UNIVERSITY ASKS AID IN CHEM. ENGINEERING.

It is significant that the University of Michigan through President Hutchins and Dean Cooley, have asked the college for assistance in their chemical engineering course. Six of their chemical engineering faculty members have spent mostly in government war service. Specifically, they ask the help of Prof. W. P. Wood for the first semester in metallurgy and in its September meeting the State Board granted the university's request, allowing Professor Wood to assist on the university faculty. During the coming fall term he will spend two days a week at M. A. C. in the course in advanced technology chemical engineering, and the balance of the week in Ann Arbor. The remuneration is to be adjusted between the engineering departments of the two institutions.

BIRD '14, PRATT '09, RE-ENTER U. S. DEPT. FOR WAR WORK.

Harold S. Bird, '14, has just accepted a position in the Office of Markets, Department of Agriculture, as an investigator in horticulture and pomology, and left Lansing October 3 to report at Washington.

Following his graduation in '14 Bird spent over two years as a fruit investigator, and his work and experience gained were largely responsible for his present call, which came in the form of a strong patriotic appeal for the services of experienced men to assist in the great conservation work. Since Bird's civil service eligibility had expired, it was necessary for him to take a second examination, which in the speed of its handling sets a new record in civil service annals. The manuscript left Lansing Monday and a telegraphed appointment was received Wednesday. Bird's former work in the department was in connection with the shipping and storage of apples in Washington, Oregon and Idaho. A bulletin, containing results of many of the investigations carried on, entitled “The Handling and Storage of Apples in the Pacific Northwest, has just been published by the Department of Agriculture. Bird prepared almost all the original manuscript.

His work will probably be on investigations, seeking to reduce waste between the arrival of fruit in cars at the market and the consumer.

It appears that the Office of Markets pressed by the present campaign for food conservation is seeking the help of a number of its former employees, especially those trained in fruit investigations.

B. B. Pratt, '09, formerly chief of the field division of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, has just relinquished his work there to return to Washington to assist the department in fruit investigation in which he has had a very wide experience.

We are very desirous of detailed information of every man in service so that at the close of the war we may have a complete history of the part M. A. C. has played in the great world cause. Particular emphasis is being placed upon the rank and branch of service of each man. Please do not overlook this in sending in information and addresses.

AT GRAND RAPIDS NOV. 2.

Plans are being made for a get-together of M. A. C. people during the State Teachers' Association meeting at Grand Rapids November 1 and 2. Final arrangements have not been made, but a headquarters and general meeting place will be designated and a luncheon arranged for on Friday noon. Notices will be sent to all M. A. C. teachers and M. A. C. people in the vicinity of Grand Rapids, and further announcement of the meeting will be made in subsequent numbers of the Record. Prof. French expects to complete the arrangements this week. Last year's meeting was a splendid one but we want to eclipse it this year, both in numbers and enthusiasm.

C. S. McArdle is captain of Co. A, 310 Engineers, Camp Custer.

M. A. C. WASHINGTONIANS PICNIC.

At the annual picnic of the Washington M. A. C. Alumni Association, some 60 members met Saturday, July 21st, on the beautiful campus of the Maryland Agricultural College. The afternoon was a pleasant one but too warm for active participation in the sports arranged. However, the tennis courts were occupied and baseball was very popular with the younger members.

At sunset just before the tables were made ready for the picnic supper a short business meeting was held at which Pres. Thurtell, '88, presided. Officers elected for the coming year are as follows: President, G. V. Branch, '12; vice president, H. M. Conolly, '08; secretary-treasurer, Cora L. Feldkamp, '05; chairman executive committee, Lee M. Hutchins, '13.

Those present at this gathering were: C. E. Bassett, '89; Lyster H. Dewey, '88-'90; Harold Thurtell, '88; A. L. McKinlay, '89; Mrs. Elva E. Hicks, '90-'94; Adelbert Dryer, '93; C. B. Smith, '94; C. E. Close, '95; Clay Tallman, '95; Mrs. Lottie Lee Smith, '97-'00; Homer C. Skeels, '98; Mrs. Mary Baker Waitle, '98; Mrs. Alex Warren Fuller, '01; Arthur Adelman, '04; Dayton A. FRIDAY OCTOBER 5, 1917.

MRS. BREWER.

Without the familiar face that so often accompanied him on the campus and the field, it will be difficult to fully realize the former coach's return. With the sympathy that goes out to him, there awakens in every M. A. C. heart the realization of the debt we owe Mrs. Brewer, and the feeling of gratitude for her share in the work of placing M. A. C. athletics on the high plane they reached under her husband. A lover of clean sport, a close follower of the game, a true sportswoman, varsity football and baseball men came to know her as "half the coach." Her fineness and splendid womanly qualities won their affection and regard, so that on the field and on trips her mere presence exerted a strong influence for good.

With that deep regard we hold for her influence, rather let us carry with us the thought that not Brewer alone, but the Brewers, brought clean athletics to M. A. C. athletics to M. A. C.

THE ENROLLMENT.

That the college enrollment this fall will be but 70 per cent of normal is the estimate of Registrar Yakeley based on last moment calculations.

The number of girls will probably be about normal, with few losses from the upper classes and a freshman class with the usual yearly increase. Be about normal, with few losses from the upper classes and a freshman class with the usual yearly increase.

So something over $50,000 came in to the college last year from students' fees, tuition, etc. A 30% decline in enrollment as suggested, will proportionately reduce our income and working capital by $15,000 or over. Not a great amount, but sufficient in the present uncertainty to demand careful watch of expenditures.

Although the entering classes of colleges and universities a severe blow in the matter of attendance, nevertheless it is having the effect of placing a premium on the college trained man and is actually stimulating a desire for education and training among many not formerly appealed to. This is particularly true among women, many of whom are eager to serve and quickly perceive the greater fields opened to them in trained lines. And furthermore it is proving to some of our stal, old institutions the value and to many the real necessity of genuine out and out advertising.

A DOLLAR OR TWO.

We are receiving $1.00 remittances from a number of Reon subscribers for renewals. Now, understand, we aren't complaining about the ones. In fact, we take some of the blame for their not being twos, because in the effort to clean up the summer's desk full we have been unable to send out all the renewal notices. But they are coming—and they'll explain the difference between a $1.00 subscription to the Reon and a $2.00 membership in a big strong self-supporting M. A. C. Association that's backing and boosting M. A. C. to the very limit of its strength. In the meantime, if you've sent in one—needn't wait for a notice to send the other. We'll take it now.

M. A. C. MEN AT 2ND TRAINING CAMP.

9th Co., 2nd Reg't.
Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Dear "Sammie":—

I received your letter some time ago and guess you'll be getting out your first paper and may need this information. We sure are busy down here and working very seriously. The personnel of this camp is much older than that of the last camp, in fact there are some rather famous men here. The biggest man from M. A. C. here is Dr. Baker, dean of forestry at Symmes Union College, and he's as full we have been able to make it. However there are undoubtedly many more in companies in which no recent graduates are.

THE M. A. C. RECORD.

The strength of the entering class is very much a conjecture. This year for the first time a trial has been given the entering class, officially the draft as usual. Usually it has been the custom to have freshmen report one day early, but with the new scheme a full day is saved. Some 230 enrollment blanks were mailed last week and but 100 had come in Tuesday, although many more are expected in the next few days. Last year's entering class numbered 558. How this year's class will compare remains to be seen.

Capt. E. G. Wrightson was appointed professor of military science.

The recommendation of Director Baldwin regarding changes in the conduct of farmers' institutions was adopted.

Professor Taft is to devote his entire time to the work of nursery and orchard inspection.

G. C. Wright was appointed foreman in the machine shop, beginning October 1.

Appropriate resolutions were adopted regarding the death of W. F. Raven.

Adjournment.

Mrs. Chester L. Brewer.

News of the sudden death of Mrs. Brewer on September 27 came as a fearful shock to the whole college community. All were looking forward to her coming. Her old friends about the campus were pleasurably anticipating a renewal of their former acquaintance, and the college was waiting to welcome her back to her former place in its social life.

A recommendation following a seemingly slight operation at her home in Janesville, Wisconsin, where she and her daughters had stopped en route to East Lansing.

Mrs. Brewer's childhood was spent in Janesville, Wisconsin, where her father was a prominent business man. Her maiden name was Grace Brownell. In Janesville, as in their later home in Albion, Michigan, Miss Brownell, she was exceedingly popular, and her cordial, gracious manner and pleasantness won her many staunch friends wherever she went. From the very first she entered heart and soul into her husband's work, and became an ideal helper.

With no small or mean traits, she was appreciative of everyone and had always a kind word to say for them. She continually looked on the bright side and for the bright things in life, and was ever cheerful and optimistic.

Her death is a fearful loss to Director Brewer. She was very close to him in his work and had become so much a part of his life.

Besides the immediate family two brothers survive her, one in Janesville and the other, A. C. Brownell of Detroit, editor of the Holstein Dairyman.

Mrs. Brewer's mother, Mrs. Brownell, and the two daughters, Eleanor, aged 14, and Frances, 13, accompanied Director Brewer to East Lansing. He arrived here Wednesday.

C. L. Bemis, '74, died at his home in East Lansing August 23. Mr. Bemis had been in poor health for nearly a year and was compelled to give up his educational work entirely. Directly after leaving the college in 1874 he took up educational work and for 32 years taught in various capacities in Michigan. For nine years prior to his retirement on account of ill health he was principal of the State Normal School at Athens, West Virginia. Besides his wife Mr. Bemis is survived by three children, Misses Bessie, '05, Delia, and Eldaean.

Mrs. M. A. Meeker, who for the past year has been acting as matron of College Cottage, died at her home in East Lansing August 8. Her death was very sudden. She appeared to be in perfect health. College societies and the girls of College Cottage and other college friends sent hundreds of flower tokens. She is survived by one son, Don A. Meeker, '17.

Alice L. Latson has moved from Howell, Mich., to Bismarck, N. D. Her address is 804 4th St.
HARDENING UP FOR MICHIGAN.

In the absence of Director Brewer, Coach Gauthier has full charge of the football squad, with Gifford, former varsity star, assisting in line-work. Thus far twenty-one men are doing the main work of the two teams, and in the recent scrimmages lots of good fighting pep has been shown. It is certain that one very good team will be developed from the two. Hammes is showing up favorably at full, and McCool and Ryan are doing good work in the rear half. In the front half position, Oas and Kellogg are playing good ball and are running the ball for the quarter position. At ends Ramsay and Turner, from last year's varsity, are being used, and the freshman end of last year, Bassett, looks as though he would make a place for himself. At left tackle Gelboz is playing on his last year's form. His strength and aggressiveness and the knowledge of the game, gained through former years' varsity experience, make him the man for the tackle in college games today. Miller and Franson are being used at right tackle. Miller was a substitute last year. Leifer and Bailey are falling in consistently as guards, but these positions are being strongly contested for by Smith and Anderson. Atkinson, a weight man of last year's track team, is making everyone hustle to hold down the center job. With Archer's expected return a three-cornered fight will result between Lord, Atkinson and Archer for the pivot. Atkinson, although generally a guard, is very good in the center. Archer was a substitute last year and he undoubtedly will return as soon as the fruit is gathered in his home orchard, the orchard work having been left to him when his three brothers recently joined the navy. Kelty, a new man, is showing up very well for his aggressiveness and is used consistently at end. Vandervoort, Huelen and Strahim are still uncertainties.

Coach Gauthier asserts that the coming schedule is the hardest that any M. A. C. team has ever gone through, with four big games, Michigan, Notre Dame, Northwestern and Syracuse, all coming within a little over a month. Following the Michigan game will come two smaller games, and beginning November 10 a big game each Saturday until the end of the season. According to the dope, however, all the other teams, except Syracuse, are in the same condition as M. A. C. with regard to the matériel available. Practically all of them must depend upon building up entirely new aggregations. It is expected that Coach Brewer will return to M. A. C. towards the end of the week. The twenty-one men are working very promisingly, indeed, but the mentors are depending upon a number of good finds in the new material which will arrive when college opens. Without doubt the squad will be greatly enlarged at that time.

LANSING M. A. C. HOME GUARDS GET UNIFORMS.

The Lansing-M. A. C. Home Guard company has been active during the summer and has taken part in several public military demonstrations. The first of these was an inspection in the latter part of July, in which a competitive drill was one of the chief features. As a result of the drill the company was awarded equipment by the state to consist of a choice of either 50 rifles or 50 uniforms. Since the use of rifles had already been obtained the uniforms were chosen.

As soon as the drafted men were organized a number of the M. A. C. company offered their services as drill masters and for nearly a month previous to the first demonstrative fight to Battle Creek they were drilled by different members of the M. A. C. company.

The M. A. C. company is also given credit for having helped plan and carry out the two farewell demonstrations for the drafted men. Judge Collingwood, '85, was one of the headliners on the program of talks to the men of the national army. Before leaving for the cantonment each member of the new national army called from Lansing, was presented with a program and a personalized book, which were made by the women of Lansing and the M. A. C. home guard company were responsible for their filling, which was provided for by a committee headed by A. D. Baker, '89. The books contained, besides the housewife, toilet articles, towels, drinking cup, cards and other items intended for the comfort of the soldiers in camp.

During the summer the wives of the home guard company together with unattached M. A. C. women in Lansing formed an organization and some very interesting meetings were held at the various homes. Mrs. F. E. Wood (Helen Esseltyne, '09) was the originator of the idea and during the meetings, which were held in the afternoons, serving was done for the Red Cross and war relief. One of the meetings held at the home of Zeilin Goodell, '11, was followed by a picnic supper attended by the men.

The company is made up almost entirely of M. A. C. men. Following the recent promotion of Captain McKibbin to the majorship of the Lansing battalion of state troops, H. C. Pratt, '06, was elected captain, A. S. Van Heteren, '07, first lieutenant, and C. H. Hall, '13, second lieutenant.

DEPARTMENTAL NOTES.

C. W. Bennett from Kentucky State University and C. F. Murphy of Pennsylvania State College, who are to be graduate assistants in the botany department during the coming year, have arrived on the campus.

Dr. Lyman has been busy during the summer examining veterinarians for the officers' reserve corps for the army. Examinations have been held every Friday afternoon and of over seventy-five veterinarians taking examinations, about sixty have been given commissions. Dr. Lyman is the state examiner for the officers' reserve corps. In the veterinary course, which started in August, seventeen students have enrolled. These consist of about seven seniors and ten underclassmen and represent about all of the students in these classes who could arrange to return. It is an interesting fact that of the twenty-six graduates to date from the veterinary department all but eight have been commissioned as veterinarians in the regular army or the officers' reserve corps.

Clive R. Magee, graduate of the University of Missouri, lately teaching at Cameron, Missouri, comes to M. A. C. to become assistant in the farm crops department. J. R. Duncan is also an addition in that department and will aid in the corn campaign in extension work as well as serve as an assistant in farm crops.

Professor French announces that all of the girls of the 1917 class who cared to teach were located in schools early in September. This is considered unusual since last year at that time a large number were without positions. Practically all will teach domestic science.

SMITH-PICKWELL.

Announcement has just been received of the marriage of George Edward Smith to I. Irene Pickwell on June 27, at Medina, N. Y.

WANDELL-BENNETT.

Missie L. Bennett, '11, and Edmund P. Wandell, '11, were married August 21 at Grand Rapids, Michigan. Wandell is now attending the second officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan and it is understood that Mrs. Wandell intends to continue her teaching in the Grand Rapids schools.
