COMMENCEMENT
1987 FALL TERM
Saturday, December 5

University Auditorium, East Lansing
Conferral of Baccalaureate Degrees, 10 A.M.
Conferral of Graduate Degrees, 3 P.M.
ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor’s gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

Michigan State University, a leading land-grant university and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in providing students a broad curricula of liberal and practical education. MSU also serves people of the state, nation and world through its numerous research, extension and international programs.

Now in its 133rd year, Michigan State University has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the largest universities in the nation. It has more than 3,000 faculty/staff engaged in teaching, research and public service, more than 400 campus buildings, and more than 5,200 acres of land, of which some 2,100 acres are in existing or planned campus development. More than 42,000 students now attend the University at East Lansing, of which some 86 percent are from Michigan.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day - farming - MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of today. The University now has a Graduate School and 14 colleges - Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science, and Veterinary Medicine.

At the center of all major universities is a cluster of disciplines which comprise the liberal arts and sciences. At MSU, this center consists of three colleges - Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. Providing outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines, these colleges also have special programs which enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. In addition, in collaboration with the College of Education, the three colleges prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan and the nation. These colleges touch the lives of all undergraduate students at MSU by providing the general education that constitutes approximately one-quarter of the undergraduate program. The Honors College, which enables superior undergraduate students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. MSU is proud of its record in producing Rhodes Scholars, a total of thirteen (ten in the last fifteen years); the University also has provided six Marshall Scholarships winners. These British scholars are two of the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards that an American student can receive. Michigan State University also is a prominent sponsor of National Merit Scholars.

MSU adds to the store of knowledge with a wide array of outstanding research activities which are supported by a multimillion dollar sponsor-funding program. Some major facilities include the Pesticide Research Center, which presents a model program of multidisciplinary research and teaching; the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W. K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is examining the nuclei of the heaviest of elements.

Benefits of the University are brought to the public by the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lifelong Education Programs, and the Cooperative Extension Service. Their programs provide technical information and formal course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 60,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

The University's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU maintains research and educational assistance projects on a worldwide basis. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.
HONORARY DEGREE

HAROLD T. SHAPIRO

As economist and educator, your influence has transcended national borders. You have served this nation, your native Canada, and the state of Michigan as a leader in university education and in economic policy. The conscience and compassion of your leadership have combined with your keen scholarship to enrich the lives of the many who have gained from your gifts as teacher and intellectual leader.

After receiving your baccalaureate degree from McGill University in your native Montreal, you completed your doctorate at Princeton, an institution with subsequent strong reason to recall these early ties.

Your multi-faceted career as teacher, researcher, and administrator began auspiciously at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Joining the Department of Economics and Public Policy as an assistant professor, you rose quickly to department chair, then Vice President for Academic Affairs, and subsequently, President of the University of Michigan.

In a life committed to service, and noted fully as much for its dedication as for its formidable talent, you have earned international distinction as co-director of the Research Seminar in Quantitative Economics, which is known worldwide for its macro-economic model of the U.S. and Michigan economics.

In recognition of your sensitive and creative leadership, major American industries have sought your counsel. Burroughs, Kellogg, Dow Chemical, Ford Motor Company, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation are among those who have asked you to serve. In addition, your ongoing contribution to the Carnegie Commission, the Bank of Canada, and Governor Blanchard’s Task Force on High Technology bear witness to your stature and your stamina.

As you move on to assume the presidency of Princeton—a fortunate prospect for another of America’s great universities—we know we shall not lose your friendship and wish you to know that you take with you our high regard and deepest esteem.

In recognition of a distinguished career in higher education, economic development and public service, Michigan State University is proud to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Laws.
