, totalling 18 points.

R. B. Norton is still residing at Arkansas City, Kansas.

L. G. Carpenter, '79, consulting engineer at Denver, Colorado, sent in several of the class notes which are included in this issue. He writes: "The columns of The Record are of interest to the old timers principally because of the news it gives of some of their former associates."

A. B. Turner, 1805 North Parkway, Memphis, Tennessee, secretary of the class sends in news of his classmates. His letter follows:

A. H. Voigt informs us that he was on Catalina Island in the Pacific, taking a rest and breathing spell from the rush of his furniture business in Los Angeles.

Jonathan F. Root of Plymouth, Michigan, spent April 13 in Memphis, Tenn. We reminded him of how he used to stand near Williams Hall and kick a football over the white wood tree that stood just across the drive. John spent five very enjoyable months on the Pacific coast and visited El Paso, Galveston, New Orleans and Memphis. He still thinks the old homestead at Plymouth is a good place to live.

A recent letter from President Charles McKenny of Ypsilanti normal, proves his continued interest in 'M. S. C. and the class of '81. Information of the death of Jason Woodman on April 27 came to us from classmates in Michigan. The Michigan papers have all done honor to Mr. Woodman for the faithful and efficient work which he did in the forty years since his graduation from M. S. C. As a class we honor him for his accomplishments and sorrow that he will not meet with us again at our class reunions.

"Dan Lincoln writes that he has been sick but is recovering. He may not be able to attend this year's commencement.

"Byron S. Palmer writes that Mrs. Palmer and he are well and busy but not too busy to write a friend or attend a good game of baseball."

J. E. Hammond, '86, concludes his class reunion campaign as follows:

This letter will reach you a little earlier than you expected, but I see no reason for delaying it. The plans for the reunion of the Class of '86 are as complete now as they will be anytime previous to the day. Please review my letter of May 4th and read it carefully. This letter does not change the general plan set forth in that letter.

You will be pleased to know that Joe Cotton will be the host at this dinner which will be given in the Grill Room of the Hotel Downey at 5:30 o'clock, Saturday evening, June 19th. Please observe that 5:30 is mentioned. We want to sit down to the dinner not a minute later than 6:00 o'clock for the reason that we must go from there to attend the President's Reception at the College at 8:30. Automobiles will be provided.

Besides the Class of '86 there will also be in attendance at the dinner, President and Mrs. K. L. Butterfield, Dean and Mrs. Frank S. Kedzie, Judge and Mrs. C. B. Collingwood, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Towar of Lansing, of the Class of '85, and Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Diehl of the Class of '87 now residing in Charlotte, Robert M. Renner and daughter, Loa, Highland Park, Illinois.

You will remember "Joe" of College Days and can put it down as an established fact that the occasion will be some affair. He writes: "Please invite on behalf of '86 and myself as host all members of our Class and their wives, or if no wives, some lady relative or friend. Also invite Collingwood, Towar and Thomas of '85 and Diehl of '87, and their respective wives or sweethearts. I am particularly anxious that President Butterfield and Dean Kedzie be invited early and that we tell them we cannot take no for an answer."

It is possible that President Butterfield will be in attendance at the 35th Reunion of his own Class and if he attends our dinner it may be necessary for him to be excused early on account of the President's Reception.

A. F. Kennan is now, as for many years, in the patent office at Washington, D. C.

Fort Collins. "So much time has elapsed," Carpenter writes, "that Marhoff is now willing to tell all he knows about the exciting incidents which stirred up the College in the eighties, such as the sulphurated hydrogen in the agricultural class room."

Edward J. Frost is still actively directing the Frost Gear and Forge company, Jackson, as president. He is also president of the American Gear Manufacturers' association.

C. E. Ferris is dean of engineering at Tennessee university. He went there directly upon graduation from the College, 35 years at the one institution.

William J. Myers' career is narrated as follows by L. G. Carpenter: "After graduating in Michigan and being assistant to Dr. Durand, he soon came to Colorado as professor of mathematics. Later he took a course in law at the University of Michigan. Following that he came again to Colorado for some work which I offered him in connection with the suit of the state of Kansas against Colorado, and also as professor of engineering here. Then with the opportunity to go into the statistical division of the Interstate Commerce commission he was recommended to the New York Utility commission as a person competent to organize that work at its beginning. Later became chief statistician of the Interstate Commerce commission. He left the government to go with the New York Edison companies."

From the replies to his circular letter relative to the 25th Anniversary celebration of the graduation of 1901, Major Mark L. Ireland, Q. M. C., U. S. Army, supplies the following:

Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, nee Vesta Wood-
we want a photographer engaged to take a class reunion picture. I am sure that we will tell Shoesmith of a lot more things that we would like later in order "to put the thing over big."

In the appendix to the last notes forwarded was the information that Hugh P. Baker, 01, and Mrs. Fleta Paddock Baker, 01, expected to attend the reunion. Hugh says: "Your letter started us talking at once of the class and we both expressed pleasure that you had taken leadership in trying to get the class together." He adds: "We have a daughter who is a junior at Vassar and a son, a sophomore in high school."

Walter H. Flynn, Superintendent of motive power for the New York Central lines, Buffalo and East, New York Central building, New York City, furnishes Bemb Robinson company, Detroit, Mich., as the last known address of Clare W. Dr. Myrtelle Moore Canavan is engaged upon research work in the Warren Anatomical museum, Harvard Medical school, Boston, Mass. It was thru Dr. Canavan that our "lost" Vesta Woodbury Marshall was found.

The indefatigable "Pinky" has asked me to write you to the effect that I am planning to "reune" at the Campus on June 19 and that I hope to see all of the old 'o6ers when I come. If Leslie John Smith would only be there I should be glad to sing our old Loyalty song to the tune of Tammany which we sang at the circus where Fisk, et al, soaked Prof. Vedder (I wonder why?)

I'd like to see all of my old pals, Lambert, the bachelor, Cassie Lamb, Barnett, Fisk Pinky, Ras and Amy, Bucknell, Nerot Bates, Big McDermid, McKena, who sells diamonds and ought to pawn one of his own to come, Peg Wilson to keep us from forgetting all of our dignity, Prof. Willson, Willie Wilson, the old Eumomian, football, J-Hop, Y. M. C. A., pedro and pipe shop bunches, in fact the whole crowd. We can hardly get along without Kramer or Langeler or Louis Spencer, and we surely want the girls. We are not so shy, any of us, as we used to be, and though we may be two decrepit to dance, we can set it out, at least. I make a bid right here for one dance or its equivalent with Zae Northrup, that was, and the two Angels.

Its going to cost a lot of money to come to this reunion and I for one want my money's worth. I won't get it unless the rest of '06 comes too and gets their money's worth. Let's make this a paying proposition and all be there. We should give one more "Chi Bim" before we lose our voices.
