EAST LANSING'S LEADING GROCER,
THE MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT.

It is interesting to note that the first report ever made by a president of that place and five years as head of the department is endeavoring to correlate its courses with the particular line of work in which the student expects to specialize. To this end a course in agricultural mathematics has been developed. The courses for engineering students are supplemented with problems which have direct bearing upon the work in engineering. "Mathematics made not easier but more attractive and intelligible" characterizes the spirit of the department.

(This is the first of a series of articles in which it is aimed to cover the entire work of the College from the departmental standpoint. It is believed that alumni and former students can be kept informed and more easily appreciate the work of the College in no better way.—Ed.)

VOL. XXI. EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1915. NO. 4

SECURE SEATS FOR MICHIGAN GAME.

Assistant Coach Gauthier saw Michigan wallop Mt. Union last Saturday and after the game he telegraphed to East Lansing that M. A. C. could hold her own on the 23d. Gauthier's attendance at the game was purely an incidental affair however, the main reason for the trip being the completion of plans for the reception of the Aggies, team, band, alumni and students on October 23d.

These arrangements made the M. A. C. alumni have reserved for them in the middle section of the new bleachers 1,100 seats at $1 per. These tickets are to be on sale at East Lansing and will be mailed out Friday, October 15th, upon the receipt of an order accompanied by the cash. Your letter directed to Alumni Secretary C. S. Langdon, with proper inscription, will receive prompt attention. Get your orders in early as we cannot hold these tickets until the last minute. Hurry.

CHORUS AND GLEE CLUB ORGANIZE.

Fred Killeen, who will have charge of both Chorus and Men's Glee and Mandolin Club this year, reports that these organizations are already in motion. The Chorus has elected the following officers: L. E. Duell, treasurer, and Dorothy Thomason, vice president. The Rose Maiden by Cowen will be presented in midwinter and The Seasons by Haydn will be sung at the May Festival.

The first call for the Glee Club last Thursday brought about 50 aspirants. This number is expected to be greatly augmented at the meeting this week. Mr. Killeen expects to get the Glee Club work started earlier this year and will do more singing on the campus. This latter will meet with hearty approval of the college people. He will carry a larger number than usual up to the time of the spring trip, which is being arranged for as usual. In addition to his Chorus and Glee Club work, Mr. Killeen gives vocal lessons Tuesdays and Thursdays in the top of the Agricultural Building.
THE M. A. C. RECORD.

THE MICHIGAN UNION.

A great many M. A. C. people are watching with interest the campaign which the Michigan Union has instituted for a million dollar building to house the Union. Some of them are doing more than watch as they are going down in their pockets to help the good cause along. This great democratic organization at the University has appealed not only to members of the Union, but it has recently been notified by the Faculty and Board of Regents, we sincerely hope that the campaign which is on this month will be eminently successful. We want the alumni and students of M. A. C. to learn more about this Union so that when the time comes for the M. A. C. Union the blow may be struck with equal force.

FORESTRY DEPARTMENT PROMOTES WILLOW INDUSTRY.

The growth of willows for furniture in Michigan is one of the projects which the Forestry Department has under consideration for next year. In fact the start has already been made, as an acre near Grand Rapids has been leased and are being cultivated this fall preparatory to setting out the willow cuttings next spring.

Until recently the willow manufacturers of the United States have depended largely upon Germany for their willow supply. Now that this is cut off the Forestry Department sees an opportunity to promote this industry in Michigan, where there are large areas of low, swampy land beloved to be very well adapted to this work. The work will be started on a small scale this first year and then be considerably enlarged as it gets beyond the experimental stage.

The peeling of the willows is the big drawback, as in the United States do from M. A. C. people of Detroit, as these will constitute the largest number from any one place. It may be possible to arrange for a place where the alumni can dine together at noon. What do you say, Detroit M. A. C. Association?

ADDITIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

If the plans of the Shiawassee County Grange materialize there will be provided for a large number of deserving farmer youths a means for securing a college education at M. A. C. The farmers of Shiawassee county are reported to have a fund started now for a boy from that county and their plans are to have this work taken up by other Granges throughout the state. The general scholarship plan is under the direction of former Senator A. B. Cook, '93, prominent farmer of Owosso.

The list of scholarships in the college catalog is woefully lacking in numbers and any move along this line is a good one. At present the Heinz industrial fellowship is the only one of this character. M. A. C. ought to have many others, for they not only aid the individual students, but show to the outside world that we are taking our place in the industrial relations of the state. Have you any ideas? A little help, please.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Editor of the M. A. C. Record:

I am interested in what you say about Prof. Kedzie's father in chemistry lecture. I was so impressed with the facility of coming to time when Dr. Kedzie called us up, that the thing formed itself into a habit. Fifteen years after I graduated, I went back to visit the college and called on Dr. Kedzie. We were talking easily on various subjects, when he suddenly turned abruptly, as if he frequently did in the old college days, and asked me some simple question. The thing came back to me with a rush, and I actually got out of my chair and stood up to answer his question. I well remember that, and have gone through the college over it as the strongest tribute I could offer to the rare and strong personality of the man.

I often wonder if there are any teachers on the campus today who stand as high in the estimation of their students as Abbot, Kedzie, Beal, Fairchild and the others did in those good old days.

Yours truly,

H. W. Collingwood

H. W. Collingwood graduated from M. A. C. in 1883. During his college course he was viewed by his classmates and instructors as possessing much literary ability. Following his graduation, he accepted the editorship of the Mississippi Live Stock Journal, published at Starkville, Miss. From here he went to New York City as "general roostabout" on the staff of the Rural New Yorker. Some years later he bought an interest in this farm journal and now is its editor, and with J. J. Dillon, its owner. Mr. Collingwood is an ardent prohibitionist, and at one time ran for governor on this ticket.

Ralph Hudson, '07, manager of the college farm, reported his horse sale and colt show this winter at the college. He has already a promise of over 50 horses, and letters which come in nearly every day, prove that much interest is being taken in this event which is scheduled for the latter part of January.
LIBERAL ARTS COURSE ANNOUNCED.

The Liberal Arts Council, of which Profs. French, Johnston and Halligan are members, has announced the following course of lectures for this school year. It is possible that the proceeds as given will be added to somewhat. One dollar out of every six that each student pays during the year as a blanket tax goes to provide for these lectures. Hence there is no extra charge to students. Admission to others than students is 25 cents. All lectures are held in the Armory, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

NEWS AND COMMENT

Mr. Simpson, of the English department, and family, are living in Prof. Eastace's house during the latter's leave of absence.

"Happy" Musselman, '08, head of the Department of Farm Mechanics, is living up to his name nowadays, as he runs around in his new Ford.

The courtesy of J. E. Selzer, student at the University of Michigan, has been extended here for its historical value in connection with our present proposed Union. The poem is taken from a book of poems, all by the same author, owned by J. H. Gunnison, ex-'61, of Lansing. Mr. Gunnison says that the "Chariot" addressed in the poem is C. J. Monroe, ex-'62, of South Haven, at that time member of the State Board of Agriculture. The "Cook" referred to is A. J. Cook, now State Commissioner of California.

THE M. A. C. MEMORIAL BUILDING.

Say Charley! Have you heard the news? They talk at M. A. C. Of putting up a building there for such as you and me All the other boys and girls who get diplomas there And we can all chip in and help, who have the chink to spare. They're going to fix a dandy place, where all of us can go And talk of things which happened there, so many years ago.

When we were at the College a-searching after knowledge, And having such a jolly good time so many years ago.

They're planning for a lot of rooms with fixtures all complete, Where we can do most anything,— can sleep, or eat, or meet; 'T will not be like the boarding hall,—that old Saints' Rest, you know. In which we studied, ate, and slept so many years ago. But just a home-like stopping-place, where we can always go To talk the good times over,—those days of long ago, And call the name of the old college— M. A. C. And name of the building— "The M. A. C. Memorial Building."

Against a much stronger team than was met in the week before in Olivet, the Aggies ran up a total of 77 points last Saturday. But the story is not all told in this, as the Alma huskies crossed M. A. C.'s goal line twice—this being the first time the trick has been turned on the Presbyterians in years. However, both touchdowns were honestly earned and the Alma boys deserve a great deal of credit.

M. A. C. gathered two touchdowns in the first few minutes of play. Hugh Hurling, the forward pass. Henning took pilot position, seemed to get away just about as snappy and with more luck

as Butler, a new man last week, was picked holes and hardly ever got these out of the air some 15 yards

50 yards for a touchdown. Two forward passes of 25 yards each from

Smith to Spinney put the ball over the line again for Alma's last count.

After these two surprises the Aggies settled down to business, each player taking a little responsibility, and the goal was not in danger the remaining three quarters, tho it should be mentioned that Alma held M. A. C. for downs on her one-yard line in the last quarter. Of the bright spots of the contest was the perfect drop kick by DePrato, from the 2-yard line. One of these might come in handy in the first few minutes of play via.

Hugh Blacklock, Springer, Gideon

Smith, and DePrato. Then the surprise came, for with Alma receiving, the ball was batted by Johnstom to the middle of the field where he fumbled, but N. Smith scooped it up and ran

50 yards for a touchdown. Two forward passes of 25 yards each from

Smith to Spinney put the ball over the line again for Alma's last count.

In order that the services might be totally free to the student body, the Board made an appropriation of $500

for the necessary expenses in connection with the working out of the details and the management of the bureau,
