ALUMNI

38. N. S. Mayo, '88, of Santiago de los Vegas, Cuba, in renewing his subscription to the Review, states that he has been spending some time in the southern states schooling live stock for the Cuban government.

39. R. S. Baker of the above class is now at his home in East Lansing where he expects to remain during the summer. In the magazines of the current month we notice three articles from his pen, two in the American Agriculturist and one in Century.

39. ’92.

Elmer F. Walcott, ’90-’92, North Lansing, has been with the Condensed Milk Factory for 13 years, and during this time superintended the cow stalls for the last five years. He must be a man of steady habits.

91-’92.

In the current issue of the Review of Reviews, an article by Guy Elliott Mitchell, ’91-’92, entitled, "Farm America's Swamp," in which he states that there are upward of 100,000,000 acres of fertile but now useless swamp lands, further stating that in the two classes of internal improvements, drainage is likely to prove even more popular, as a public issue, than irrigation, for the swamps are scattered throughout the already well-settled sections and the engineering problems involved in their drainage are comparatively simpler less than that of irrigation.

95. P. V. Ross, lawyer, is engaged in his profession at Los Angeles, Cal. His address is 925 Pacific Building.

Under the heading, "Sterling's Grandest House of Worship," the Starling-Hills Gazette gives a three-page illustrated write-up of the new Methodist church recently erected in that city under the leadership of Rev. W. W. Dichtl, "of the above class.

In speaking of Mr. Dichtl the Gazette speaks in part as follows:—Rev. Wilbur W. Dichtl, who has been the pastor of the Fourth Street Methodist church for the past seven years, has, in the building of this grand house of worship, accomplished a feat that makes his name prominent in the history of this church as long as the organization exists. He is a man of force and the key note of his effort is "accomplishment." Whether in the pulpit or in the direction of the work that will make his name prominent in the history of this church as long as the organization exists. The pastor is a man in the very prime of life and in the flower of his best ability, He is a man of force and the key note of his effort is "accomplishment." ABOUT THE CAMPUS

Only 12 weeks more in the college year. Let's improve them.

Prof. Jeffrey was called to Dubuque, Iowa, last week by the death of his mother.

A note from Prof. Smith says, “All well here and ready to sail Saturday, April 4.”

Instructor Glenn James underwent an operation for appendicitis Monday. We are glad to report that he is getting along nicely.

Miss Norma Gilchrist has been ill with tonsillitis the past week. Gov. Warner has issued a proclamation naming May 1 as Arbor Day.

Instructor Sanford was away on woodlot work most of last week. Miss Nixie is dead. Saturday morning, after a life devoted to the uplifting of downtrodden humanity, she was the only being who for years has added a touch of femininity to the station terrace apartment, she passed away amid the tears of those with whom she had passed her short but eventful life.

NOTICE.—Beginning on next Monday, April 13, the fire whistle will blow on working days at 12:30 instead of the regular whistle which now blows at that time.

The last of the series of preliminary debates will be held in the college chapel Friday evening of this week. The weather has not been conducive to good baseball practice.

The Y. M. C. A. officers for the ensuing year are: President, W. D. Frazier; vice president, C. J. C. Oviatt; recording secretary, B. B. Pratt; corresponding secretary, H. L. Kempster; treasurer, A. M. Sayer. Work has begun on the new agricultural building.

The Chicago Alumni Association held its annual banquet last Saturday night. Full report next week.

We would be pleased with your patronage.

About 20 professors and instructors attended the annual meeting of the Michigan Academy of Science at Ann Arbor last week. Among those from M. A. C. scheduled on the program were Dean Gilchrist, Dr. J. B. Dandeno, W. S. Sayer, Dr. Otto Rahn, Prof. R. H. Pettit, C. W. Chapman. For the college year. Let’s improve them.

J. W. Dann, E. H. Stiles, G. T. Tingley, F. W. Dunham of the college. Consequently, we enter a protest against any such curricula which is now being remedied to accommodate its business, which consists of jobbing a full line of beekeeper’s supplies. M. H. Hunt & Son come to this city from Detroit with an established business, and will make this city their central distributing point.” Elmer Hunt, the junior member of the firm, will be remembered by old M. A. C. people as a special student here during the years 1857–58.

Robert Maltby called on college friends last week. Mr. Maltby is now Professor of Animal Husbandry at the Baron de Hirsh Agricultural and Industrial School at Woodbine, New Jersey.

Superintendent L. J. Smith of the college fire department has an addition built at the southwest corner of Williams hall to accommodate the fire fighting paraphernalia.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bassett, who have been spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. J. J. Myers, have returned to their home in Charpaign, Ill.

In this connection we recommend favor the adding of a short course in domestic science and domestic arts to the college to those farm schools in place of “high schools.” If fully to the fullest its mission, we will make demands on the people of the state on having to this important end.

Your committee would further recommend the following resolution:

Resolved, That this State Grange has always taken a lively interest in the agricultural college, we have always stood ready to assist it in every way possible and to defend it against its enemies. Whenever the institution has, in our judgment, failed to fulfill to the fullest, our duty, we have criticized freely and suggested changes and reforms.

We assure ourselves and the people of the state on having to-day an institution second to none of its kind in the world.

In passing we would acknowledge a indebtedness to Dr. J. L. Sturdevant, president of the institution, and brother in our Order, for popularizing the institution and for his able and efficient administration of its affairs.

There has been referred to this committee the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we ask for and favor the adding of a short course in domestic science and domestic art to the short-term courses offered by our Agricultural College.

In which we most heartily concur and recommend its adoption.

In this connection we recommend the extension of short courses to every department where the same may be made practical. Wherein the matter of a Farm Home Reading Course as set forth in the Worthy Lecturer’s report, has been a consideration of our State Grange for many years; therefore be it resolved. That this State Grange renew its earnest request of the college to continue this work more vigorously henceforth.

We recommend its adoption. Resolved, That the Michigan State Grange, in concert with the Michigan Agricultural College in the effort to secure the teaching of agricultural science in the High Schools of our state. We recommend its adoption. Your committee would further recommend a department be established at the college for the extension of agricultural teachings, said department to conduct short course in communities in seeking for the same continuing with requirements. In this way we hope to bring the college to those farmer’s who are unable to go to the college.

Whereas, there has been introduced in the constitutional convention, now in session, a proposition to curtail the work of the college, it is Resolved, That this state grange enter a protest against any such curtailment and eliminating of the work of the college.

AVERAGE men are as colorless as average clothes. College men are outside the average—their togs have to be College Brand Clothes are. Just a bit more dash to em, a great sight more style—and the precisely right amount of fit. Though exclusive their price isn’t enough to exclude you from wearing ‘em. For the young man and the “like-to-be-young.”
