NORTHERN OHIOANS IN ANNUAL MEETING.

The fourth annual reunion of the M. A. C. Association of Northern Ohio was held Saturday evening, Feb. 23rd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Driskel, '02, 2122 Surry Rd., Cleveland Heights. The twenty-two present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Loomis; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Appleyard, '00; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Driskel, '02; Mr. and Mrs. David Moonaw, '07; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Parker, '97; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Valentine, '09; Madame Coats (Lydia Trattles, '00); Mrs. F. S. Curtis, '01; G. W. White, '04; Roy LaDue, '09; S. S. Fisher, '09; F. B. Love, '17; A. L. Pino, '17.

In view of the fact that the college were not in position to send a delegate and due to the present national crisis the committee of the M. A. C. Association of Northern Ohio decided not to hold the usual banquet but to hold a party.

Nearly at the last minute the committee was disappointed to learn that the hall engaged had been through some misunderstanding previously engaged to another party; for a time it appeared that we were to be compelled to postpone the reunion but to our pleasant surprise H. G. Driskel and wife came to the rescue and offered their home which was gladly accepted.

The evening was taken up in playing various games cleverly planned by the committee after which a very delightful lunch was served by the committee after which a very delightful lunch was served by the committee.

Following the banquet President Kedzie, who presided, introduced Judge Collingwood, '85, who gave the invocation. The address of the president was directed both to our men in service and to that part of the M. A. C. family who must stay at home and keep the home fires burning. It was by all means the largest banquet ever undertaken.

The hall was simply decorated with flags and evergreens, and blue and white streamers from the ceiling, the decorations being those used by the juniors for their hop in the gymnasium the night before. Previous to the banquet a reception for the Camp Custer men was held in the armory and at 12:30 with the band leading all marched to the banquet room.

A splendid banquet was served, one that was appreciated the more from the fact that it was entirely prepared on the campus. The direction of the banquet and its preparation was the work of Miss Edmonds and Miss Garmany. The largest banquet ever undertaken.

The largest gathering of the M. A. C. family — students, faculty and friends—that has been known in some years assembled Friday noon, Washington's birthday for the banquet of the M. A. C. Union honoring M. A. C. soldiers at Camp Custer. The dinner was held in the new gymnastium and the long tables set for 700 banqueters completely filled the large auditorium. G. H. ALLEN, '09 LAUNCHES ENGINEERING FIRM.

G. H. Allen, '09, who for the past three years has been factory manager for the Detroit Starter Co., has entered into business with J. T. Boone in the development of an engineering practice in Detroit. The new partnership will undertake industrial engineering problems, drafting, designing and developing in electrical and chemical engineering lines and the designing of tools, dies and fixtures for rapid production.

Allen became associated with his partner last summer and has been more or less engaged with him since that time, but did not resign his position with the Detroit Starter Co. until January. At the present time the company is designing all the dies for the Liberty truck engines. Some of his designs have been manufactured very profitably by outside companies. We have a fairly well equipped electrical laboratory and with our various connections in Detroit are able to handle any kind of electrical physical or chemical analysis or tests. For the chemical work we are depending on my father and are equipping a laboratory of our own.

For his many M. A. C. friends the Revue extends best wishes for the success of the new undertaking.

HODGKINS, '17, SURVIVOR OF TUSCANY.

Word has just been received here by Prof. Chittenden that Philip M. Hodgkins, '17, "Tip," was aboard the Tuscania when it was sunk off the Irish coast. Hodgkins was with Co. D, 10th Battalion, 20th Engineers (Forestry).

Information of his being aboard the vessel did not appear on any of the lists received in Michigan, which listed only Michigan and Wisconsin men.

Hodgkins was a graduate assistant in the forestry department after graduation and served there most of the full term, having left about December 1 to enlist in the 29th engineers.

THE M. A. C. RECORD

THE UNION BANQUET.

The Union banquet in honor of Camp Custer soldiers was from beginning to end an "all college" affair. It was the largest gathering of the college family in some time, and was undeniably the biggest undertaking in the way of a banquet that M. A. C. has ever attempted.

The fact that such a banquet for 700 persons can be arranged and handled by college people alone and that it may be followed by such an address as was given by one of our own number, demonstrates the wonderful resources of the institution. The gymnasium in its incomplete state had no facilities whatever for handling the affair—everything had to be prepared outside and brought in. Tables, chairs, serving facilities, gas stoves for keeping the prepared food hot while it was being served, were all brought in for the occasion. But there was the common cause, that of showing appreciation to our fellows in service and bidding those who are soon to leave a good-bye and Godspeed, and everyone from the president down, attacked the problem with energy and worked hard to make the meeting a success. The magnitude of the finished task and the effort it brought forth may be taken by all M. A. C.'s soldiers as a token of the appreciation the college feels for her men representing her in the present conflict, and the esteem with which she holds them. The banquet was the honor M. A. C. soldiers and every man in uniform may feel that, though thousands of miles intervene between his camp and Alma Mater, had he been present he would have filled his seat among the honored guests.

Someone remarked that there were more faculty and teaching force out than had been together in any sort of public college meeting in years. It was especially fine that the gymnasium could have been available for this banquet in honor of our soldiers.

It was the first use of the gymnasium by the college as a whole and showed the new auditorium splendid adaptability as a general meeting place for the big college community. The fact that 700 can be seated very comfortably in the auditorium and have plenty of room for elbows and for serving speaks of the size of the new gymnasium hall. Its facilities will from now on add materially to the social life and the development of closer relations between all of us of the college community. Even in its unfinished state it proved its wonderful worth on Washington's birthday. In years ahead it must be a great force in maintaining the democratic spirit of M. A. C. and in the unbuilding of college spirit through the opportunities it will open for large meetings and social gatherings of the college family.

OUR FIRST SACRIFICE.

The first gold star on the college service flag shines for William R. Johnson, '12. He was the first graduate of M. A. C. to give his life in the present struggle, the first of the men representing us to have fallen in the world war for democracy. Not fallen either, rather helplessly taken by a ruthless enemy before his opportunity to fight came. In his last letter to the RECORD written early in January he signed himself as corporal "Bill" Johnson and told of his work in camp and the fact that they were polishing off their "squash right, harts," an expression very typical of M. A. C. With the life of Corporal Johnson our first great sacrifice has been made. The spirit of M. A. C. has answered the call for service and for sacrifice is the cause of democracy.

WM. R. JOHNSON, '12.

Final reports on the sinking of the Tuscania have placed the name of Wm. R. Johnson, '12, among those buried on the Scotch coast. This was not established for over a week from the date of the sinking of the ship, several conflicting reports having been received by Michigan papers and by his parents, relative to his fate.

Wm. R. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, prominent farmers of Hadley, was born June 26, 1891. He attended the Hadley high school, and graduated from the high school of Lapeer in 1908. He then entered M. A. C. finishing in 1912. Upon graduation he returned to the home farm near Lapeer and gave himself unstintingly to the management of the 260-acre farm. He was very active in church and community work and represented the Baptist church on the town federated committee. He was president of the farmers' club the last two years and was particularly interested in boys' work, athletics, corn clubs, etc. He was also a member of the community glee club, president of the literary society, and was prominent in all of the social and community affairs of Hadley.

He went to Camp Custer November 19, after having made application through Prof. Chittenden for the 20th Engineers (Forestry). His mother writes: "He wanted to go to Ft. Sheridan last spring, but realizing how we needed him here at home, as he had practically assumed the management of our 260-acre farm, he remained with us." At Camp Custer he was assigned to the depot brigade and was then transferred to the medical supply office of the base hospital early in December. His application by that time had been acted upon for the 29th Engineers and he left Camp Custer December 17 for Washington, D. C., where he was in training with the forestry regiment at American University Camp.

He leaves his parents, a brother, Bert, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Hartwig, who attended M. A. C. in 1911-12.

During the time that he was in college "Bill" was widely known about the campus. He was prominent in class athletics, having been manager of the class baseball team in his sophomore year and playing with the team through its four years. In his senior year he was president of the Athenaenm society.

The pastor of his church at Hadley writes the following: "No undertaking of a public nature seemed complete without his having a part in it. His unusual thoughtfulness for the folks at home so that they would not know of his going over until he could cable home "Safe in France."
But it was not to be. The cruel blow of the assassin was struck. He was the first martyr from our neighborhood for the cause of world democracy. That he was widely known and loved is evident from the many letters of sympathy to his parents from every part of the state, each expressing what his life and friendship had meant to them."

Much of the success of the affair was due to the efforts of the home who served the banquet, as well as to Director Brewer and his committee

SIXTY-FIVE M. A. C. MEN ENROUTE OVERSEAS.

Men of the 119 F. A. and the 409 Motor Train Get Together at Port of Embarkation.

Dear "Mae":

While the present students at M. A. C. are keeping the night flight fantastic tonight at the J-Hop some 65 former Aggies are dreamily gazing into the camp fire picturing such former days when all was peace with us. Yes, there are 65 of the present waiting the arrival of our transports to take us "over there." The 119th Field Artillery are stationed here and in this regiment there are 14 officers who hail from M. A. C. and 35 enlisted men who proudly proclaim this same Alma Mater. The 409th Motor Train boasts of six Aggies. The Ordnance Corps has five and the Ordnance Corps has three and the Ambulance Corps the same number. Undoubtedly there are others whom we have not as yet seen.

With a hearty "Hello" to all, we are, "THE BUNCH."

P. S.—"Mae": The boys stuck this paper and pen in my hands and asked me to write at their dictation—hence the message, but keep my name out as I'm innocent.

ENCE TRANCE OF ENGINEERING STUDENTS IN E. R. C. OPEN TO MEN NOW IN SERVICE.

The chief of engineers of the war department has recently announced that through the direction of the secretary of war, enlisted men in the army now in active service who entered the service by voluntary enlistment after September 1, 1917, and who were eligible at the time for enlistment or induction into military service under the regulations covering enlistment of engineering students in the engineering branch of the enlisted reserve corps, may be transferred to the engineers enlisted reserve corps and placed upon the inactive list for the purpose of completing courses in approved technical schools.

Dean Bissell is corresponding with all engineering students who have entered the service after September 1, 1917, and who are eligible for the engineering enlisted reserve corps, with the idea of making known to them the new action of the war department offering them an opportunity to return to complete their college work. The new order requires that the expenses of the transfer from his present camp or assignment back to his college must be borne by the soldier and the application for a transfer by soldiers without the boundaries of the United States will be entertained only under exceptional circumstances. Each candidate for transfer must submit an application for the transfer to the chief of engineers before action may be taken. The transfer, if approved, will be arranged to take effect in each individual case at such time as to give the United States the use of the man's services and the individual the benefit of the military training up to the date at which he can resume his studies, at about the point at which they were interrupted by his enlistment or induction into military service. Each application must be accompanied by a certificate by the president or dean of the institution showing that the applicant will be permitted to resume his regular course and that he is eligible as indicated by his academic records for enlistment in the engineers enlisted reserve corps. The qualifications set by the War Department for the entrance of students into the enlisted reserve corps require that the scholastic work done by the applicant must be such as to rate him in a class with the first three years of men who have graduated from the institution during the past ten years.

It is thought by Dean Bissell that a number of the men who would be juniors and seniors this year who are now at Camp Custer and other cantonments in the United States may wish to avail themselves of this opportunity to complete their studies and fit themselves for usefulness to the army and the nation.

FORMER M. A. C. COACH SELECTED FOR "Y" COMMISSION TO RUSSIA.

Rev. C. O. Bemies, who was professor of physical culture at M. A. C. during the years 1899, 1900-01, has just been appointed to the Y. M. C. A. commission to Russia as an ambassador of American country life to the new republic.

Mr. Bemies has been pastor of the Presbyterian church of McLellandtown, Penn., for a number of years, and has been a social worker in rural communities. So successful has he been in making his church a community center that he has attracted the attention of the whole country to this particular work.

During the summers of 1910 and 1911 he was brought back by Dr. Snyder to lecture at the two first conferences for rural ministers held at the college. Mr. Bemies has been in army Y. M. C. A. work, having been religi­ ous director at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., since last September. He owes his selection on the Commission to the reputedly he has gained throughout the United States as a "realistic idealist" regarding country life on which he has spoken in many towns and cities throughout the middle west, New York, and the New England states. Two of his sons are engaged in Army work.
J HOP IN NEW GYMNASIUM.

This year's junior hop was an unusual event in more ways than one. In the first place it marked the opening and was the first use to which the new gymnasium has been put by the college. Secondly, the hop was unique in that it was a strictly home affair, both banquet and dance being arranged by college people and held on the campus, and the decorations, pleasing and sufficient, although not of the usual elaborate nature, were planned and executed entirely by members of the class.

The banquet and reception were held in the Woman's building and the party adjourned about 9 to the gymnasium for dancing. The banquet was prepared in Club C and served by sophomore girls. The toasts were especially good, the general theme of those responding being descriptive of the work of the 1919 class "in the trenches." President J. L. Engels presided as toastmaster and the following responded: Zero Hour, C. F. Ramsey; Artillery Barrage, Claudice Cober; Over the Top, Russell Montgomery; No Man's Land, Gertrude Rogers; Rest Billets, Newton Reed.

The gymnasium hall was very tastily decorated with flags and greens. A blue and white canopy effected by parallel strips of crepe paper covered the hall being draped from the ceiling to the galleries. The service flag was effectively displayed at one end of the long hall. Evergreens were used to camouflage piles of lumber and unfinished spots of the side wall, for the gymnasium hall is as yet uncompleted.

About 200 persons attended the party, a number of former students who would have been juniors and seniors attending from Camp Custer. The patrons were President and Mrs. Kedzie, Secretary and Mrs. Brown, prof, and Mrs. Vedder, Dean White and Miss Yakeley. The guests were Governor and Mrs. Sleeper and the governor's staff, including Colonel Bersey, Major Peterman, and Captain Hume, Mayor and Mrs. Wrightson, Director Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. James Hasselman, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McRibbin, Byron Murray and R. J. DeMond.

The unfinished floor had been smoothed off and sanded for the occasion and the music furnished by Shook's colored orchestra of Detroit made the dancers forget that they were tripping on the pine sub flooring instead of the one-inch hard maple surface that will grace the completed hall. Juniors entertained their guests next day at the Union banquet in honor of Camp Custer men, and the Union dance afterward.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing check. * * * I called on J. Rodney Abbott (class of '84) near San Gabriel, yesterday. He has sold out his milk business and leased his dairy farm recently. He has a fine boy of 4½ years. Has just sold his crop of seedling oranges, on the trees, from six acres, for six thousand dollars. We are getting beautiful sunnyshiny weather but disastrously dry. Less than one-tenth of the usual amount of rain has fallen, thus far this winter. No grain sown nor sugar beets planted. All the ranchers waiting for rain.

Sincerely,

J. Satterlee, Class of '69.

203 W. 47 Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

WITH THE COLORS

Maurice H. Pancost, '18, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pancost, West Michigan Ave., who is a radio operator on the United States ship Antigone, writes of his experiences on the Atlantic in his first trip overseas:

"The war zone is a thing that is vague and indefinite to those comfortably, seated at home with their feet to the fire, as they read in the daily papers that this and that ship has been mined or torpedoed there.

"To the soldier in training, to the sailor on our own coasts, it is a symbol of excitation. It is only after the Statue of Liberty is 1,500 miles behind that a general realization of what the war zone is begins to creep into the mind of the man going to Europe.

"It was Christmas eve when the Antigone entered the dangerous area. The life boats had been swung out, the crew drilled in abandoning ship, the guns tested, and lookouts doubled, so that all was prepared to give Fritz a warm reception if he desired one.

"What little sleeping was to be done was done with clothes on and a life preserver at hand. The first shock of the war zone came over the radio, a ship was torpedoed in the Mediterranean sea, and the faint S. O. S. call was picked up. Submarine warnings came fast and frequent, telling of subs sighted in territory over which our course led.

"Christmas passed quietly with the shock of the war zone coming over the mind of the man going to Europe.

"The bay soon swarmed with sub chasers and destroyers and two military aeroplanes circled overhead. Shortly after we were safe behind the nets.

Maurice H. Pancost, '18

MEN IN SERVICE.

The RECORD wants service snap shots. We should be very glad to use in the RECORD any snap shots of M. A. C. soldiers in camp or at war. A number of war record forms have come in unaccompanied by photographs. Please furnish photographs if you have not already done so, that our records may be complete. If you do not have a large photograph of yourself small snap shots will do provided they are sharp and clear and large enough for reproduction.
