LANSING, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1905.
No. 20

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The eighteenth annual oratorical contest was in every respect one of the most interesting held at the College. There has certainly been marked improvement in the general level of ability reached by contestants in the contests of the last three or four years. Professor Kebler, too, has done all the work on the delivery of these orations, deserves unsaitved praise, not only for the success that he has met with, but also for the labor he has put upon them.

It was very difficult to decide the relative position of the contestants in the last contest, and yet probably all, with the exception of Mr. Anderson, deserved the place which he won. His delivery was marked by a degree of forcefulness, ease, sympathetic interpretation and accuracy in articulation that ought to give him a high position, next the very first in the state contest.

To each and every one of the contestants offer sincere congratulations on the high quality of the work done. Nowhere was there any break in the general smoothness with which the affair passed off. Notwithstanding that the number of contestants was large, the audience, on that account did not seem to weary in any appreciation.

The program was carried out as published last week.

The winners were announced as:

For first place, Mr. A. J. Anderson, of the Union Literary Society; for second, Mr. N. J. Smith, of the Hesperian Society, and for third Mr. V. R. Gardner of the Columbian Society.

The management of the affair was all that could be desired. Miss Twaddle presided with becoming dignity and grace. The music was excellent and varied in style. Miss Ashley gracefully presented the medals. The judges on thought and composition were Rev. J. M. Barklel, of Hope College, Prof. T. C. Blaisdel, Pittsburg, Pa. Judges on delivery were Judge R. H. Person, Prof. C. D. Sterling and Rev. H. B. Bard, all of Lansing.

FARMERS' CLUB.

The question, "Renting vs. Buying as a Beginner," was discussed at the last meeting. Prof. Jeffery introduced the subject with a brief review of the necessities of owning the land by which our pioneer fathers obtained farms, with those confronting the young farmer today. It is necessary for the young farmer to buy immediately, giving those present much food for thought concerning their own future.

In the discussion which followed, many points pro and con were presented. Mr. Collingwood made an appeal for the rented farm, stating that had it been placed among the farms of Michigan and that the young man of small means could get a start here toward buying a farm. Many were in favor of buying immediately, as the rented farm appeared to them to be financially and otherwise. A musical and literary program was given after which refreshments were served. Two fortune-tellers' booths, and Mango stands were also well patronized.

PROHIBITION LEAGUE.

Our meetings are proving very interesting this term. At the meeting Jan. 31, Mr. White read Mr. W. Stewart's speech as given at Hutchinson, Minn., Jan. 14, 1902. Mr. Stewart's speech was as follows:

"We are on the threshold of the Prohibition Party in the triangular debate in which the question was: Which party ought the national party ought to extend the support of the American voters?"

At the last meeting Mr. L. P. Robinson read the speech of J. Adam Bele who represented the Republican party.

An interesting discussion followed.

At our next meeting, Feb. 19, Mr. Caton will tell why he votes Democratic ticket. All are invited to attend.

HORT. CLUB.

The Horticultural Club met last Wednesday evening in the horticultural building with a large attendance. Mr. G. W. Nichols gave a very interesting talk on the raising of strawberries in which all branches of the subject were thoroughly discussed. After a short discussion Mr. McCae passed out and some very fine samples of the Hancock apple.

Next Wednesday evening Mr. Robinson will talk on the subject of fertilizers.

Y. M. C. A.

Sunday afternoon the members of the Bible class for special students enjoyed a rare treat in the portrayal of David's character by Mr. Collingwood. It is seldom that one gets so clear a view of one of the Mr. C. B. Cook, of Collingwood. Mr. Collingwood treated the subject in a way that held the closest attention of his hearers from the beginning to the end of his discourse.

Mr. E. P. Robinson led an interesting discussion on the Bible characters. Mr. Collingwood, in the Y. M. C. A. It is pleasing to note the increasing attendance the last few weeks, the last two especially necessitating the carrying of chairs from outside to provide seats.

Miss Johnson gave an inspiring talk on the subject, "The Come and Calling for Them," in chapel Sunday evening. The Masons and Adams favored the audience with a duet.

Pres. E. G. Lancaster, of Omicron Delta, will deliver an address to the students and faculty of M. A. C. in the chapel Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. All are invited to be present.

DEBATING CLUB.

At the last meeting of the club, the following question was discussed, that arctic explorations have been justified by their results. The speakers were Messrs. J. G. Moore and H. C. Backnell for the affirmative and L. D. Bushnell and A. L. Darbee for the negative. The decision of the judges was one for the affirmative and two for the negative. Prof. Gunson very ably and fairly criticized the speakers and the question.

The question for next Thursday evening will be, "Resolved, that the bill introduced in the present legislation regarding the criminality of having should be passed. This subject is of great interest to everyone and your time will be well spent by attending.

SENIOR ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

Dying to a misunderstood the society was compelled to meet with a discussion, but arrangements have been justified by their results. Mr. W. P. Robinson gave an excellent talk on "Gas Engine Gov- erning," coming from Detroit and having taken pains to look into the practicality of such arrangements he was in a position to give a good talk. Mr. G. W. Nichols gave a brief review of the current engineering literature. Next Wednesday F. L. Johnston will speak on the "Circulation of Water in Steam Boiler" and W. C. Strand will talk on the "Electric Locomotive."

A. J. Cleland, of the above class, was the attorney for the defendant in the recent Jackson poisoning case which has been considered able mention in the papers of late.

Mr. Frank J. Phillips, who is in the employ of the bureau of forestry last year, and who is now studying forestry under Mr. Collingwood, will address the M. A. C. Foresters this Tuesday evening, Feb. 7, on "Forestry in the Northwest." Mr. Phillips spent part of the summer of 1903 in Oregon and Washington and will have something interesting to say. Every member of the organization and others interested should be present to hear Mr. Phillips at this special meeting.

ALUMNI.

On Monday evening Ray Stannard Baker gave an address at Harvard University on "The New work of the Labor Problem." During his address Mr. Baker said:

"We are coming thus to recognize the fact that the interference or public regulation in some form is the inevitable outcome of the industrial conflict. Whatever happens, the public, which is greater than any of its parts, will not permit two factions to stop industry. Here is the coal in the ground; here is the machinery ready to dig it; here are the workers and workers quarreling over the methods and profits of diggmg. No matter who is in control of those who are trampled upon the public is going to have that coal."

"Here, then, we seem to be standing on the edge of the tremendous and important changes that have before us the two great industrial forces organized as monopolies with a protection never before reached, perhaps in this world's history. And these forces exist within a democracy and within a country built up by the intelligence and forces of a supreme monarch, but of a com­ monwealth of which such a problem ever before confronted a nation."

Mr. Baker closed his address by saying that he believed the people would prove capable of solving all the difficult problems before them.

E. D. Sanderson writes facts concerning Dr. Y. C. A., to be reported in a recent issue of the association meeting for the Day of Prayer in our Union Literary Society. On Feb. 12 Mr. Sanderson is professor of zoology in the New England agricultural college at Durham.

A letter from G. Bodourian informs us that he has left the Department of Agriculture and is now employed as poultryman with Walter Jennings at Burrowed, Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y. Mr. Bodourian is thinking seriously of taking advanced work in agriculture soon and may return to M. A. C. for this work.

On Jan. 16 Charles W. Kaylor was married to Miss Elizabeth Amer­ mann in Detroit. Mr. Kaylor is still in the employ of the Tower Way Fruit Company. The address of Misses Alden and Adams favored the audience with a duet.

The RECORD extends congratula­ tion to M. A. C. for its work.

The Electric Club Journal, of which I wish to state that the engineering students have formed a society in which they will study the electrical papers, in order to supplement the work that comes in the regular course. It is gratifying to know that so many of the alumni who are in practical electrical work appreciate the advantages of such an organization and are ready with suggestions for the society.

For the benefit more particularly of those alumni who are interested in the electrical club, I wish to state that the students have raised $3462 18 for the benefit.

All the alumni having suggestions for the society are requested to communicate the same to me.
