AN OLD-TIME "DOWN TOWN" CELEBRATION such as students and Lansing Saturday nighters have not known since the fall of 1916 was indulged in Saturday night following the South Dakota victory. The parade had the band, the snake dance, and the usual songs and yells but it differed from former evening processions in that the custom of night shirts was left at home in the bureau draw. Possibly the recollection of the high charge on the last laundry ticket induced the leaders to declare the usual night parade garb taboo. Nevertheless student energy broke through bounds which had held the boys in leash two years and 500 M. A. C undergraduates and some from frantically actuated by long-pent energy, staged a celebration at the corner of Michigan and Capitol avenues in honor of the football triumph. So effervescant was the enthusiasm that the combined efforts of the police and fire departments had difficulty to squelch it. Headed by the college military band every alley and corner was searched for boxes and barrels and a big pile of rubbish was placed under the shadow of the capitol dome, where, in pre-war years the Aggies were wont to celebrate victories over Michigan and, in war time, the citizens used to celebrate Liberty loan drives by burning the kaiser in effigy. A torch was applied to the rubbish pile and soon long streaks of red flame shot skyward and lit up the capitol square with the red light of victory. A telephone call from the police department told the fire department that there was a fire and soon the big pumping engines were on the scene. The fire department then took hand and tried to put out the blaze. As soon as a stream of water was started toward the burning box pile some enterprising student cut the hose. Soon cold water geysers sprang up the entire hose length. Finally, the firemen conquered. The students did not flee in consternation but marched in order while the band played "We rambled, we rambled, till the bully hose length. Finally, the firemen con-

THE M. A. C. RECORD

Entered as second-class matter October 30, 1916, at the post office at East Lansing, Michigan, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Published every Friday during the College Year by the Michigan Agricultural College Association.

To keep alive and encourage the spirit of democracy and loyalty for which M. A. C. is famous wherever her name is known, and to enable young men and women of moderate means to receive training at our Alma Mater, let us work consistently toward the end that every student at M. A. C. may enjoy dormitory privileges if he desires them. Alumni should lay their plans now for the dormitory program.

CENTRAL MICH. ASS'N RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF DR. SNYDER.

To Mrs. J. L. Snyder and Sons:

In recognition of the inestimable service rendered to our Alma Mater by our former president, Dr. Jonathan L. Snyder, we, The Central Michigan M. A. C. Alumni Association, express to you our sincerest sympathy in your loss and bereavement.

His unselfish interest—his devotion in raising our college from one of obscurity to a position of leadership and prominence among the colleges of the land—his zeal and love for a democratic college spirit—his work of cheer and encouragement to the student body, the work he has done in the raising of our college from one of obscurity to a position of leadership and prominence among the colleges of the land—his zeal and love for a democratic college spirit—his work of cheer and encouragement to the student body, and his wise guidance in building up the college from a present day record to be a lasting monument to his great life.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED.

Under the direction of the William Riker Johnson Post of the American Legion, Armistice Day, November 11, was observed with an appropriate program. Classes were dispensed with for the day, and exercises were held in the gymnasium. The morning and the college community enjoyed a Union Party in the afternoon. All college departments were closed for the day.

At 9:30 in the morning the students gathered by classes and marched into the gymnasium for the exercises arranged by the American Legion. The program opened with the singing of America which was followed by an invocation by Reverend Behrens, the student pastor. Professor Rider gave a very instructive talk on the singing of the armistice, pointing out the conditions which led to the signing of the armistice, and describing the meeting of the representatives of the Allies and the German government in the railroad car at a little village in northern France. Hon. William Potter, former state senator and a member of the public utilities commission, gave the address of the morning which teemed with patriotism and brought forth much applause from the audience.

HOME COMING LARGEST EVER.

Alumni—600 or More—Visit the Campus of Alma Mater.

The biggest Home-Coming which the college has had for several years, and probably the biggest in its history, was held last Saturday, November 8. Two hundred and fifty were present at the alumni banquet, and it is estimated that at least 600 graduates and former students were back for the game. From start to finish, the day was even more successful than the most optimistic hoped for it, and everyone was pleased on the whole with the way things went and advertised the college.

Mass Meeting.

An old-fashioned mass meeting, which served to open the festivities on Friday evening. Many of the old "studies" came back a little early to be present at this meeting. H. B. Gunnison, '00, president of the Detroit M. A. C. Club, E. W. Ranney, '00, of Greenville, director of the Memorial Building Fund Campaign in Michigan, L. Whitney Watkins, '93, member-elect of the State Board of Agriculture, and Wm. F. Johnston, '91, county agent at Roscommon, Michigan, and father of Stanley Johnston, '20, all gave short talks. The Girls, Aga Vets, Foresters, and Engineers, each put on a vaudeville stunt. Lankey's "Fight Song," led by the band and J. S. Taylor of the music department, was rehearsed. "Fat" Taylor, '15, and "Ted" England, '17, led the yell, and the old and new fellows and girls "Skinny-wow-wowed" boisterously.

DORMITORIES—SHALL WE GET THEM?

Twenty years ago, one hundred per cent of our men at M. A. C. lived in dormitories on the campus, ten years ago forty per cent, while today only fourteen per cent may enjoy that privilege. Ten years ago with an enrollment of 575 men, M. A. C. had three men dormitories with a capacity of 400 men students, and today with 1100 regular men in the college, only 156 may be accommodated on the campus. With old "Bills" gone, and "Abbey" turned over to the girls, Wells Hall is the only survivor of the dormitory days.

We have long looked forward to the erection of an administration building and an auditorium, and now with the prospect of the loan bill in the building, let us turn our eyes dormitory-ward.

Last spring when the appropriation bill for $750,000 was very doubtful of passage, our loyal former students, W. K. Prudden, '78, Lansing—President E. W. Ranney, '09, Greenville—Vice President, H. H. THE M. A. C. RECORD.
Luncheon.

The alumni luncheon, which was held at 12 o'clock in Club C in the women's building, was attended by 250 old students and friends. Many tickets were reserved at the eleventh hour, or to be exact at 11; the demand was greater than the supply and tickets were at a premium. Extra seats were put at the tables and room was made for everybody. Mr. J. S. Taylor, chairman of the executive committee, assisted by Miss Margaret Hultenstein, '20, led in the rehearsal of Lanke's Fight Song, and M. H. Small, '22, gave two very amusing ukulele ditties during the dinner. In the absence of W. K. Prudden, '78, president of the M. A. C. Association, Vice President E. W. Ranney, '06, called the meeting to order for a very short business session. A resolution was passed that the Association, in view of the long years of service which Dr. Snyder had rendered to the college and his accomplishment, appoint a committee to draft resolutions to show the appreciation of the old graduates for his work here. The members appointed on this committee were Judge C. B. Collingwood, '35, Lansing, chairman, Luther Baker, '92, Lansing, and C. H. Parker, '06, Saginaw.

Parade.

Immediately after the luncheon the old students formed by classes and marched to the athletic field. The parade was led by Mrs. William McBain (Eva D. Coryell), '79, of Grand Rapids, who was the first woman to graduate from M. A. C. She was the only '79 representative although in her class were eighteen men besides herself. '69 was represented by Mr. James Satterlee of Lansing, but he did not march in the parade. Seats were reserved for the alumni at the athletic field, and they were not outdone by the most enthusiastic underclassmen in supporting the team with songs and yells. The '18 Club, made up of former '18 men who were in the service, put on the stunts between halves and showed the visitors how to play football. Representing Mor- rill and Wells Hall, they were led onto the field by a jazz clown band. A real life-sized tree was used by the head lineman to measure off the rill and Wells Hall, they were led to play football. CAVALRY AND COAST ARTILLERY R. O. T. C. UNITS.

Two new divisions which are just being added to the R. O. T. C. unit at M. A. C. are those in cavalry and coast artillery. In establishing units in branches, other than infantry, in the colleges and universities in which military training is taught, the War Department has recognized the need of men especially trained in these lines and the advisability of offering a training in the more specialized branches of the army, that will fit in with the specialized training they receive in the colleges.

Two new officers have been assigned to the R. O. T. C. Staff to supervise the work in the cavalry and coast artillery. Major J. J. Teter has just arrived to organize the coast artillery work and Capt. V. R. Bell came at the beginning of the term to install the cavalry unit.

Coast Artillery Requires Engineers.

In speaking of the work of the coast artillery, Major Teter said, "I hope to get all engineering students to take the course because the coast artillery which was very broad before the war has been greatly expanded by our taking over the mobile heavy artillery. Before the war, it was considered that the coast artillery personnel was good only for fixed armaments along the coast, but when the war broke out, we were assigned all the heavy mobile armaments such as pieces of six-inch caliber and above. Inasmuch as the training that students will receive under the present plan cannot possibly be very thorough, it is thought best to take a man with a good foundation in technical subjects." Students are desired who are interested in artillery, electricity, wireless telegraphy and kindred subjects.

The equipment authorized for institutions which have chosen the eight-inch Howitzer, one 155 m.m. G. P. F. piece, one fifteen-ton tractor, part of a mine equipment, a wireless set, telephones of all kinds and coast artillery plotting, observing and range correcting instruments.

The larger pieces of equipment will be stored in the remodeled basement of Old College Hall and instruction in their handling will probably be given to a number of mounted men. Most of the equipment is expected to arrive within the next month.

The men taking the course in coast artillery will be required to go to a summer camp at Fort Monroe, Virginia, where they will have five weeks of intensive training in coast artillery work. All of their training here will be preparatory to summer camp work.

Major Teter graduated from West Point in 1915 and as a second lieutenant was stationed at Fort Monroe. He was sent to Fort Wright in New York in 1916, was promoted to first lieutenant in July, 1916, and to captain August 5, 1917. He was ordered to France in November, 1917, and he served with the Howitzer regiment of the Thirty-eighth Brigade in the Toul sector in the Champagne. They were continuously with the French army. In August, September and October, he was assigned as an instructor in a heavy tractor artillery school in France. He was commissioned as a major in October, 1918. Major Teter returned from France in November, 1918, and since his return, has served as district adjutant at Ft. Williams, Maine.

Cavalry.

"To make each trooper resourceful, reliable and well trained for the duties of an officer, unafraid to grasp the initiative and furthermore to train him in the method of training others" will be one of the objects sought by the cavalry section of the R. O. T. C. according to Capt. V. R. Bell, formerly of the Seventh Cavalry, who is assigned as c.r. of that branch. Along with that, to give a firm foundation in courtesy to all, in discipline, a strengthening of moral fibre, and a sense of responsibility to the colors and to the country will be the scheme of things as the best that perfect man in the salient features of cavalry training. "I hope to develop a spirit of esprit de corps that will go further than the welding of the troopers in the cavalry unit," Capt. Bell said, "a spirit which shall follow them through life and which shall manifest itself in their academic work and in all their college relations."

Assisting Capt. Bell are First Sergeants Green and Foley, both seasoned troopers and with experience in other army branches.

A requisition "for forty horses and two mules for the use of the troop has been put in favor of men and horses of the unit. With such equipment the cavalry unit will be made an imposing detachment.

Capt. Bell was commissioned from the enlisted ranks in 2017 and immediately made a name for himself in the July, 1917, gunnery. In the regiment in pistol shooting in the southwestern division he was sent to the army competition at Ft. Sheridan and won a silver medal there. In the National Individual Pistol Match at Camp Perry he won a medal and took ninth place in a field of 250 of the best shots in the United States.

He served two years in the Philippines and has been assigned to many posts in the south and southwestern posts. On recruiting duty at Salt Lake City Capt. Bell put his district in third place out of 56 in the army and increased the output 600% in six months. From the small arms schools at Ft. Riley he has been granted certificates qualifying him as divisional instructor in that practice also one as assistant instructor in sniping.

Capt. Bell came to M. A. C. from Chicago, where he has been serving as district inspector of the R. O. T. C.

RED CROSS WORK BY DR. BOUYUCOS IN GREECE.

The American Red Cross, in a recent article sent out to papers and magazines all over the country, gives special mention of the survey work done in Greece by Dr. G. J. Bouyoucos, who, for seven years did research work in the Soils department at the college, and edited several bulletins. Dr. Bouyoucos was appointed a year ago by President Wilson as a member of a special agricultural commission to visit Mediterranean countries and make recommendations regarding their agricultural development.

The article says in part, "An agricultural survey of Greece and the island of Crete is being made by two American professors of agriculture, C. G. Hopkins of Illinois University and G. J. Bouyoucos of the Michigan Agricultural College. The result of their efforts is intended to furnish a basis for the entire future development of the country. Both of the Americans are officers in the American Red Cross unit in that country."

"This type of Red Cross work is one that has proved especially helpful in many parts of the Balkan states and has been carried on by the furnishing of farm instruction and supplying of agricultural implements to the people of the devastated countries. In many places the soil has become exhausted by intensive cultivation without any effort at renewal. It is believed that a suitable program of rotation will make it possible to raise adequate crops in the future. It was discovered that the soil of many Greek farms contained lime which are available to correct the acidity, while Greece has herself sufficient resources in phosphates so that she need never again be forced to depend on a foreign supply."

Dr. Bouyoucos returned to the campus on Wednesday to resume his research work. He is a Greek by birth.

M. A. C. WINS ANNUAL CROSS COUNTRY.

First place was taken by M. A. C.'s cross country team in the fourth annual run Saturday afternoon during the Home-Coming game. Wiley of Kalamazoo College was the first man to cross the line, Thursday and Adolph of M. A. C. taking second and third. The team score gave M. A. C. first, Michigan second and Hope College third.

Just before the finish of the first half of the football game about forty cross country runners made the first lap around the track and started on the three and one-half mile course. Eight teams were entered representing Kalamazoo College, Western State Normal, University of Michigan, Detroit Junior College, Hope, Albion, M. A. C. Varsity and All-Fresh. The race was finished in front of the grandstand.

Michigan won the event in 1915 and 1916, but M. A. C. took first place in 1917 and again this year. The cup remains at M. A. C. for another year and will stay permanently if next year's team comes up to the standard set by this season's aggregation. Because of the war the run was not held last year.

VICTORY MAKES HOME COMING SUCCESS COMPLETE.

M. A. C. Humbles South Dakota 13-0 Before Record Crowd.

Michigan Aggie gridders crowned the annual Home-Coming of the college with success Saturday afternoon when they defeated South Dakota University, 13 to 0. Six thousand present and past M. A. C. students saw the Aggies take a nick out of the University of South Dakota.

The farmer scoring machine looked practically as good as with Schwein and in the combination of Bassett, Hamme and Snider worked very effectively. Never did South Dakota get closer than to the M. A. C. 15-yard line and at nearly every stage of the game the bedlanders were fighting an uphill battle. M. A. C. must much more stubborn resistance in the second half than in the first and each time Brewers' men managed to get the ball within striking distance the visitors stiffened and shoved them back. By completely satisfying their red clad rivals in the first half the Big Green squad ran up the count which stood as the
THE M. A. C. RECORD.

Following the game, a snake dance led by the band started the celebration of the winning of the big home game of the season. In the evening the student body transferred its activities to Lansing where a big fire was started in front of the capital building. Efforts on the part of the police to suppress the evening celebration proved futile.

The Aggie line was working with clock-like regularity throughout the game and made holes in the South Dakota line served as smooth paths through which the M. A. C. backs went for repeated long gains.

Hammes especially looked good and was almost outshone by Springer. For the first time this year, the Aggie quarterback used himself frequently and his work reminded the Aggie supporters of the days when he shone in the M. I. A. C. line. Montgomery and Ashby were the brilliant representatives of the visitors, the colored halfback Ashby showing remarkable form in open field running.

The German fall terp party on November 1, was held in the armory, and Halloween decorations were used.

WHOSE FOUNTAIN PEN?

Just before the alumni luncheon on November 8, some one kindly loaned a fountain pen to the assistant alumni secretary, who was selling tickets in the parlors of the Women's Building. He went up to the luncheon without claiming it, and we now have it in the M. A. C. Association office. We will be very glad to return it to one if he will just tell us who he is.
Eugene Davenport, dean of agriculture and director of the experiment station of the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois, wrote that he is "at the same old job, trying to do two dollars worth of work with one dollar of funds just like other college men."

J. Hackins Smith is living at 2112 Sedgwick St., Chicago.

John W. Rittinger served as educational secretary at Camp Grant, Ill., from August 10, 1918, to March 1, 1919. He is now private secretary to A. J. Hickey, congressman from the 13th Indiana district. He says that he will always be interested in agriculture and has a farm in northern Indiana where he expects to live in the near future. Some of the big men that he has met while in Washington are C. B. Smith, '93, and Charley Alvord, '95.

His address is 364 House Office Bldg.

William F. Bernart, since his return from overseas, has been practicing medicine in Chicago, at 29 E. Madison St.

The Dail Steel Products Co. of Lansing just announced an increase in capital stock from $100,000 to $250,000.

E. I. Dail is president and general manager of the business which was organized in 1913 with a capital stock of $25,000. The company manufactures chemical toilets and metal stampings for automobile and tractor manufacturers. The business has grown rapidly necessitating additional factory buildings during the past summer and still further buildings are to be built during the coming year.

O. B. Burrell of Galena, Maryland, is farming on a large scale. This season he has grown over 24,000 pounds of pork, 124,000 pounds of asparagus, and a small crop of apples—about 400 barrels. They have the largest field of asparagus in Maryland, about 40 acres, and an apple orchard of 70 acres.

Mrs. E. I. Smith, formerly Elizabeth Lansing (with), is a matron at the Industrial School for Boys, at Lansing, Mich.

A. R. Carter, '04, of Rockford, Illinois, recently sent us a clipping from an Upland, California, paper, concerning a fire in the home of Harry Meek, with '05, and Mrs. Meek (Essie Paddock, '06). Only the prompt action of Mrs. Paddock, mother of Mrs. Meek, in turning in an alarm, prevented a total loss. The Meeks have a ranch at Upland.

J. E. Fisk, 46 Hoparch Ave., Detroit, is "interested in advertising M. A. C." "Advertising pays big dividends," he says. "A whale of a football team will do this. Not to win at any price, but to win—somehow. I am for Brewer with lots of support."

L. B. Hithecock, city engineer and superintendent of streets at Phoenix, Arizona, is superintending some big operations for that city this year. They are just starting a drainage service system to cost $125,000, they have eighteen paving contracts under way, and the city has sold $1,300,000 of waterworks bonds. They will con-
