In other times we took a cat
In every forest near or far.
To chase a mouse before its face,
Then see it put the tail between.
While we are watching, it is gone,
And all its tracks are lost, you see.

The cat has gone too far this time,
And now it is a dusty trail.
But we will follow, not too far,
And catch it where it cannot fail.

So let us follow, not too far,
And catch that cat before it goes.
For we have seen its tracks before,
And know the way it must go.

But let us not be too severe,
For cats are playful and they play.
And if we catch them, not too late,
We may still have fun, you say.

So let us follow, not too far,
And catch that cat before it goes.
For we have seen its tracks before,
And know the way it must go.

But let us not be too severe,
For cats are playful and they play.
And if we catch them, not too late,
We may still have fun, you say.

So let us follow, not too far,
And catch that cat before it goes.
For we have seen its tracks before,
And know the way it must go.

But let us not be too severe,
For cats are playful and they play.
And if we catch them, not too late,
We may still have fun, you say.
The forestry commission is hard at work, looking toward the preservation of the forests which are left, and plantation of new growths of trees. There has been nothing done in the matter of reforestation in Michigan up to the present time, and we are compelled to start in on a complete new campaign, looking toward the preservation of those who are intelligent interested in the subject can grow.

I have for some time been in correspondence with the forestry commissioners of Minnesota, Wisconsin, and New York, in all of which states the movement has been well started. In my letters with them I have taken them on what I have understood what the result was and what the defects of their system were, in order that we might profit by their experience.

I find that the fire wardenship, an office which was created for the fire protection of New England hundreds of years ago, is working in good shape, and that the results have fully justified the idea. By the system of the course, the cost of maintaining the department was considerable, but the only way to secure THE EEOBD postomce, for no charge will be made for it.

The best feature of their method is the posting of the salient features of the forestry laws and the warning of prosecution for even neglect which results in a forest fire, all over the towns of the state. In Maine and New York, wherever a group of trees are to be found, and the effect is said to be remarkable.

The only way, however, to secure THE EEOBD postomce, for no charge will be made for it. For various reasons THE M. A. C. RECORD is continued to be sent to those who have not subscribed for the paper. Such persons need have no hesitation about taking the paper, as the postoffice, for no charge will be made for it. The cost of the paper assuring THE RECORD REGULAR is to advertise.

The College faculty is considering a new system of marking students, in which letters will be substituted for figures. In making up the records in the secretary's office, each study will be given a definite value, which will make it easy at any time to determine the standing of a student.

L. R. Love, '96, who has for two years been in charge of the greenhouses and grounds of the Kalamazoo asylum, was at the College last week to obtain cuttings of shrubs and secure information regarding the raising of sugar beets, as fifteen or twenty acres will be grown on the asylum farm.

On last Tuesday an ice jam formed in the river just above the railroad bridge, and at one time threatened to carry it away. Several students worked for a number of hours at loosening the ice cakes, but were not able to prevent the water from working around the north end of the trestle work and undermining the track so that it was rendered unsafe.

Prof. Smith visited Munising last week. Arrangements had been made to have twenty acres of land cleared before the first of May, but the great depth of snow has prevented work up to the present time. The parties in charge think they will have no difficulty in carrying out their contract.

An essay on corn

There are two kinds of corn—the Indian corn, grown in the ground, and the anatomical corn, grown on the foot. One is measured by acres and the other by shanks.

Indian corn is shucked, but if a man tells you that a human corn don't amount to much, he's a liar in six languages.

If you want to raise a crop of anatomical corns, wear a pair of poorly fitted shoes or a dollar, wear-out-in-an-hour pair of shoes.

If you have a foot that no one else can fit comfortably, bring it to us—and we'll do the rest.
