2010 FALL SEMESTER
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY
"Your degree acknowledges that you are—and forever will be—a part of the amazing Spartan network that spans the globe. You are part of this university—our annals—and, I hope, MSU is in your heart forever. You have before you the opportunity to extend your positive influence into the wider world for years to come."

Michigan State University

Photo above is a Michigan State University entrance marker. This one, of brick and limestone, displays MSU's proud history as the nation's pioneer land-grant university. On this—and other markers—is a band of alternating samara and acorns derived from maple and oak trees commonly found on campus. This pattern is repeated on the University Mace (see page 6).

MISSION STATEMENT

Michigan State University, a member of the Association of American Universities and one of the top 100 research universities in the world, was founded in 1855. We are an inclusive, academic community known for our traditionally strong academic disciplines and professional programs, and our liberal arts foundation. Our cross- and interdisciplinary enterprises connect the sciences, humanities, and professions in practical, sustainable, and innovative ways to address society's rapidly changing needs.

As a public, research-intensive, land-grant university funded in part by the state of Michigan, our mission is to advance knowledge and transform lives by:

• providing outstanding undergraduate, graduate, and professional education to promising, qualified students in order to prepare them to contribute fully to society as globally engaged citizen leaders;

• conducting research of the highest caliber that seeks to answer questions and create solutions to expand human understanding and make a positive difference, both locally and globally;

• advancing outreach, engagement, and economic development activities that are innovative, research-driven, and lead to a better quality of life for individuals and communities, at home and around the world.

The Mission Statement was approved by the Board of Trustees on April 18, 2008.
The mace's crown is rimmed with a maple samara and sycamore pattern carved from walnut, a pattern drawn from the "Michigan State College" limestone relief at the Abbot Road, and other campus entrances. An image of Beaumont Tower lies in the crown's oak center. Below the crown is the cylindrical shaft, whose alternating, horizontal oak and walnut bands descend to a brass tip. Its oak is purported to be "Beaumont oak" that is, from one of the original saplings surrounding College Hall. Its walnut is from a tree removed to clear land for the Wharton Center for Performing Arts in 1982.

In its soaring verticality, Beaumont Tower continues to inspire the MSU community and is an appropriate symbol for the MSU mace. As President Robert S. Shaw (1928-43) stated at the tower's dedication, it has served as "a unifying factor" to remind us, even through our individual activities, of the overall mission of Michigan State University to inspire us by "appealing to many of the better things in us" and to encourage us to "live up to higher standards, scholastically, socially, morally, and spiritually in all of our affairs."

Michigan State University, founded in 1855, is a leader in realizing the ideal of democratizing education and knowledge. Officially named the Agricultural College of the State of Michigan, it became the model for all land-grant institutions established by the Morrill Act, passed by Congress in 1862. The research and knowledge developed at land-grant institutions provides practical solutions that make a difference in the lives of individuals and in communities. Now, as a major public research university with global reach, Michigan State University continues this tradition with its commitment to advancing knowledge and transforming lives across the state, the region, and around the world.

From its beginnings on the site where Beaumont Tower now stands, the East Lansing campus has grown from 677 to 5,200 acres, and from three to 577 buildings. Today, 15,000 acres are used throughout Michigan for agricultural, animal, and forestry research. MSU has more than 47,000 students from all 83 counties in Michigan, all 50 states, and about 130 other countries. Nearly 500,000 Spartan alumni live around the globe.

Since its agricultural beginnings, MSU has grown to 17 degree-granting colleges offering more than 200 programs of study, and is the only university in the country with three on-campus medical schools.

The Honors College attracts academically talented scholars and enables these students to pursue individualized, enriched programs of study. MSU has produced more Rhodes Scholars in the past 25 years than any other Big Ten school.

Sponsored research total more than $400 million a year. The top federal funding agencies include the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Other externally funded research programs include the MSU—U.S. Department of Energy Plant Research Laboratory, the Center for Advancing Microbial Risk Assessment, the Great Lakes Bioenergy Research Center, the Energy and Automotive Research Laboratories, the Composite Vehicle Research Center, the U.S.—China Center for Research on Educational Excellence, the Center for Advanced Study of International Development, and the Center for International Business Education and Research.

The National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory is the premier rare isotope research facility in the nation. In December 2008, the U.S. Department of Energy selected MSU to design and establish the Facility for Rare Isotope Beams (FRIB). The proposed $350 million facility will bring together an international community of leading scientists. Their work will help unlock the mysteries of the universe and promote breakthrough applications for medicine, national security, and the environment.

MSU Extension reaches into all 83 counties in Michigan to provide practical, university-based knowledge. The Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station encompasses the research of more than 300 scientists in six colleges and at a network of 14 field research stations in the state. Their work ranges from the development of forest products to food safety, new varieties of fruits and vegetables, water quality, livestock production, rural and community development, and the quality of life of Michigan youth and families.

University Outreach and Engagement connects faculty with external audiences and constituencies to address community issues through research and collaboration. MSU Global extends academic and professional degree and certificate programs to off-campus learners.

MSU is a national leader in study abroad among U.S. public universities with more than 260 programs on all continents in more than 60 countries. Nearly 3,000 MSU students participate in study abroad each year.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities, the American Council on Education, the American Council of Learned Societies, the International Association of Universities, the Association of Graduate Schools, the Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.
DEAR GRADUATES AND FAMILIES:

Graduation is an important milestone. At commencement ceremonies, we celebrate our graduates and their accomplishments at Michigan State University, and we acknowledge the encouragement and support that family and other significant individuals have provided them. Reaching this milestone marks the completion of a degree program and the beginning of the next chapter in each student’s life.

Graduates become part of a tradition that spans more than 150 years. As a person with a long-standing connection to Michigan State, I have had many opportunities to interact with alumni, students, faculty, and staff who, on a daily basis, are advancing knowledge and transforming lives. Although much has changed along the banks of the Red Cedar River since I first enrolled in 1970, the core values of the University remain—quality, inclusiveness, and correctness.

MSU leads as a “community-engaged university.” Our faculty and students are involved in outreach and forge partnerships to serve the public good. Through research, education, and practice, we make the world and our campus better places.

To be a Spartan is to be a part of something big. There are nearly 500,000 Spartans at work on every continent, rising to every challenge imaginable. Every day, we make the world more sustainable, healthy, safe, and beautiful, proving again and again that “Spartans Will.”

Our graduates go forth as caring global citizens, and although we bid you farewell, I ask you to recall what our legendary President John A. Hannah confirmed. A special bond is forged with our graduates.

Until the moment degrees are conferred and diplomas presented, a university and its students are in a temporary relationship. Either can disclaim the other at any time before that final moment. But when commencement is concluded, Michigan State University places its stamp of approval upon you. You become part of this University forever.

Forever starts now. May you have a very bright future and come home often.

Sincerely,

Lou Anna Kimesey Simon Ph.D.
President

FROM THE PRESIDENT

CONGRATULATORY LETTER

DEAR GRADUATES AND FAMILIES:

Congratulations to our graduates and your families! As President Simon encourages you to come home often, so do I.

As you may or may not know, I earned a bachelor’s degree at Michigan State University, and although I earned advanced degrees at other institutions, that first college degree has served me well. It gives me great pleasure to be here at a time when Michigan State University continues to create new opportunities at home, in the state of Michigan, and around the world. With our students and faculty, we are achieving new levels of excellence even as we face many new challenges. Our students are enthusiastic in taking advantage of the opportunities to study and to expand their views, and to grow as individuals and global citizens.

As a student of Michigan State University you are a member of a vibrant community united by the common interest we share as scholars. I hope that even after earning your degree, you will always remain members of this community—that is, be hungry to learn, to seek new knowledge, and to share and apply that knowledge for the betterment of others and to contribute to a more sustainable planet for the generations of Spartans who follow you.

Sincerely,

Kim A. Wilcox Ph.D.
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs
ACADEMIC ATTIRE

In 1899, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU). If the institution has more than one color, the chronion is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velvetene binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the tressing for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different areas of study by tassels of the official color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials "HC." Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.

HONORARY DEGREE CITATIONS

JEFFREY R. IMMELT

You are a corporate executive who encourages innovation through research and development to meet the changing needs of society. As CEO of General Electric, you work to maintain the company's strong tradition of developing new products and technologies and vigorously pursuing world markets. This strategy grows out of your conviction that such innovation will help reverse the current economic downturn and improve lives of people here and around the world.

Many of those new GE products and technologies are in renewable energy, biobeds, and battery technology, reflecting your passion to make America energy independent and your conviction that environmentalism is both good business and the right thing to do. You are leading in developing Smart Grid technology, which will help consumers save energy costs. This "ecomagination initiative" has created tens of thousands of jobs at GE and through GE's supply chain.

Under your leadership, GE has also launched a "healthyagination initiative," with a $6 billion investment in health care advances that will lower customer costs, increase access to care, and improve medical outcomes. Many of these products are designed to improve care for the disadvantaged in areas like infant care.

One of the programs for developing innovations to fulfill these initiatives is General Electric's new Manufacturing Technology and Software Center in Michigan. Employees in jobs created there will develop many of these technologies that can help change lives and rebuild the economy.

You understand the value of education. You assure that GE maintains an extensive budget for on-the-job training, and you are a strong advocate for better science and technology education for young people at all levels. For your commitment to putting innovative science and technology to work for the benefit of people around the world, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Business from Michigan State University.

You are founder and CEO of Magic Johnson Enterprises, a multimillion-dollar group of businesses focused on environmentally friendly, locally oriented investments that revitalize underserved urban neighborhoods. Through your pioneering work to introduce brand-name restaurants and other products and services in minority communities, you have created jobs and opportunities for many.

You readily share your knowledge and experience with other entrepreneurs. The co-chair of former Vice President Al Gore's White House Community Empowerment Board, you continue to encourage other leaders and businesses to invest in diverse, multicultural neighborhoods. Your book, 32 Ways to Be a Champion in Business, describes your vision and passion for rebuilding communities one street corner at a time.

For your commitment to making a difference in society and your determination to be a winner in basketball, in life, and in business, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Business from Michigan State University.

You are renowned for your athletic ability, your business acumen, and your commitment to improving people's lives and communities. Called 'Magic' for your superior athletic skills, you led the 1977-78 Michigan State University basketball team to its first Big Ten title in eleven years. The next year, the team won the NCAA championship in a game that remains the most-watched college basketball game. You were the Los Angeles Lakers' first overall draft pick in 1979 and led them to the NBA Championship in 1980, the first of five you would win with them. For your skill and contributions to the game you have received basketball's top honors.

You applied your determination to win at basketball to your battle with HIV and despite the disease were co-captain of the underfunded U.S. Olympic 'Dream Team,' which won a gold medal in 1992. You use your public position to increase awareness and raise money for research, creating the Magic Johnson Foundation to support HIV/AIDS education, prevention, and care. Your foundation also supports community-based organizations serving the educational, health, and social needs of children in inner cities. It has awarded college scholarships to more than 800 minority high school students.

ELEONOR OSTROM
You are a renowned scholar of cooperative human enterprises and a leader in demonstrating the value of interdisciplinary scholarship. In 2009 you became the first woman to be a recipient of the Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences. Your groundbreaking research challenges the conventional wisdom that common property is not well managed and should be regulated or privatized. Your studies of fisheries, forests, water resources, police departments, and other user-managed natural and institutional entities defined the principles that make such enterprises sustainable. Your innovative approach combines insights from diverse disciplines and incorporates technological advances including satellite imagery. You linked theoretical models, official records, and innovative field research to develop new insights. Through your extensive collaborations with scholars around the world, including some at Michigan State University, you have developed the new robust field of study on how communities organize to solve common problems.

LEONARD SLATKIN
You are the internationally renowned conductor and music director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, recognized for exceptional musical interpretations and successful recordings. You have brought new vitality to the Detroit Symphony since your appointment in 2008. Your inclusive and innovative programming encompasses traditional music, American and world music, new music, and jazz-inspired works. Highly respected for your interpretations of the standard orchestral repertory, you have developed a recognized specialty with contemporary music, especially works by American composers. Before coming to Detroit, you served as music director of the National Symphony Orchestra and have been guest conductor of the world's leading orchestras. You have been nominated for more than fifty Grammy Awards and received seven. You are a compelling spokesperson for the importance of arts and humanities in education at all levels. As founder and director of the National Conducting Institute, you provide advanced career development for promising conductors. You invite conducting students at Michigan State to attend Detroit Symphony rehearsals. You and symphony members are partners in providing music instruction at MSU's Detroit facility. The challenge and opportunity for cooperation, you are known as an energetic and caring mentor at both universities.

For your exemplary contributions to scholarship and education, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

CEREMONY LYRICS

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER
Oh say, can you see, by the dawn's early light, What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming, Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight, O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming! And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air, Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there. O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL
O beautiful for spacious skies For amber waves of grain, For purple mountain majesties Above the fruited plain! America! America! God shed his grace on thee And crown thy good with brotherhood From sea to shining sea!

ALMA MATER
M.S.U., We love thy shadows, when twilight silence falls, Flushings deep and softly palming, o'er thy covered halls Beneath the pines we gather, to give our faith so true, Sing our love for Alma Mater, and thy praises, M.S.U.

MSU FIGHT SONG
On the banks of the Red Cedar, is a school that's known to all, its specialty is winning, and those Spartans play good ball; Spartan teams are never beaten, all through the games they fight; Fight for the only colors, Green and White. Go right thr' for MSU, watch the points keep growing. Spartan teams are bound to win, they're fighting with a vim. RAH RAH RAH! See their team is weakening, we're going to win this game. Fight! Fight! Fight Team! Fight! Victory for MSU.
BACCALAUREATE DEGREES

Leads the nation in study abroad participation among public universities for fifth consecutive year, according to the Institute of International Education.

One of the nation's top five campuses for sustainability, according to the National Wildlife Federation's Campus Environment Report Card.

Largest single-campus residence hall system in the country with 25 undergraduate halls, one graduate hall, and three apartment villages.

MSU is first among the Big Ten in Kiplinger's 2009-10 edition of "Best Values in Public Colleges" for students having the lowest average debt at graduation.

HONORS

The University acknowledges candidates for the bachelor's degree who will graduate as Academic Scholars (A), from the Honors College (H), With Honor (*), or With High Honor ().

Academic Scholars completed a two-year honors program including at least four honors-caliber courses. Honors College graduates are academically talented students who have participated in rigorous, highly individualized programs of study, including at least eight honors-caliber courses.

Graduation Honors: the current minimum grade point average for seniors graduating With Honor is 3.65 and those graduating With High Honor is 3.86 (which is approximately 20 percent of graduating seniors who have earned the highest grade point averages). Recognition of graduation honors in the commencement program is based on the grade point average of all work at MSU completed prior to the opening of the semester of graduation. To be eligible for graduation honors, transfer students must earn a minimum of 50 semester credits at MSU.

Honors associated with a degree candidate's name are based on the individual's cumulative grade point average through Summer 2010 and do not reflect Fall 2010 semester grades.

“Until the moment degrees are conferred and diplomas presented, a university and its students are in a temporary relationship. Either can disclaim the other at any time before that final moment. But when commencement is concluded, Michigan State University places its stamp of approval upon you. You become part of this University ... forever.”

John A. Hannah (1902-1991)
President, Michigan State University (1941-1969)
