OLIVET WINS.

The M. I. A. C. Championship and Brackett Trophy go to the Weavers of the Red after a Flag Struggle.

In a game that was never won till the last minute of play, Olivet beat M. A. C., Thanksgiving day, on the State grounds in Lansing, 23 to 17.

The game was scheduled for 1 p. m., but it was nearer 2 p. m. when the whistle was blown for the beginning of the first half. There were fully twelve hundred spectators, and all through the struggle they were kept in a constant state of speculation as to the final outcome.

THE FIRST HALF.

M. A. C., having won the toss chose the north goal and allowed Olivet to kick off against the wind. After two easy returns Olivet managed to kick twenty-five yards to Peters who returned the ball fifteen yards. By this time Steckle had worked the ball down the field to their opponents' twenty-yard line where it was lost on downs.

Olivet immediately went into the play, Morgan on the first attempt ran an end of seventeen yards. M. A. C. played the ball down to Steckle's ten-yard line and the ball was returned by Steckle ten yards, the first half ending after a few plays, the ball being in M. A. C.'s possession on Olive's forty-five-yard line. Score: Olivia, 17; M. A. C., 6.

At 2:20 p. m., Childs kicked off to Olive's three-yard line, Olive running the ball back eighteen yards. Tower injured his shoulder in the scrimmage and Ranck took his place, Kimberling going in full. Olive made for and beyond forty yards respectively and then punished twenty yards. For M. A. C., Childs went in on the kickoff, put two, two and one-half, Case fifteen, Childs one. A place kick was tried but Olive held for downs and by steady attack Kimberling took two yards, Childs three, Kimberling three, and in three successive attempts Childs hurried for two and one-half, and four yards, respectively. Case took six but on the next play Olive secured the ball on a fumble two feet from her goal line.

Olive made a total of thirteen yards and then attempted to punt, but Rork forced through Olive's defense, blocked the kick and bugged the ball into his heart from Olive's goal line. Case on three successive attempts hammering the ball on child's left took two, two and one-half, and three and a half yards, and touch.
down. Childs could not resist the temptation to kick goal and the attempt failed. Olive's defenses again. Childs took a fine return of twenty-five yards. M. A. C. steadily pushed the ball up the field, half ending with the ball on Olive's forty-yard line. The game taken all in all was one in which fate and chance played a large part, and Olivet who, ten days ago, were figuring out only the size of the score that they would roll the ball for, were entirely satisfied to win the game at the final whistle.

This game marks the close of a successful football season for M. A. C., and the College has every reason to be proud of the numerous successes and of the last noble defeat.

The following is the line up.

M. A. C. Olivia.

Peters L. H. Morgan
Tower L. T. Steckle
Ellis R. E. Stork
Meek R. S. Rork
Kraus R. T. Blanchard
Rork R. E. Childs
Blanchard Q. B. Childs
Case M. H. Mikkole (Capt.)
Shedd R. H. Morgan, A. C.
Childs R. H. Steckle, I.

The Thanksgiving Military Hop

Given in honor of Governor and Mrs. A. T. Bliss is now only a remembrance. The attendance was very large and somewhat surpassed expectations. With the possible exception of the music the hop was a success in every respect. It was the "swellest" function that has ever taken place at the College. Never before has the armory been so artistically decorated. Those who had that part to manage certainly destroyed the unkind praise for their good taste.

Governor Bliss was accompanied by a number of his staff officers, and was greeted by them full of enthusiasm. Many of the faculty attended and their presence added greatly to the popular success of the evening.

The patrons of the evening were Maj. and Mrs. J. L. Snyder, Prof. and Mrs. A. G. Craig, Prof. and Mrs. J. D. Towar, Prof. and Mrs. G. A. Waterman.

Prohibition of the Liquor Traffic

Mr. Virgil G. Hinshaw, travelling representative of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association will speak at the College this week. Subject, "Prohibition of the Use of the Red Traffic from the Students' Point of View."

See posters and hand bills for dates.

Mr. Hinshaw is one of the strongest college men of this city, and has won high honors in oratory in his state contests. In the work of the prohibition he has traveled among the colleges of fifteen states including the large Universities of New England. He has never failed to receive the highest commendation among the students of the colleges and the colleges where he has spoken.

Once in a year, and absolutely necessary.

Come and hear him.

F. D. Linkletter.

The Thanksgiving services held in the College chapel last Saturday were well attended. A. C. Craig read for scripture lesson the 107th Psalm. Miss Bosh read the two Proclamations. The following address was gav talk on, "How to Observe Thanksgiving Day." Dr. Edwards talked on the question, "What Do We Mean by the Thanksgiving Community We Should be Thankful for What Things?" The meeting was a success in every respect, and all felt amply repaid for making the necessary effort to be present.

Chapel services Sunday morning were conducted by Rev. W. B. Pound, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church, Lansing. Mr. Pound took for his subject, the last sentence in the 24th verse of the 7th chapter of Mark, But He (Christ), could not be hid.

The Mission class has finished its work for this term. The text used by the class was Introductory to the Study of Foreign Missions, by Lawrence.

The Thanksgiving Military Hop, meeting of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., held in the chapel Sunday evening, was led by Mr. C. A. Carns, who gave us some of his experience on the occasion of the arrival of the European cathedrals. Mr. Gunson chose for the subject of his talk, "A visit to the Missionaries," and pitty for each other. The meeting was one of the best we have held in the College this season.

Miss Vesta Woolsey, '01, is here.

For the first time since his illness Dr. Kenale went out for a walk across the campus on Sunday morning last.

W. B. Wilson, '02, has an article in a recent number of The Michigan Farmer entitled "The Religion of Earth Worms to Agriculture."

L. J. Cole, '99-01, has in the December number of The Harvard student an interesting article on "Squirrels In and About Ann Arbor."

The article is illustrated with cuts made, one would judge, from photographs taken by the author. Mr. Cole describes the predominauce of the fox squirrel in Ann Arbor over the red squirrel to intelligent selection on the part of the citizens, and mentions the fact that while the less desirable red squirrels are protected and are very abundant on the Agricultural College campus, they are not as tame as are the Ann Arbor fox squirrels. The article contains a wealth of minute observation on habits and characteristics of this domesticated "squirrel, reminding one of a novel in the pape of John Burrough's bird articles.

One of the early morning chores of the morning is the saving of beautiful flowers, to ascertain some facts re- \( \text{Continued from last week.} \)

This is in reply to your request for an account of myself for the RECORD. At M. A. C. I am enjoying a taste for farming and live stock, and since graduating in May I have been working out my own methods on the farm. I have not become rich or famous but have done quite a great deal of work that seems interesting and have enjoyed the doing of it.

I have had leaves to change the farm at salaries varying from $1,000 to $2,500 a year but I could not stay on the farm where I am my own boss (was until I got married) where my inclinations tell me to stay and where I hope to be of as much use to the world as I would elsewhere.

Not only does beauty fade, but it leaves a record on the countenance. Not only can one not pursue the matter as in- \( \text{Continued from last week.} \) is brought out, that Asa Gray of Harvard and D. C. Eaton of Yale were, thirty-six years ago, the only men who would be said to have earned their living by the teaching of botany alone. At the present time botanists are legion. De Beal's paper through its deals with entertaining reminiscences and any one will be well repaid by reading it.

Thanksgiving evening, there was opportunity to see the women's building. The Misses Nolan and Van Loo met the guests at the door and showed the way in the parlor where Miss Gilchrist received. After the general hand-shaking, music was in the dancing which took place in the society rooms. The telling of ghost stories was another source of entertainment. For refreshments, ice cream and cake were served; the party broke up about 9:30. All in attendance pronounce the evening one of the pleasantest spent at M. A. C. for a long while.

The Lewiston, Me., Journal, in commenting on the Detroit Tribune of Dec. 2, has the following to say concerning Hon. Geo. B. Horton, former student Norman H. Horton, 1851: "And another strong man is Geo. B. Horton of Michigan. For ten long years he has been minister, his state's governor, and has had a tremendous growth under his administration. One hundred new towns have been added and the membership doubled in the last year. He resides in Lenawee county, which the U. S. government report has given for the last year the largest aggregate amount of agricultural produce of any county in the United States. Here Mr. Horton has a farm of 1,000 acres, where he annually produces two million pounds of cheese.

Newspaper Reading.

For some while we have been intending to urge our students to give more time or more attention to the study of keeping up with public affairs. The following expressions so closely our ideas on this matter that we copy it entire. We give, as the basis of justification for public support to our schools, the training toward good citizenship, and yet a prominent educator would limit attention to public affairs to ten minutes per day. It is this spirit and idea of contempt for or indifference to public affairs carried by the grown man into his business life that makes the machine in politics so formidable and the government of our cities so unspeakably foul. But if we encourage this spirit among students what right have we to expect a different degree of interest in the business men who grow out of the college student? It is a fact that whenever you see a group of our students bending over a newspaper, the attention lies in the football column and not in a ship subsidy bill or the attitude of England toward the Isthmian Canal Treaty. Incidentally we may acknowledge the justice of the castigation administered by the "college professor." In the quotation. It is the "ten minutes a day" idea to which we are too often a "lack of every-day gump­tion."

President William De Witt Hyde contributes to a religious paper a chapter of advice to young people on reading, in the course of which he says that ten minutes a day is enough to spend on a daily paper. The propositional things so often done and said by college professors, and their fre-

A. H. Hayes, '01m, desires his address changed from 25 Musser St. to Dr. Brown St., Allegheny, Pa. He has a position as inspector of steel car construction with the Pressed Steel Car Co., of Allegheny.

W. P. Hawley, '92m, was married on Thursday, Nov. 28, to Miss Marie Thomas. The young couple will be at home at No. 956 Walnut street, Chicago, after January 1st. Congratulations to the happy friends.

R. J. Correll, '84, and wife, and Mark Crosby, with '93, on a recent hunting expedition in the northern peninsula succeeded in killing a deer a piece. A few days later, Crosby killed another deer. In consequence of this invalid cookery, un- known to M. A. C. have been eating venison of late.

L. W. Green, '93-'94m, according to a recent item in the State Republi- can, sustained much loss on the 26th inst., by the blowing up of a boiler in the Brooklyn (Mich.) elecetrical works, where he was owner. The explosion was ex- tremely violent and demolished the plant entirely, which will set off Mr. Green is estimated at $7,000.

H. C. Matheson, with '97, writes from Asotin, Washington, to have his address changed to Lewiston, Idaho, after Dec. 1. He is going to work for the N. e. Machine Works. He says he took the Agricul- tural course while at M. A. C., but is "not a farmer any more." He would be glad to give any information to "boys" who "desire to be held to the purpose of going to "any of the boys" desiring it, so far as is in his power.

W. F. Main, with '98, is now in the capacity of collector for herbaria, has recently put out a new book. During the coming year he is to have charge of expeditions that will collect specimens from the Pacific States and Central America. These botanical expeditions will be on a grander scale than anything yet attempted in this line in America.

Among the numerous Thanksgiving week visitors at M. A. C. may be noted the following: with '03, Clara Pedlar, of the State college of domestic science in the Grand Rapids high school; Celia Harrison, in- structor at the City Hospital, U. of M.; Vesta Woodbury, St. Johns; with '92, C. P. Reynolds, of the Chicago Tribune's editorial staff; B. P. Rosenberry, student in the U. of M.; E. W. Wellman, with '93, B. J. C. Beatty, with '94.

H. W. McAndrew, '89, has gotten out a general catalogue of students and authors of the North Dakota Agricultural College. In it he lists many familiar names among the faculty list: C. B. Waldron, '87, horticulture; H. W. McAndrew, '57, mathematics; C. B. R. Snare, assistant horticulturist; J. A. Jeffery, (our present professor of agricultu- ral chemistry) with '94; F. P. Warren, '98, instructor in mathematics to Nov., '99; P. S. Ross, instructor in steam engineering. The college has one- fifth of a mill tax, and runs free ex- cursions during the summer.

The following is of very great interest. We wish Mr. Castle would write us some reminiscences. He was here in '57 and '58:

Editor College Paper will send me a few copies of your Col- lege paper, as I would like to see what is being done on the grounds, was there when you heard of Fisk and Abbott —yes, when Pres. Williams first took charge.

"I resided in the old building hall, and Mary Okemos —as we called her —waited on the table. Rev. Clise and Prof. Proctor, there and Judge Morse. Yours, W. D. CARLETON, Soldiers House, California.

Washington Agricultural College and School of Science, Pullman, Wash., Nov. 17th, 1901.

This M. A. C. RECORD:

I am always glad to have the RECORD come, even though I have been away from M. A. C. now for one and a half years and there are only a few of the old professors still there; then too there is nearly always some interesting information regarding the old classmates which sets one to dreaming of by-gone days. I have ordered several copies of our annual catalogue and also one of our 1901 "Announcements," which will set off you an idea of what a "hunky" college this is for a ten-year old.

I flitted with the class of '90, but left in the winter of '90 to take a position in the draughting room of The Great T. Smith Machinist & Co., of Jackson, Mich., since then I have been with the Black & Chason Co., Hamilton, Ohio, the Niles Iron & Brass Works, of which place, the Atlas Iron & Brass Works, of New Dutilh, Menu., Geo. T. Smith Machinist & Co., and have been since then, and the last three years, with Black & Chason Co., Black & Goody, Machinist & Co., and Danielson & Feland, Machinist & Co., and the three last years, working in a large machinist's shop at Columbia Works, Buy City, Mich.

I have started now on my second year here as assistant professor of mechanical engineering and enjoy the work very much.

Most cordially yours,

J. F. Stock, '92m.

New Pieces that will Take Prizes in Speaking Contests.

We have received a copy of a book bearing the above title. It is compiled by Harriet Blackman, published by Hinds and Noble, New York. The book contains fifty pieces and has 300 pages; it will be published. We have seen the book and the average some eight pages each. Nearly all of them are of the comic or satirical form in popular language, and possess absorbing interest. They are all of three styles, from the quaint humor and the difficult dialect of "Uncle Remus," to the wild pathos of the "Prisoner's Wife," and the "Gentleman's wife," and are in most cases well known. Hill Caine, Alexander Dumas, Anthony Hope, Ian Mac Lear and the like —but some of the selec- tions are fugitive pieces from authors with whom the public is little familiar. The compilation—will prolly—is made with admirable judgment for that which will catch and hold an audience.
