Membership is $2.00 a year which includes subscription to the Record.
The S. A. T. C. Unit will probably be continued until June 30, 1919, according to word received from the war department this week by the collegiate division of the training unit. No word has been received yet regarding the disposition of the vocational division of 540 men, who were expected to leave the campus on November 15. In the meantime these boys are being held and given additional training, while the authorities wait for orders in the matter. Rather broad changes will be made in the program of work for the Section A men, especially after the first of the year.

Modifications are already in force. Of the seven senior officers on the military staff of the college, six are ready to return to civilian life. If their percentage is kept up throughout the time-honored college traditions, there will be no monopoly, which being so, all old graduates, and guards not so old, are invited to be present to participate in and partake of the fruits of victory. A cheering section is being reserved at Madison for M. A. C. roosters, seats in which can be obtained by writing to the director of athletics, University of Wisconsin, with a request for reservations in the M. A. C. block.

M. A. C. Freshmen are at last having a taste of real college life, in spite of the presence of military authorities and generally upset conditions. Inspired by the declaration of peace the few upperclassmen who are not in the S. A. T. C. decided to see to it that the "regular" freshmen, who number about 75, observed some of the time-honored college traditions. Freshmen caps are now much in evidence: cutting across the lawns has been stopped; and it has even been rumored that the Red Cedar has not been altogether without its customary fall batters. While these "Sophomore" activities are strictly unofficial, they are a pretty healthy sign and indicate that it will not take long for the undergraduate body to complete the switch to normal campus conditions when the opportunity is presented.

The vaunted fighting spirit of the Aggies seems this fall to have lost none of its old force—at least such manifestations of it as are an accompaniment of mass meetings have been as visible in any of the balmy days of yore. Mass meetings were preludes to both the Purdue and the Notre Dame games, while another is on call for tomorrow evening to prime the squad for its appointment with the University of Michigan at Ferry Field Saturday. Students, faculty and members of the military staff of the college have all co-operated in the pep-fests. Thus Major William E. Marchie, Coach George E. Gauthier and Dr. Howard Glitner appeared upon the platform as heralds of the engagement with Purdue: Coach Ion Cortright, Lieut. Joseph F. Lessig and Judge C. B. Collingwood were the stimulators of enthusiasm before the game with Notre Dame, while Lee (otherwise "Pete") Bancroft and Edmund Shields have been nominated to provoke the proper anti-Michigan spirit for the game with the Wolverines. All the meetings are being conducted in the college gymnasium, as the old armory is still doing service as a barracks for Company A of the vocational unit.

The M. A. C. Union, which for a number of months had been in a somnambulant or semi-deceased condition, came back to life last Saturday evening with a great kicking of heels. The Union engineered an all-college dancing party in the gymnasium, where co-eds were given their first official opportunity for making the acquaintance of the boys who make up the student army training corps. The introduction appeared to be mutually agreeable. Among the "out of town" guests during the evening were Mr. "Salty" Spencer, '15; Lieut. Karl Fisher, '17; Miss Ruth Beebe, '14, and Miss Fern Ferris, '19.

The officers who are stationed on the campus gave a military ball on the evening of November 16, entertaining at the Hotel Downey with a banquet and dancing. Forty couples, including about fifteen guests of the "military," participated in the function. Lieut. J. F. Lessig was in charge of the arrangements.

The famous M. A. C. band will be on hand for the Michigan game, and will, as usual, accompany the team and the cheering section on the special train. Under the leadership of Prof. A. J. Clark, the musical organization has reached its old time standard of efficiency, and plenty of rousing music is sure to float out from the Aggie section at the big game.
PERROTTET DIES IN FRANCE.

Name of Perrottet, Illinois Boy With '19, Is Added to Roll of Honor.

A gold star is gleaming in the service flag of the college in memory of Laverne Perrottet, Ag, with '19, who was killed instantly on June 15 by a German shell that burst in his gun pit in the front line trenches. Friends only a few days ago learned of his death.

Perrottet attended college a year, entering in 1915 with his class of 1919, from his home city, Whetston, Ill. The details of his death were communicated to Mrs. Perrottet, his mother. In a letter written to a friend of hers by Junius B. Wood, the famous war correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, a copy of this letter follows:

"Dear Mary,

I suppose before this you have heard of Verne Perrottet's death. I finally was within twenty-five miles of my company today and made the trip to find him. The lieutenant who was there said that only two men had been killed in his platoon and that he was one of them. He had made a good record and came through all the fighting without a scratch. The last night, June 15, I believe, they were in before they were to be relieved, he was in a gun pit with another man up in the front line. A shell made a direct hit on their little hole and killed both of them. It is more than likely the other man was little more than scratched. He was struck in the breast. The lieutenant said he wrote to his father immediately. He is buried in the Bois de Belleau, where so many other young Americans lie. This is not a cheery letter, but I had a presentiment that I would never see him, as I had missed him so often and tried so long to get through to him.

Yours,

JUNIUS B. WOOD.

JULY 8, 1918.

GOOD TIME AT ALUMNI LUNCHEON.

The home-coming luncheon for alumni, which was held in the People's church, East Lansing, on Saturday, November 16, was an exceptionally enjoyable gathering. Nearly one hundred M. A. C. men partook of the dinner, which was served by the women's club of the church.

W. O. Hedrick acted as master of ceremonies for the speakers, and introduced the orators with his customary humor. Honorary president Kedzie, Prof. Woodworth, '86, of the Lewis Institute, Chicago, Mr. Ranney, 1900, of Greenville, Mich., and Rev. McCune, '91, pastor of the East Lansing church, were the speakers.

Outside of East Lansing, Howell, Mich., was more fully represented than any other community. Six M. A. C. families from that town were in "attendance.

The gathering was one of the most successful luncheons ever held by the alumni.

WOLVERINE MANAGERS CALL FOR ALUMNI SUPPORT.

The present Junior class has decided to publish the Wolverine this year, unsettled conditions on the campus notwithstanding. Last year's class got out a very creditable book, in spite of various handicaps, and the present editors and managers are determined to keep the long string of Wolverines unbroken.

Financial difficulties will, of course, be great, with the price of all material high and the number of prospective undergraduate subscribers low.

The men in charge of the publication are consequently making an appeal for support from the alumni. The book will contain all the old features and a number of splendid war "extras" which will make the Wolverine as interesting and valuable for graduates as for active students.

The editor makes the following announcement:

"All alumni who still feel a warm spot in their hearts for the college and want to see it stand up under the present crisis will send in their Wolverine orders at once to Edward C. McKibbin, Business Manager of the Wolverine, Box 522, East Lansing, or to any other member of the Junior class, who will see that the order is placed. A deposit of $1.50 is required with the order. Those who order in the near future will have their names engraved upon the cover free of charge."

Word that girls may have parties during the term has been given out. Conditions brought about by the presence of the S. A. T. C. and the restrictions on dance activities which were held over the men caused the girls to give up hope of having their full term dances. An arrangement has been made, however, whereby those fortunate enough to receive invitations will be able to have those dances for the evening. The authorities in the Women's Building have consequently given permission for parties which comply with war-time regulations, and several of the societies are looking forward to entertain in the near future.
MANY TO INVADE ANN ARBOR.

Early Calls For Reservations Foretell Record Turn-out of M. A. C. Folk at Michigan Game.

Not since 1912 has there been such a rush for reservations for the M. A. C.-Michigan game as has come this week with the near approach of the invasion of Ann Arbor. A feeling, amounting almost to a certainty, that M. A. C. has an unusually strong team, and the presentment that a “reinvasion” of old glories is about due, have contributed to the inflaming of interest. The prospect today was that the largest delegation of rooters that ever followed an M. A. C. team into action on Ferry Field will convoy the squad to Ann Arbor.

The main body of M. A. C. rooters will enthrall at the college siding. In the rear of the Engineering building, at 8 o’clock Saturday morning, with the ’varsity band striking up “Are we all dead yet?” and the regiment of cadets acting as escort. A special dispensation which will make it possible for the M. A. C. band to furnish a rush for reservations for the M. A. game that comes only by living away from their own army cots. As for the prospects at Madison, they should be excellent for victory, for irrespective of what the squad does tomorrow on Ferry Field it should be going better by Thanksgiv­

The game will afford members of the squad their first—and also their last—opportunity for getting outside the boundaries of the state this year, for thus far all engagements have been played at home. The meeting at Ann Arbor, which is scarcely considered as “out of town” of the only appointment, aside from the Wisconsin game, that is taking the boys away from their own army cots.

!THE M. A. C. RECORD.

Also the word is circulating that barring possible irreparable losses at Ann Arbor tomorrow, the team ought to be able to repeat on what its forerunners of 1913 were able to do, for while M. A. C. is more than commonly strong this fall, Wisconsin is reported to be just a little feeble.

So much for the way the alumni felt about it. Speaking now for the benefit of the football team, it was a deserved success achieved by superior team work under adverse conditions.

So much for the way the alumni felt about it. Speaking now for the benefit of the football team, it was a deserved success achieved by superior team work under adverse conditions.

The play opened with the Aggies taking the hit in their teeth in the first quarter. Graves, Snider, Ferris and Dunphy carrying the ball almost to Notre Dame’s 5-yard line by a series of swift charges. Graves cleaned up the last 20 yards by slipping a pretty for­ward pass to Young, who placed the ball behind the visitors’ goal for the first touchdown. There was no further scoring in this quarter.

Notre Dame, in the fashion of Notre Dame fashion in the second quarter, the fighting Irishmen driving M. A. C. into its own end of the yard by a number of end runs, varied with an occasional line bick. These last didn’t work very well against the home forwards. Mohn finally bucked through center for the touchdown, and Gipp kicking goal, making the score 7 to 0. The Aggies failed to make any points for goal in the first quarter.

Gipp and Bahan in the Notre Dame backfield furnished the Catholics with most of their gains—Gipp, in fact, proved to be the day’s sensation and the most dangerous backfielder that has been seen on an M. A. C. field since carp Julian was in his prime.

It was the work of the squad following the commencement of the second half, how­ever, that most gladdened the old grads. With the score standing 7 to 6 against them, and faced by one of the west’s most powerful elevens, the squad came back to the fray with the finest display of the football spirit of tradition that has been witnessed on M. A. C. gridiron in years. The visitors kicked off to Ferris who came back 20 yards, whereupon Snider was off 25 yards around left end; Schweil helped with 15 by receiving a forward pass from Archer, and Ferris added still another 15 by scooping up a second forward pass from Archer, placing the ball on Notre Dame’s 15-yard line. Messrs. Graves and Dunphy brought the advance to a fitting culmination with line-bucks, a la Exelby, Graves finally placing the pigskin on the Notre Dame side of the goal by crashing through a hole that most non­

The final quarter was devoted to defensive tactics by the Aggies, who were content, when Notre Dame be­came too venturous, to punt back out of danger, giving Notre Dame the op­portunity to fumble. Attempts to score by forward passing were well spoiled, the visitors never coming closer than 30 yards to the scoring zone in this period.
