"Your degree acknowledges that you are—and forever will be—a part of the amazing Spartan network that spans the globe. You are part of this university—our annals—and, I hope, MSU is in your heart forever. You have before you the opportunity to extend your positive influence into the wider world for years to come."

MISSION STATEMENT

Michigan State University, a member of the Association of American Universities and one of the top 100 research universities in the world, was founded in 1855. We are an inclusive, academic community known for our tradition­ally strong academic disciplines and professional programs, and our liberal arts foundation. Our cross- and interdisciplinary enterprises connect the sciences, humanities, and professions in practical, sustainable, and innovative ways to address society's rapidly changing needs.

As a public, research-intensive, land-grant university funded in part by the state of Michigan, our mission is to advance knowledge and transform lives by:

• providing outstanding undergraduate, graduate, and professional education to promising, qualified students in order to prepare them to contribute fully to society as globally engaged citizen leaders
• conducting research of the highest caliber that seeks to answer questions and create solutions to expand human understanding and make a positive difference, both locally and globally
• advancing outreach, engagement, and economic development activities that are innovative, research-driven, and lead to a better quality of life for individuals and communities, at home and around the world.

The Mission Statement was approved by the Board of Trustees on April 18, 2008.
DEAR GRADUATES AND FAMILIES:

Graduation is an important milestone. At commencement ceremonies, we celebrate our graduates and their accomplishments at Michigan State University, and we acknowledge the encouragement and support that family and other significant individuals have provided them. Reaching this milestone marks the completion of a degree program and the beginning of the next chapter in each student’s life.

Graduates become part of a tradition that spans more than 150 years. As a person with a long-standing connection to Michigan State, I have had many opportunities to interact with alumni, students, faculty, and staff who, on a daily basis, are advancing knowledge and transforming lives. Although much has changed along the banks of the Red Cedar River since I first enrolled in 1970, the core values of the University remain—quality, inclusiveness, and connectivity.

MSU leads as a “community-engaged university.” Our faculty and students are involved in outreach and forge partnerships to serve the public good. Through research, education, and practice, we make the world and our campus better places. To be a Spartan is to be a part of something big. There are more than 500,000 Spartans at work on every continent, rising to every challenge imaginable. Every day, we make the world more sustainable, healthy, safe, and beautiful, proving again and again that “Spartans Will.”

Our graduates go forth as caring global citizens, and although we bid you farewell I ask you to recall what our legendary President John A. Hannah confirmed. A special bond is forged with our graduates.

Until the moment degrees are conferred and diplomas presented, a university and its students are in a temporary relationship. Either can disclaim the other at any time before that final moment. But when commencement is concluded, Michigan State University places its stamp of approval upon you. You become part of this University...forever. Forever starts now. May you have a very bright future and come home often.

Sincerely,

Lou Anna Kimsey Simon Ph.D.
President

From the President May 2013

CONGRATULATORY LETTER

DEAR GRADUATES AND FAMILIES:

Congratulations to our graduates and your families! As President Simon encourages you to come home often, so do I. As you may or may not know, I earned my degrees at Michigan State University. This education has served me well. It gives me great pleasure to be here at a time when Michigan State University continues to create new opportunities at home, in the state of Michigan, and around the world. With our students and faculty, we are achieving new levels of excellence even as we face many new challenges. Our students are enthusiastic in taking advantage of the opportunities to study and to expand their views, and to grow as individuals and global citizens.

As a student of Michigan State University you are a member of a vibrant community united by the common interest we share as scholars. I hope that even after earning your degree, you will always remain members of this community—that is, be hungry to learn, to seek new knowledge, and to share and apply that knowledge for the betterment of others and to contribute to a more sustainable planet for the generations of Spartans who follow you.

Sincerely,

June Pierce Youatt Ph.D.
Acting Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, founded in 1855, is a leader in realizing the ideal of democratizing education and knowledge. Officially named the Agricultural College of the State of Michigan, it became the model for all land-grant institutions established by the Morrill Act, passed by Congress in 1862. The research and knowledge developed at land-grant institutions provides practical solutions that make a difference in the lives of individuals and in communities. Now, as a major public research university with global reach, Michigan State University continues this tradition with its commitment to advancing knowledge and transforming lives across the state, the region, and around the world.

From its beginnings on the site where Beaumont Tower now stands, the East Lansing campus has grown from 677 to 5,200 acres, and from three to 561 buildings. Today, 17,500 acres are used throughout Michigan for agricultural, animal, and forestry research.

MSU has more than 47,000 students from all 83 counties in Michigan, all 50 states, and 130 other countries. More than one-half million Spartan alumni live around the globe. Since its agricultural beginnings, MSU has grown to 17 degree-granting colleges offering more than 200 programs of study, including graduate and undergraduate professional education. The Honors College attracts academically talented scholars and enables these students to pursue individualized, enriched programs of study. MSU has produced more Rhodes Scholars in the past 25 years than any other Big Ten school.

Research and other grants total nearly $500 million a year. The top federal funding agencies include the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Other externally funded research programs include the MSU—U.S. Department of Energy Plant Research Laboratory, the Center for Advanced Study of International Development, and the Center for International Business Education and Research. The National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory is the premier rare isotope research facility in the nation. In December 2008, the U.S. Department of Energy selected MSU to design and establish the Facility for Rare Isotope Beams (FRIB). The proposed $680 million facility will bring together an international community of leading scientists. Their work will help unlock the mysteries of the universe and promote breakthrough applications for medicine, national security, and the environment.

MSU Extension reaches into all 83 counties in Michigan to provide practical, university-based knowledge. The AgBioResearch (formerly Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station) encompasses the research of nearly 400 scientists in six colleges and a network of 14 field research stations in the state. Their work ranges from agricultural production, alternative energy and biofuel production, food safety and environmental stewardship to childhood obesity, community development, and the quality of life of Michigan youth and families.

University Outreach and Engagement connects faculty with external audiences and constituencies to address community issues through research and collaboration. MSU Global extends academic and professional degrees and certificate programs to off-campus learners.

MSU is a national leader in study abroad among U.S. public universities with more than 270 programs on all continents in more than 60 countries. Nearly 3,000 MSU students participate in study abroad each year.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of Universities, the Association of Public and Land-Grant Universities, the American Council on Education, the American Council of Learned Societies, the International Association of Universities, the Association of Graduate Schools, the Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

The Honors College, MSU's highest academic distinction, emphasizes individualized, enriched programs of study. MSU offers more than 100 Honors programs, including 17 degree-granting colleges offering more than 250 Honors majors.

MSU's commitment to internationalization fosters global engagement, exchange, and collaboration. MSU Global is the university's umbrella for internationalization efforts, including the Office of Study Abroad, the Office of Global Engagement and Exchange, the Center for Study Abroad, and the Center for International Business Education and Research.

*The lyrics of Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. It was not until March 30, 1946, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSU Shudder was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater.

Lyrics by Frances Irvin Hart (MSC Engineering, 1950).
The mace's crown is trimmed with a maple samara and acorn pattern carved from walnut, a pattern drawn from the "Michigan State College" limestone relief at the Abbot Road and other campus entrances. An image of Beaumont Tower lies in the crown's oak center. Below the crown is the cylindrical shaft, whose alternating, horizontal oak and walnut bands descend to a brass tip. Its oak is purported to be "Beaumont oak," that is, from one of the original saplings surrounding College Hall. Its walnut is from a tree removed to clear land for the Wharton Center for Performing Arts in 1982.

In its soaring verticality, Beaumont Tower continues to inspire the MSU community and is an appropriate symbol for the MSU mace. As President Robert S. Shier (1938-1945) stated at the tower's dedication, it has served as "a unifying factor" to remind us, even through our individual activities, of the overall mission of Michigan State University to inspire us by "opening to many of the better things in us" and to encourage us to "live up to higher standards, scholastically, socially, morally, and spiritually in all of our affairs."

In 1905, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors are long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU). If the institution has more than one color, the college is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the coat of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different areas of study by tassels of the official color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials "HC." Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.
HONORARY DEGREES

TIMOTHY BUSFIELD
You are an Emmy Award-winning actor, originally from East Lansing, Michigan. Your father taught theater at Michigan State University and your mother served as director of the MSU Press. You were senior class president and a varsity athlete at East Lansing High School. Your involvement in sports led you to begin working at age 15 by selling programs at Michigan State University athletic events, and you continued this employment through high school.

Eli Broad and his wife, Edythe, with a total gift of $28 million, have made contemporary art globe. The Eli and Edythe Broad Art Museum officially opened November 10, 2012. The museum is designed by Pritzker Prize-winning architect Zaha Hadid. For information about the facility, exhibitions and programs, please visit www.broadmuseum.msu.edu.

Timothy Busfield graduated from Michigan State University in 1978. He has taught theater at many American universities including Harvard, the University of Michigan, Williams College, Northwestern, and Princeton, where you were a George Perkins Fellow.

For your significant contributions to American culture and creative consciousness, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts from Michigan State University.

RICHARD FORD
You are a highly esteemed novelist and short story writer, having won the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction and the PEN/Faulkner Award for your novel Independence Day, the second novel in the "Frank Bascombe" trilogy that began with The Sportswriter and ended with The Lay of the Land.

You are also recognized for your short fiction, having won the Rea Award for the Short Story and the PEN/Malamud Award for excellence in short fiction.

In addition to your original works, you have served as editor for several well-regarded anthologies, including The Best American Short Stories, The Essential Tales of Chekhov, The Best American Sportswriting, The Granta Book of the American Short Story, The New Granta Book of the American Short Story, and The Granta Book of the American Long Story. You received the American Academy of Arts and Letters Award in Literature and, subsequently, you were elected to the academy.

Michigan State University is proud to claim you as an alumnus. You and your wife met here, and you taught junior high school in Flint, Michigan. You received your Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing from the University of California at Irvine and have subsequently taught at many American universities including Harvard, the University of Michigan, Williams College, Northwestern, and Princeton, where you were a George Perkins Fellow.

For your significant contributions to American culture and creative consciousness, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts from Michigan State University.
HONORARY DEGREE CITATIONS

BRIAN HARVEY
You are a renowned scholar, scientist, and international research leader. Your accomplishments as a professor of molecular medicine and research director for the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland have earned you significant recognition throughout Europe, including your election to the European Academy of Sciences and Humanities and the Royal Irish Academy, and your being awarded the Chevalier de l'Ordre National du Mérite by the president of France.

As a trained physiologist with a primary degree in physics and physiology and a Ph.D. in physiology and biophysics from the National University of Ireland, you have focused on molecular and cellular endocrinology. Including the physiology of rapid responses to steroid hormones, and particularly, the female-specific effects of estrogen in epithelial tissues of the lung, kidney, and intestine. Another major area of your research concerns the rapid actions in the kidneys of the blood-pressure-regulating hormone aldosterone.

Your tireless work and passion for the Daughters of Charity Technology and Research into Intellectual Disabilities (DOCTRID) program, seeking technological solutions for those with intellectual disabilities and autism, resonates with those who share Michigan State University's commitment to solve humanity's most challenging problems. In your role as director of research for DOCTRID, you have brought together ten Irish universities and MSU to collectively address, through interdisciplinary research, some of the barriers to greater use of assistive technologies by people with disabilities.

For your tireless dedication to improving the lives of those among us who may not have a voice to tell us their needs, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

Honors associated with a degree candidate’s name are based on the individual’s cumulative grade point average through Fall 2012 and do not reflect Spring 2013 semester grades.
"Until the moment degrees are conferred and diplomas presented, a university and its students are in a temporary relationship. Either can disclaim the other at any time before that final moment. But when commencement is concluded, Michigan State University places its stamp of approval upon you. You become part of this University ... forever."

John A. Hannah (1902-1991)
President, Michigan State University (1941-1969)
