On Thanksgiving Day the closing game of football was played, resulting in a tie score. Including the result of the game owing to his bruised eye, and being a very busy man, he was unable to do so.

After getting our dinner at the restaurant we started out to make a tour of Grand Rapids most famous wood-working plants. The first one visited was "The Veneer Works." Here we saw the process of veneering, the various kinds of woods used for veneering and some of the many uses made of the veneered product.

The next factory that we visited was the Wm. Widdicomb Furniture Company. At this place we were welcomed and shown through the entire factory by a competent guide. Some very interesting things were shown and the establishment, the chamber suite containing five pieces which were sold at the enormous sum of $1500.00. The field which made the usual football number was seen and the game was a most enjoyable one.

On the appropriate day of November, Friday, the 23rd, the forestry students of the Junior and Senior classes under the guidance of Prof. Magoffin, moved to Ingham county to enjoy the Pere Marquette to enjoy that most delightful and instructive trip. It was an unusually clean game.

It was about 5 o'clock when we emerged from the walls of this great institution and again entered into the making of furniture. Each man had a particular work to do and as a result of this, skill, rapidity and accuracy was obtained by each workman, and the very highest grade of furniture was produced, because of a rigid system of inspection which was in vogue in this plant.

THE FORESTRY TRIP.

On the appropriate day of November, Friday, the 23rd, the forestry students of the Junior and Senior classes under the guidance of Prof. Magoffin, moved to Ingham county to enjoy the Pere Marquette to enjoy that most delightful and instructive trip which has long been anticipated. On arriving at the Union depot we were met by Hon. Chaas. W. Garfield, president of the State Forestry Commission, who made us feel that we were welcomed to the city and all was contained. Mr. Garfield would have gladly accompanied us thru the different factories of the city, but being a very busy man, he was unable to do so.

After getting our dinner at the restaurant we started out to make a tour of Grand Rapids most famous wood-working plants. The first one visited was "The Veneer Works." As soon as we can get half-tones moved to Ingham county in 1862. He was graduated from the law department of the university in 1862. He was a member of Co. A. 20th Mich. In the civil war.

Mr. Cowles was the author of a historical section of an edition concerning Ingham Co. and its citizens, published in '94. Having lived in the county so long and being able to note the rapid development of same, he was particularly fitted for the work.

Judge Cowles held many positions of trust and honor, and his death left a shock to his many friends throughout the county.

THANKSGIVING MILITARY.

The Military given on Wednesday evening was a success in every way, an unusually large number of both students and visitors being present. The buglers were on hand and sounded assembly which gave the affair quite a military aspect. Baker's orchestra furnished excellent music, Prof. and Mrs. Vedder and Dr. and Mrs. Waterman acted as chaplains. There were a large number of Lansing friends present and among the old students were noted: Willy Bark, N. B. Horton, A. A. Rosenebery, Harrold Kimball, Julia Ellisworth, Bessie Titllle, Ora Luther, and Cecil Alden.

The Aurorion Literary Society elected the following officers for the winter term: President, H. L. Brown; Vice President, G. W. Brewster; Secretary, J. O. Louton; Treasurer, R. L. Pennell; Record Editor, R. J. Altvater; Sergeant at Arms, H. L. Hallam.

Baird, wife of former secretary R. G. Baird; Edith Stemple, '96, W. McLoughlin, J. M. Hatty, Nettie E. Wood, and Lewis Groner.

With '95:
A. N. Clark writes interestingly of his work as chef chemist of the sugar company at Wallingburg, Ont. The company is building a steam pulp drier, which will take the place of the direct fire method. Mr. Clark speaks of P. M. Grover, with '97, who is assistant, as being one of the most helpful, energetic, and honest men he has ever known. Grover went to Ontario from Oregon, where he raised wheat two years after leaving M. A. C.

reservoir of glue. By means of two endless chains the boards to be united are run through the dovetailing arrangement, then glise past the machine and are brought firmly together at the center of the machine, and by means of a horizontal toothed brush the spliced board is cast aside.

The bards when placed on the endless chain are held in their proper position by a system of cast iron rollers exerting a downward pressure. These rollers are lengthwise and thus narrow pieces are made wider by this process. The work was done by this public in so smooth and even that one would scarcely notice the hollow tating effect after all we could from this factory, we boarded the street car and rode to the city limits and after a short walk we came to Mr. Garfield's plantation. This plantation consisted of a goodly number of choice woods and sod-covered forests which had been set out in rows some sixteen years ago. This plant was selected for the fact that tree planting is not the dismal failure that some antagonistic people would have us believe. Altogether the stand, it shows to the observer what can be done along this line of work. After making a few observations upon the various conditions of growth, we retired to the city and satisfied our midday hunger by obtaining a good square meal.

At 2:30 p.m. we were again in motion, this time through the country for the Grand Rapids and Indians Road bound for Cadillac. While in this village we visited the Iron Shoe Last and Bowling Pin Factory, the Cummins and Diggins Company, the Cobold Plant and Cobbs and Mitchell's Electric Flooring Plant, all of which had their interesting and instructive points.

I have left Cadillac Monday noon to visit the factory, for Obivet the plan of life's games and sports ever been so pleasant in Michigan and the victory is hers.

UNION LITERARY.

The members of the Union Literary Society who remained at the College over Thanksgiving were given a very pleasant evening's entertainment by Prof. and Mrs. Taft at their home Thursday evening. The early part of the evening was spent in playing games after which refreshments were served. To say that all present highly appreciated the festival would be quite inadequate. While the evening was short we had a team which could make them do so. Olivet played as fine a game of football as have ever been seen in Michigan and the victory is hers.

Geo. F. Talladay visited his Hesperian friends one evening the past week.

Miss Ida Smith, of Schoolcraft was the guest of Miss Earl this past week.

The programs, it is hoped, will be ready for distribution the last of next week.

E. C. Slovak, '07, won two prizes on Black Membrane at the State fair, Detroit.

H. F. Tuttle, T. P. McNally and J. H. Jones were College visitors the past week.

Cashie Kenney was called to Lapeer on Monday to attend the funeral of an aunt.

"Pope" Leo Ruggles expects to spend the winter term at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids.

Morton Barrows spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Prof. and Mrs. W. B. Barrows.

And now comes Xmas. Only one week from Friday and—Exams. are over again.

Ypsilanti has a clear record in football this year, winning her last game over Hillsdale 10 to 6.

Miss Hearty Brown spent Thanksgiving with the Lansing beet sugar factory. They report a pleasant and profitable trip, and a "sweet time" as each returned with a box of sugar.

Instructor Clark, of the chemistry department, was at St. Johns Thanksgiving evening, where as censor he assisted Mr. John Wilson Dodge in the presentation of his new opera "Princess of Sokol." Mr. and Mrs. Newman entertained the workers and Bible class of the M. A. C. Sunday school at their home on the Delta Thursday evening, Nov. 22. "Football" and other games occupied a part of the evening, refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening spent.

All those who are interested in prohibition and its problems are requested to meet in room 7, College Hall next Sunday afternoon at six o'clock. We would like to organize here a strong prohibition league to take up a systematic study of the liquor problem.

Orla Rector, janitor of Abbot and Williams Hall, lost a note book on Friday containing his month's salary. It was lost presumably between the library and Abbot. Finder will please return same to secretary's office.

The faculty at its recent meeting voted to extend the Christmas vacation one day. In this case students will not be required to return until Wednesday, Jan. 2, thus giving New Year's Day at home. College opens Thursday morning.

Thanksgiving at the Women's Building was a gala day. About seventy, less than half of whom were girl students, sat around the festive board, sharing in old fashioned soup and fruit salad. After the coffee, Miss Gilchrist as toastmistress introduced Miss Owen, Instructor Bates and Prof. Smith, all of whom charmed the ears of their listeners by their ready wit. Prof. Smith touched the hearts by his references to the past, and for a time the spirit of auld lang syne pervaded the atmosphere.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS.

Miss Katherine McNaughton, '05, who is now in the Thomas Training School, Detroit, spent a few days the past week with college friends.

Dean Gilchrist will return to her work in Ann Arbor tomorrow. She has been arranging, so far as possible, the classification of specials for the winter term.

Mr. Charles W. Chapman has been elected instructor in physics. Mr. Chapman is a Normal graduate and has been employed for some time as teacher in the Fenton schools.

The seven students who will compete in the fruit judging contest at the State Horticultural meeting will leave for Grand Rapids at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning, returning to Lansing Saturday evening.

The class in physics, sub-freshmen, visited the Lansing beet sugar factory Friday. They report a pleasant and profitable trip, a "sweet time" as each returned with a box of sugar.

A new system of choosing debate candidates for the program has been tried. The names of the members of the debating club were all placed in a hat and were drawn out one by one until all were disposed of. The first four were placed in the order drawn for the first debate next term and the next four were treated likewise for the next debate, etc.

According to this new system the following is the program for the winter term:

Debate No. 3—January 24th, 1907; H. D. Ingalls, A. W. Brewer, M. L. Bowserman, R. G. Crane.

Debate No. 5—February 7th, 1907; L. Borrroll, O. L. Gregg, A. A. Wallace, R. H. Gilson.

Debate No. 6—February 14th, 1907; H. G. Stone, C. W. Mason, R. E. Hoopingarner, E. L. Grover.

Debate No. 7—February 21st, 1907; A. Williams, G. V. Copman, H. L. Glazier, G. W. Lindb lut.

Debate No. 8—February 28th, 1907; E. E. Allens, Helen Ashley, Bertha Lunn, A. B. Raynor.

Debate No. 9—March 7th, 1907; E. W. Wilcox, C. McNaughton, C. H. Goetz.

E. J. Wilcox, C. McNaughton.

He found nothing which cause the farmer so much trouble as the worms which are found in the seed corn. He found everything full of interest and students who are privileged to make a study of these problems should and, we believe, do appreciate the instruction given along this line.

The effect of careful selection of cereals, legumes, etc., on the second term and the next four were treated likewise for the next debate, etc.
