PART III OF THE "CREATION."

"The third part opens with a symphonic introduction descriptive of the first morning of creation. In a brief recitative the tenor pictures the joy of Adam and Eve, and bids them sing the praise of God with the angelic choir, which forms the theme of the succeeding duet and choruses ("By Thee With Bliss"); to which the answering choir replies with a gentle and distant effect, as if from the celestial heights, "Forever Blessed be His Power," again Adam and Eve in successive solos, finally uniting, join with the choir in extolling the goodness of God; and as they close, all take up the beautiful and majestic psalm, "Hail, Bounteous Lord! Almighty, hallow." As the angelic above dies away, a tender, loving dialogue ensues between Adam and Eve, leading to the beautiful duet, "Gracious Consort," which is not only the most delightful number in the work, but in freshness, sweetness, and tenderness stands almost unsurpassed among compositions of its kind. After a short bit of recitative by the tenor, the chorus enters upon the closing number, beginning slowly and majestically, then developing into a masterly fugue and closing with a languard of matchless beauty, in which the principal voices in solo parts are set off against the choral masses with powerful effect."—From Standard Oratorios.

Part III was omitted in the concert last year, only Parts I and II being given. This year the entire work will be given. The chorus is considerably larger and more efficient than last year, and especially in the last few weeks has made marked improvement in volume and finish, and will undoubtedly sing well. Miss Staley, now of Grand Rapids, who sang with the chorus last year as leading soprano, will again assist. Mr. F. M. Walker, tenor, now of U. M. and a member of their choral union, will also be here.

MRS. ELIZABETH BLAMERE, OF CHICAGO.

Miss Blamere comes to us very highly recommended. She has sung in the "Creation" with the Chicago Orchestra and with great success, and has also sung with the Pittsburgh Orchestra. Her voice is a high, lyric soprano of beautiful quality, beautifully trained. She has a large repertoire at her command, is a thorough musician and has those fine personal traits, combined with energy, that make her a success in both recital and oratorio. Miss Blamere has sung in the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, Chautauqua, and other places in the east and middle west, and last year made a successful concert tour to the Pacific coast and return, and met with unqualified success.

Following are a few press notices:

Chautauqua, New York.

Miss Elizabeth Blamere sang "The Last Rose of Summer." Her voice is a true soprano, brilliant and of good quality. The singing of an old song is a good test of a vocalist in some respects. Miss Blamere beyond any doubt pleased Chautauqua and is a favorite here.—Herald. San Diego, California.

The only other artist was Miss Elizabeth Blamere, whose voice is a true soprano, distinctive in its richness and purity of tone quality. Her voice leaves scarcely anything to be desired. It has a fine carrying quality and exactness of pitch at all times. She gave several classical and semi-popular selections, besides singing her part in the "Trovatore" and "Les Hugenots" scenes.—Sun. Mr. Robert Boice Carson, of Chicago.

The following press notices of Mr. Carson speak for themselves in ranking him as a very fine artist, to hear whom would be well worth the price of admission to the entire May Festival:

Mr. Carson's voice is strong, flexible, and pleasing and improved with acquaintance, and by the time he had concluded his work had made enthusiastic friends of every person in the audience. He has one quality unnamable, undefinable, which we call soul; there was quality, a melody, a soul in his voice that made you forget the singer.—Mt. Pleasant News.

Mr. Robert Boice Carson, the tenor, sang All-American Songs of Thanksgiving, displaying an excellent tenor voice of wide range.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The following question was discussed at the Debating Club Thursday, May 19th, the interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine embodied in the San Domingo treaty, the interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine by the Senate, the question of the U.S. Senate, the interpretation best adapted to the interests of the United States.

T. F. Locke and E. H. Adams spoke on the affirmative, E. N. Bailey and C. N. Haggard the negative. The judges voted two in favor of the negative and one in favor of the affirmative. Prof. W. O. Hedrick acted as critic.

M. A. C. HORT. CLUB.

At the meeting of the M. A. C. Hort. Club April 12th, Mr. W. G. Metz, in charge of the testing talk on his work in South Carolina for the U. S. D. A. in trying to secure varieties of watermelons which are resistant to the fungus diseases and the causes of the plants to be attacked by the fungus diseases.

In Texas, Georgia and N. and S. Carolina melons are the great commercial crop for the summer before cotton because the other years the wilt has been so bad as to greatly reduce the crop. The citrus variety of melons is the effort now to cross citrons with melons to give wilt resistant qualities and then by selecting and alternating hybridization to obtain melons of good qualities which are resistant to the wilt. This has been pretty successful and it is expected that when it has been carried on for a few years good melons resistant to the disease will be secured.

After a discussion of the subject specimens of melons planted by Mr. Blush and Hunterdon apples were passed around and enjoyed by all.

Mr. McCall, appears on the program next Wednesday night and an interesting evening is expected.

Many of the older alumni will remember Prof Geo. F. Fairchild, professor of horticulture from 1875-79, and also his youngest son, David G, who was born on the campus in the house now occupied by Hilliard. Invitations are out for the wedding of the son to Miss Marian Hibbard Bell. Mr. Fairchild, the inventor of the telephone. On April 25th, if the weather permits, the ceremony will take place under the Oak surrounding Mr. Bell's Washington residence. Mr. Fairchild holds a responsible position in the department of agriculture, and for the past six years has been actively engaged in securing importation of plants from all parts of the world, which may become valuable to the state. In completing his course at the Kansas Agricultural College Prof. Fairchild spent two years in study with his uncle, Prof. Byron D. Halstead, '71, at Rutgers, N. J. He then entered the botanical department of the department of agriculture.

From here he went to the botanical garden at Nantes, France, then the acquaintance of an English gentleman of wealth who was affected with Robert Burns. With him he spent the next four years in travel, visiting the most interesting and instructive points of the country. The meetings are held every Tuesday evening and are called to order promptly at 6:00.

ATHLETICS.

BASEBALL.

Following are the games scheduled to be played as M. A. C. during the spring term, to which the season ticket will admit:

April 15, M. A. C. vs. Flint.
April 25, M. A. C. vs. Hillsdale.
April 29, M. A. C. vs. Alma.
May 2, M. A. C. vs. Michigan State.
May 8, M. A. C. vs. Olivet.
May 18, M. A. C. vs. Albion.
May 26, M. A. C. vs. Kalamazoo.

M. A. C. 13, FLINT 1.

In spite of the disagreeable day the M. A. C. baseball team played an excellent game against the Flint aggregation. The day was so cold that it seemed impossible to play and yet an overthrow or fumble marred the game. One of the features of the game was the team batting and base running. McKena, Chapman, Canfield Gunnison and Wilcox all proved effective at the bat and also on the bases during the game. Glenn Boyce, the freshman catcher, caught a star game, the pitchers all exceptionally well not allowing a single base on balls, making a wild throw or an error of any kind. Only one clean hit was made by the visitors and that in the ninth inning. Only one man got to second and that was the man who made the lucky score. Two only reached base.

The team is as far advanced now as it was by the middle of May one year ago and the management feels very much pleased with the outlook and when Michigan comes Friday and Saturday something will be doing. Following is the line-up of our nine:

\[
\begin{array}{cccc}
\text{Eckert} & \text{Armentrout} & \text{Chapman} & \text{Boyle} \\
\text{Boyle, G.} & \text{Brown} & \text{Chapman} & \text{Brown} \\

\end{array}

The track squads are putting in a week's hard games to steady themselves for the big games to come, for 50 cents. The games will be called at 3:30 official, will umpire both games.

On Friday and Saturday, April 21 and 22 will come the two games with the university. These games are coming up causing much interest and speculation and will be the athletic events of the season. The university won from us last year 7 to 4, and two years ago M. A. C. won by 10 to 9. The team is just about one month further advanced than last year when they played the U. of M. McKena's pitching is more experienced and good training as they will have had a year when they played the U. of M. only one clean hit was made by the visitors and that in the ninth inning. Only one man got to second and that was the man who made the lucky score. Two only reached base.

W. K. Prudden of Lansing is making extensive improvements on the property purchased several months ago on the corner of Michigan and Washington Avenues. Mr. Prudden now owns both the building formerly known as the Wells store, and which was owned by Mr. Frank Wells of Lansing for about 40 years, and the property on the corner where much improvement is being made.

The building now stands high, additional stairways put in, an elevator will be installed, and this will certainly be one of the finest office buildings in the city. Many from the college have, of course, noticed the work in progress on the building, but few people knew that Mr. Prudden was once an M. A. C. student.

Wermuth spoke on "Our Late President," G. A. Ziegler, on "Robert E. Lee;" L. C. Adams, on "Samuel Adams;" and Bertrand Aldrich, on "On the Threshold of Public Life." The remainder of the program was furnished by Miss Grace C. Wilson, Mrs. Emma O. Monkman James H. Bedford, and Harry C. Milligan.

The medal winner has been connected with the local Y. M. C. A. only a year and was elected president of the club just two weeks ago. He is a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College.

Here is another story about that very conserving, shy and cautious statesman, Senator Allison. A traveling companion, looking out of a window, said:

"There are some fine sheep, Mr. Allison."

"They seem to be sheep sure enough," the senator admitted after a pause.

"And they've been sheared, too," said the companion.

"Well, I seem to have sheared on this side."
