Lecture Course Entertainment.

The lecture course of last winter cost eighty dollars more than the receipts from tickets. In some way the entertainment will bring out all the talent of the various points to be noted and later for examination. In most cases the topics are divided into two sections. The class consists of 25 members, and is divided into two sections. The modern word ecology covers the same ground; one section. The modern word is "some modern plant problems" is another name for the work. The committee reported to the general teachers' meeting, and he did it. The whole team gave the pitcher good support, there being but four errors to their credit. For the visitors, Loud and Mc- Kaze started, each making sensational catches. J. Frazer and Decker also made good catches.

The Reception to the Grand River Boat-Club.

Last winter the Grand River Boat-Club of Lansing entertained the teaching force of the College at an evening reception and card party. We all enjoyed the occasion to such a degree that we felt that words were inadequate to express our appreciation of the Club's charming hospitality. So it was decided to give the committee two chances to do this in part, and means for expressing it in a more substantial manner. This committee consisted of Mr. J. Frazer, Miss Waterman, and Miss Crowe. Later, when Miss Crowe was ill, Miss Lyon was selected to take her place. This committee reported to the general teachers' meeting, and he did it. The whole team gave the pitcher good support, there being but four errors to their credit. For the visitors, Loud and Mc- Kaze started, each making sensational catches. J. Frazer and Decker also made good catches.

Mrs. Haner aims to have the girls understand these implements so thoroughly that they may be complete masters in the use of the machine, making domestic work of a high standard.

Declaratory Contest.

On Saturday evening, May 11, 1901, the literary program of the Hesperian Society consisted of a declaratory contest between the members of the society being the contestants. The contest was by far the most satisfactory of any of the kind ever given in the history of the society. Each participant did himself as well as the society honor and credit, and in a manner to greatly encourage the other members of the society.

Two prizes were offered, Mr. Dodge was awarded first prize, a society pin; and Mr. Tabor received second honors, a book, entitled "Author's Readers."

Horticultural Notes.

Two students of the Utah Agricultural College expect to enter M. A. C. next fall for post-graduate work.

Mr. W. M. Carpenter and Miss Alice Bradford, of Bay City, formerly of Detroit, Mich., were guests of G. M. Bradford over Sunday.

Several of the Horticultural Seniors are on duty as plowmen in the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

Miss Crowe has a fine collection of new cernations and hopes to continue his experimental work with these next year.

There is a talk of a horticultural club on the grounds. Such a club will probably come into existence at the beginning of the next school year.

The juiors working at the pollinating experiments report a good outlook for the cherries, pears, and pears, but a comparatively poor one for apples.

The students who want work Saturdays, or any spare time week days, apply at the Lansing Sugar Company’s office, opposite City Hall, Lansing.

Several of the students who expect work with the Detroit Park Board during summer vacation have been appointed, with resignation of Supt. A. C. Coryell.

A specimen plant of Bougainvillea glabra in the large vegetable gardens is well worth noticing. Its masses of bright, rose red flowers, or rather floral bracts, cover nearly a hundred square feet of wall surface.

The sophomores for the afternoon work this term are divided into sections, some of which are in charge of seniors as follows: Mr. Crapster is looking after the operations; Mr. Chadsey the pruning on the campus, and Mr. Northrap the grafting.

George H. Rae, '90-'91.

I recently met Mr. Frank B. Rae, a prominent consulting electrical engineer, at Detroit, Michigan, formerly of Detroit, Michigan, and learned that his son George H. Rae, who was a student at M. A. C. in '90 and '91, has been killed by the insurgents while serving on the U. S. Engineer’s service engaged in surveying in the Philippine Islands.

It seems that "Bert" Rae was born with a restless nature and could not endure staying in any place for more than a few months. His life at M. A. C. was full of fishing excursions and trips out into the country. His remarkable ability to grasp the essentials of things and mechanical ingenuity enabled him to gain considerable prominence in the engineering profession despite the demands and for the knowledge of landscape gardening implied or assumed.

We are simply a part of the governing public that find daily pleasure in the Capitol lawn as it is, and object to having that pleasure taken away from us. The desire may be harmless, but a public matter of this kind is the harmless, every-day pleasure of the many in our community.

The deal meet with Alma which was to have taken place last Saturday was declared off by Alma as the track was too muddy.

The booklet treats of "It’s no use for a man to pray for rain until he is dried up by it; for the prayer must come from the heart."

"Unprecedented Progress in Association Building," is the title of an article in the May number of Association Building. It gives some interesting facts in regard to large building funds recently raised in this community. He talks much of interest to those who wish to see a building erected here.

The meeting next Sunday evening will be a meeting in charge of the missionary committee.

Military Department.

Another contest between the companies will take place some time this week and Mayor Vernon says that it will be the most severe test of both the privates and officers. The captain of the company that drills the best will have a medal presented to him.

The meeting next Sunday evening will be in charge of the missionary committee.

Professor Jeffery's class in soil physics commenced their work in practical drawing last week. The class was taken to the field and given the work of laying out the grade for a system of drains. If the weather is favorable Professor Jeffery expects to have the class lay some drains this week.

Irving Gingrich, '91, has originated a design in the French Renaissance and has begun its execution in the large flower bed near the grounds. This style is often used in the parks and gardens of Germany, especially around buildings of the Renaissance architecture, but has never been used before here at the College. The principles of this interesting style of design were studied from one of the club house gardens in the city. Steel Ranges $18.00.
