Prof. David Friday, president-elect of M. A. C., will not assume his executive duties until April 1. The State Board of Agriculture, at its last meeting, granted Professor Friday's request for permission to continue his work at Washington for three months, instead of taking the president's chair on January 1, as had been expected. Friday is economic advisor for the joint Congressional Commission on Agricultural Inquiry. The commission recently asked for an extension until April for its report.

Jacob Schepers, for some years cashier in the college secretary's office, has been appointed Acting-Secretary of the college and of the State Board of Agriculture, succeeding A. M. Brown, resigned, January 1. It is understood that Schepers will serve until a permanent appointment is made.

The Detroit Farmers Club, a branch of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, sent a delegation to M. A. C. for an inspection trip last Wednesday. About twenty prominent Detroiters were included in the party and were guests of the college during the entire day. A luncheon served in the new Practice House, inspection of college buildings and equipment, and attendance at agricultural meetings and conferences marked the day's program.

The Michigan Livestock Breeders and Feeders Association held its thirty-second annual meeting at the college on Jan. 11 and 12. Several hundred farmers, representing fifteen different special stock associations, gathered for the conference. F. O. Lowden, ex-governor of Illinois, and at present the President of the American Holstein-Friesian Association, was the principal speaker at the general meetings.

Campus social events of the near future are centering around the annual Co-ed Prom, January 20, and the J-Hop, February 10. Plans as announced for both indicate that the high standards of the past will be equalled, if not exceeded, by this year's "parties."

Oren L. Snow '10, has just returned to the college physics department after three years in industrial work. Snow was connected with the departments of electrical engineering and physics from 1910 until 1918. He is ranked associated professor.

Count Illya Tolstoy, grandson of the famous Count Leo Tolstoy, one of Russia's most famous men, discussed present conditions in Russia in the College Gymnasium on Jan. 4. This was the first number of the Liberal Arts Course for the Winter Term. Henry L. Southwick, president of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston, will lecture on Jan. 18, as the next Liberal Arts feature.

H. C. Rather '17, has been appointed secretary of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association to succeed A. L. Bibbins '15, recently resigned. Rather also carries the title of extension specialist with the college.

Costumes bought for the Commencement Pageant last June are being offered for rent at the Woman's building. Faculty who attend fancy dress balls and students who plan for Co-ed Proms, etc., are finding the pageant costumes a real blessing.

Courses in Religious Education, which are being given this term under the leadership of Student Pastor O. W. Behrens, are drawing a large enrollment.

A series of conferences and special addresses was given at the East Lansing People's Church last Sunday and Monday by Prof. Charles F. Kent, of Yale University. Faculty, students, and townspeople gathered to hear the talks.

Contests to pick the most representative men and women among the undergraduates on the campus are being conducted by the staff of the Wolverine. Three men are to be chosen, one each for service, popularity and athletic work. The three women will be selected on the basis of service, popularity and beauty.

A day nursery, where babies may be parked by the minute, hour, or day, is to be one of the feature of Farmers' Week at the college, from January 30 until February 3 this year. Home Economics instructors and students are planning the nursery and will have charge of it during the week. The plan will enable visiting mothers to view the exhibits in peace, once they have checked the child.

The annual drive for subscriptions to the Wolverine is under way this week. Members of the business staff of the year book announce satisfactory results up to date. Fifteen hundred books are planned in this year's issue.
McKibbin Leaves Alumni Office.—
Enters Business Field.

C. W. McKibbin '11, secretary of the M. A. C. Association and Editor of the Record since Sept. 1, 1917, left his work in the alumni office on January 2. "Cliffie" as he is popularly known to the present generation on the college campus, has entered business with his brother, F. B. McKibbin, in Lansing, and is devoting full time to his new work.

After graduation in the Forestry Division in 1911, McKibbin entered the U. S. Forest Service, remaining in various positions in the southwest until the fall of 1916, when he returned to Lansing to take up work with the Standard Real Estate Company. His next step was to the alumni office, where he has remained since, with the exception of a brief interval in the fall of 1918.

At the request of the Executive Committee of the Association McKibbin is keeping in touch with the alumni office during the period of readjustment. His long experience in the work of the association, which he has built up greatly during his four years of office, will make McKibbin's advice and help invaluable at this time, and it is fortunate that he is located close enough to the college to keep in touch with the executive office.

Hundreds of friends from coast to coast are wishing "Kibbie," as he is called by his classmates, every success in his new field.

The feeling is general that the marked abilities and faithfulness he displayed in the management of the alumni office will bring honors and success in the business world.

J. B. Hasselmann, of the college publications office, is serving as acting-editor of the Record. It is probable that a permanent arrangement for the management of the alumni office (at least a "permanent temporary" arrangement) will be made within the next few days.

The title role, that of Cynthia Wells, will be played by Mary Reynolds of Middletown, Del. Miss Reynolds is a junior in college.

Bringham '18, Buckley; Genevieve Gillette '20, Highland Park, Ill.; Louise Larabee '20, Menominee; William De Young '18, Columbus, Mo.; John F. Dean Gilchrist Sends Word of M. A. C. People.

Miss Maude Gilchrist, formerly Dean of the M. A. C. Home Economics Division, writes interestingly of various college men and women with whom she has come in contact in recent months. Miss Gilchrist, who has always kept in close touch with events at East Lansing, may be reached at 527 Fortieth St., Des Moines, Iowa.

"News of M. A. C. is always welcome and interesting, but seeing her sons and daughters is still more so. We have Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Spaulding and Mr. and Mrs. Lyttom Calrow here and we see them now and then. We also the little daughter and son of the former. Recently we had the pleasure of a short visit with Mrs. Marguerite Leenhoutz Hadden, just prior to her return, with her family, to Holland, Michian. The only members of the family who really count, of course, are the small boy and girl.

"In the autumn we enjoyed a week-end visit from Mrs. and Miss Freyhofer, and a call from Mr. Irvin Schroetter '06 and '07, who still sings with the old-time charm. Then, too, we admired, on their westward way, Hearty Brown Nelson and Dr. Nelson, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wentworth—formerly of the bacteriology department. “Letters come once in a while from California and the Carolinas, from New England and New York, from Wisconsin and Minnesota and Illinois, from Louisiana and Washington, and even from across the seas. We read these, always with pride, because we have so many from M. A. C. (or shall we say Michigan State College?) who are now doing the world’s work. To all of them, a New Year’s Greeting, and to the College and her new President, the wish that this may be the best year of all.”

M. A. C. Horts Speak in North West.

Four M. A. C. men, all graduates between the years 1912 and 1914, delivered papers before the annual meeting of the Washington State Horticultural Society, in Spokane last month. Edwin F. Smith ’12, D. F. Fisher ’12, R. R. Paithorpe ’13, and Norton W. Mogge ’14, were the representatives of the college.

ALUMNI CLUBS

South American Alumni Gather at Buenos Aires.

The following report of one of the most interesting reunions of M. A. C. alumni ever held has just been received from D. S. Bullock ’02.

The first M. A. C. alumni lunch in South America was held at Buenos Aires, Argentina, Tuesday, November 29, at 12:30 o’clock. The attendance, although not large, was at least representative. There were only three present, but these three were graduates of the Mechanical, Agricultural, and Veterinary courses and represented three different decades of M. A. C. history.

Almost everything concerning M. A. C. was discussed from the glories (?) of life in “Bedbug alley,” a memory of past days, to the necessity of fire-proof buildings for both the library and the museum.

A most enjoyable time was had and it was unanimously decided to hold another meeting in the near future. A cordial invitation is extended to any alumnus who may be passing through our village or happens to be spending a week-end in South America to get in touch with some one of the members present and special arrangements will be made to have a dinner during your stay.

Those present were:

- J. W. Perrigo ’04, Mech. who is with John S. Metcalf Co. of Chicago, Grain Elevator Builders.
- D. S. Bullock ’02, Ag. Agricultural Trade Commissioner for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Address care American Embassy.
- H. K. Wright ’13, Vet. who represents the H. K. Mulford Company of Philadelphia. His address is Charcas 1228.

South Haven Association Holds Good Meeting.

About forty members of the South Haven alumni association met late in December for their regular get-together. Lloyd A. Spencer reports the meeting and sends notice that Stanley Johnston ’20, will represent the South Haven association at executive committee meetings while he is in East Lansing this winter as short course instructor in horticulture.

“After a brief business session, an interesting informal program was given by members of the association. This consisted of piano solos by Harold Iddles, mandolin solo by Lloyd Spencer, and duet by Mr. and Mrs. George Chatfield. Interspersed with the musical numbers were informal talks by George C. Monroe, J. T. Bregger, of Bangor, H. Blakstock Crane of Fennville, Floyd Barden, and Clare A. Rood of Tapiola, Mich. Mr. Rood’s account of his work in an agricultural school among Finnish pioneers on cut-over land was especially interesting.

"The association decided to invite the Glee and Mandolin Clubs of the college to visit South Haven during the spring vacation, the last of March or first of April. Members who had heard concerts by the Glee Club in recent years at Benton Harbor and Grand Rapids are enthusiastic over the prospect of securing such a musical treat for South Haven."

Western New York Association at Rochester.

Members of the Western New York Association gathered at Rochester Thursday evening, Jan. 12, for a dinner and general meeting. D. J. Crosby '03, president, and D. A. Brice '13, secretary, were in charge of plans for the meeting. Details will be given next week.

The Name Question
A Column for Open Discussion

From a '21 Ag.

Colon, Mich.,
December 13, 1921.

Mr. C. W. McKibbin,
Alumni Secretary,
East Lansing.

Dear Mac:

Between the time I entered M. A. C. and now many things have happened to remind me that the name "Agricultural College" no longer tells the truth about our Alma Mater. The addition of the Applied Science course has brought a decided increase of non-agricultural students. Furthermore, it is not impossible and not undesirable, I believe, that other courses which will further broaden the usefulness of our college may be added in time to come.

M. A. C. has long since ceased to be a technical school of agriculture. Yet because the agricultural course was established first, college people and public adhere to a name that does not any longer fit. Suppose home economics or engineering had been established first. Now if ever is the time to change. I also favor a name which can be shortened into Michigan State College.

R. E. Yeatter '21 Ag.

Musical Viewpoint.

I have noticed the arguments concerning the proposed change in name for M. A. C. and while I would regret the loss of the old letters "M. A. C." I believe that the change would be for the best. Of course I did not follow out the work that I was supposed to be prepared for, yet I am using my M. A. C. education daily as it was there that I received most of my musical training. You may readily imagine however that when prospective pupils ask me where I received my musical education that I do not answer "at the Michigan Agricultural College." I believe that Michigan State College would be an improvement for everyone.

Sincerely yours,
Neal C. Perry '07-A.

Dear Sir:

Please permit me to take part in the discussion of "The Name Question." There should be no ill-feeling between students pursuing different courses. The course one is taking is not the only course. There are many excellent colleges in this country. We try to be loyal to our family, to our church, to our lodge, to our community, to our profession, to our college, to our state and to our country.

It is known to my room-mate, Oscar Fairbanks, Eng '09 (now instructor in the College of Engineering at the Michigan State College) that I changed the name of the college to that given above during the year of 1905. I have continued to use it, not waiting for a formal or legal change. I have not called it the Michigan Agricultural College for over fifteen years. My college course broadened and cultivated me wonderfully, filling up many rough, narrow gaps. My experience as a teacher, as a supervisor and in administrative work has been as instructive as my college training.

It is interesting that this education and training was unnecessary for me to realize certain facts—for instance, that the name of anything should honestly and completely represent that for which it stands.

The Lansing University of Vocational Education or The Michigan State College of Vocational Training are better names than Michigan Agricultural College.

Cordially,
W. C. Spratt '10-Ag.

Dear Mr. Editor:

In your issue of December 2nd you invite your readers to express their opinion on the "Name Question" of our old Alma Mater. It appears that there is considerable dissatisfaction among graduates whose courses are not represented in the name Michigan Agricultural College. It appears also that the engineering graduates have a just grievance. When the college was started in 1857 it was intended to be an institution of collegiate rank which should be devoted to one object, that of giving instruction in agriculture and the sciences relating thereto. So it was in my day, and so it continued for many years. A day came when it was found desirable that a college so closely connected with the life and activity of the people as this, should also give instruction in other lines, which would aid in the economic development of the state. A course in mechanical engineering was added, and at short intervals other engineering courses, forestry, domestic science, home economics, etc., until the institution now is, as a matter of fact, an industrial university. Michigan already has an excellent Uni-
Good Basketball Start.

The varsity basketball squad opened the present season in an unusually auspicious fashion, checking up four straight victories in the early games. Scores of all the games were decisive, in spite of the fact that three of the teams met offered real competition.

Carnegie Tech, of Pittsburgh, came to East Lansing the last week in December and went away with the small end of a 38-18 score. Albion College gave battle next, Michigan Monday, Jan. 2, suffering defeat by the count of 33 to 13. The next game proved too lop-sided to be interesting, Detroit College of Law brought a patched-up lineup to meet the varsity, and proceeded to take a 56 to 3 drubbing, largely because Fensom's reserves were necessary to break the deadlock, fortune favoring the University with a one point lead after 25 minutes of play. The final count was 27-26.

Three points checked up by Eddie Gilkey on three field baskets against the visitors counted two field baskets against the University. The presence of four old varsity letter winners on the team made possible the fast work of the squad so early in the season. Captain Heasley and Gilkey at the forwards, and Foster at center, are all playing their third year of varsity ball, while Matson, at a guard, is also a veteran. Addition of Fessenden, a regular last year; Brown, Swanson, and others from last year's reserves; and two or three promising sophomores, rounds out a nicely balanced squad, which is expected to turn in as promising a record as last year's winning quintet.

Overtime Battle Goes to Michigan by Single Point.

History repeated itself at Ann Arbor last Friday night when the M. A. C. basketball team lost to the fast U. of M. five by a single point, and in an overtime game, at that. End of the regular period of play found the two teams tied at 23 points each. In the five minutes of overtime, however, Michigan tossers counted two field baskets against the three points checked up by Eddie Gilkey on foul throws, and it was all over but the "post mortems." The final count was 27-26.

Defeat by such a narrow margin was especially "hard to take" for those who saw the heartbreaking tie game at East Lansing two years ago. In this case two overtime periods were necessary to break the deadlock, fortune favoring the University with a one point lead on that occasion, also.

Complete smothering of Captain Heasley by the Michigan guards was responsible for the varsity's failure to count more from the court. Recognizing Heasley's shooting ability, the U. of M. men were all set to provide him a merry evening—and they succeeded all too thoroughly. No baskets counted, and but few shots attempted, tells the story of how completely the varsity captain and scoring star was lifted from the game.

On floor work and passing the teams played on practically even terms, Michigan's edge on field baskets (eleven to six) resulted from Captain Rea's ability to check up long shots, rather than from speed in working the ball down the floor.

A real feature of the game and the thing which kept the score so close throughout, was Eddie Gilkey's foul shooting. The diminutive forward counted 14 of 18 attempts from the foul line—one of the best records of this kind hung up on a Michigan court in recent years. Gilkey also scored three field baskets, sharing honors with Foster from the floor.

The lead see-sawed back and forth throughout the game, neither team being able to run up any sort of lead at any time. The result was a frantic crowd of bleacherites, and what was generally recognized in Ann Arbor as the best game seen there for many a season. When one of Foster's long shots rolled twice around the rim before falling outside in the last few seconds of play, supporters of both teams nearly had heart failure.

Down Western Normal, 28-20.

Western State Normal, of Kalamazoo, put up a real fight in College Gym Tuesday evening, Jan. 10, but finally gave up a 28-20 game to the M. A. C. Varsity five. Reaction from the hard game at Ann Arbor last Friday was apparent in the play of the M. A. C. team, none of the men showing anything like the speed and floor work which had characterized earlier games.

After running up a six point lead in the first few minutes of play, the varsity slowed up and allowed the Normal outfit to run up a dozen points and take the lead. Things were interesting until near the end of the half, when baskets by Gilkey and Foster gave the locals a five point lead as the whistle blew. The second half resulted in a close guarding period, characterized by much holding and no little "rough stuff." Both teams seemed to forget fundamental basketball and began to "play the man" rather than the ball.

Long shots by Matson, Foster, and Gilkey gave the varsity a safe lead toward the close of the game. While the whole team seemed slowed up, it must be admitted that Normal had a real team and could offer capable opposition to any squad. Foster's floor work and Matson's baskets by Gilkey and Foster gave the locals a chance to come to the college during Farmers' Week, to view of the valuable training of this work for the future executive of the college, and to deferred assuming the duties of the presidency until April 1.

I have had a part, needful if inglorious, in aiding to assure you that one does not put wholehearted treatment I have uniformly received at the hands of the many people who have shared in its education and administrative work and the hundreds of students, scattered from ocean to ocean, all constitute ties of affection and subjects for happy memories, that will 'go down with me through years to come, be they many or few.

The State Board of Agriculture met in the President's office at 8 p.m. on December 21 for its usual semi-weekly meeting.

Present—President Shaw, Mrs. Stockman, Messrs. Watkins, Brody and Woodman.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The Secretary read a communication from President Friday requesting that he be permitted to defer assuming the duties of the presidency until April 1.

The following motion by Mr. Watkins, was adopted:

In view of the national importance of the work Professor Friday is engaged in with the Congressional Commission of Agricultural Inquiry, and in view of the valuable training of this work for the future executive of the college, I move that Professor Friday's request for permission to continue his work at Washington until April 1 be granted; and that the Board request Professor Friday to come to the college during Farmers' Week, to confer with the students and members of the Board about the financial and organization of the institution.

On motion of Mr. Brody, the next meeting of the Board is to be held on January 13.

The Secretary presented the following communication to the Board which on motion of Mr. Brody was received and made a part of the record:

To the State Board of Agriculture:

May I be permitted on this, the last time in which it will be my pleasure to sit officially in your midst, to briefly summarize my connection with your invaluable body and the college, covering a period of nearly twenty years.

I came to the position without solicitation on my part, and in response to your request to go from a very active life on the farm to the vastly different atmosphere of an office. However, the people of our city and county with my short comings and I very soon got into the swing of things and found myself intensely interested in the growth and progress of the institution both as regards its usefulness in the lives and accomplishments of the young people directly concerned in this work.

During the somewhat long period of my official connection with the college, which in retrospect seems much shorter than it really has been, and after the construction of considerably more than a million dollars worth of buildings and improvements—about two-thirds of the entire plant—from preparing and signing the contracts to making the final payment, a record of this work is an open book and will bear your inspection to the minutest detail.

I should be unappreciative if I did not make acknowledgement of the kindly and courteous treatment I have uniformly received at the hands of the faculty and officers of the college, and I have often been invited to participate in deliberations entirely apart from the functions of my office. It has been a great gratification to see the institution grow and develop many fold, during this period, and to feel that in my humble way, I have had a part, useful if inglorious, in aiding its onward march. No one, I am sure, knowing the affairs of the college with the intimate knowledge that it has received in service the full value of the investment in my office, and I step aside with no regrets of obligations or neglected responsibilities.

In leaving my official position after this somewhat long period I do so without bitterness of spirit, assuming that in so summarily dismissing me, you will have your reason for so doing, and that it has received in service the full value of the investment in my office, and I step aside with no regrets or obligations or neglected responsibilities.

May he who takes up the work where I leave it, be blessed with as pleasant a retrospect, when he shall have rendered service last.

(Signed) A. M. BROWN.

Dean R. S. Shaw,
East Lansing, Mich.
Dear Dean Shaw:

The following items are submitted for consideration by the Board of Agriculture:

The resignation of Mr. H. S. Carvagh, from the position of County Club Leader for Sanilac County Agricultural Agent for Emmet.

Mr. Clayton Cook has presented his resignation as County Agricultural Agent for Gratiot, effective November 30.

Mr. C. W. Wing has presented his resignation as County Agricultural Agent for Charlevoix, effective December 31.

Miss Dorothy Curtis has presented her resignation as Demonstration Agent for Saginaw, effective November 30.

We wish to recommend the appointment of C. M. Ferguson as Extension Specialist in Poultry Husbandry, effective January 1, 1922. Mr. Foreman has just returned from Ontario Agricultural College where Mr. Ferguson is at present occupying a similar position. Mr. Foreman has associated with him personally and feels that he is unusually well qualified for the work to be done here. Prof. Graham also gives him an unqualified recommendation.

The appointment of L. L. Drake was previously confirmed as District Agent for Antrim and Kalkaska counties at the usual county agent rate from Extension funds. A representative of Kalkaska county was sent to me to make the request that this amount be increased. This county feels that they have made a strenuous effort to retain a high class man for the work and should not lose all of the money previously paid to their agent. Their request is reasonable and I would recommend that this be done.

Mr. Waldron has been advised to take a period of rest for three months. Because of Mr. Waldron's constant and strenuous service for a long period I feel like to have Mr. Waldron granted a leave of absence with pay from January 1 to April 1. In order that the work may be continued we wish to recommend that Mr. H. E. Denison be appointed as Extension Specialist in Dairying for the same period.

Very truly yours,
W. J. BALDWIN, Extension Director.

On motion of Mr. Woodman the President was requested to confer with Omlsted Brothers, giving all the facts in relation to proposed new buildings, and request their recommendation as to the location of them.

On motion of Mrs. Stockman, the request that the collection of fee for the work of the Women's League be paid to all women students of the college in whatever department, was approved.

On motion of Mr. Brody, a fee of $1.00 was authorized for the course in Agricultural Mathematics.

On motion of Mr. Brody, the matter of alterations in the Botanical building for the purpose of giving increased room, as recommended by Dr. Bessey, was referred to the college architect, Mr. Bowd.

On motion of Mr. Woodman, the request of Professor Cox for the appointment of an expert in beet sugar production, was referred to the Director of the Experiment Station and Professor Cox for further recommendation.

On motion of Mrs. Stockman, Mr. Watkins and Mr. Brody were appointed a committee to confer with the Administrative Board regarding the matter of the college appropriations.

On motion of Mr. Brody, the President was authorized to appoint a committee of three to consult with Omlsted Brothers as to the location of buildings.

On motion of Mr. Brody, the President was authorized to appoint a committee of three to report at the next meeting regarding the matter of an additional power unit at the power house.

On motion of Mr. Watkins, Mr. McKibbin's salary is to be paid for the month of December, and after that Mr. Hasselman is requested to take charge of the position and management of the alumni office until he is able to the alumni committee, until an alumni secretary is appointed.

On motion of Mrs. Stockman, Mrs. Christopherson is to be continued in her present position until July 1.

On motion of Mr. Watkins, Mr. Scheppers was appointed Acting-Secretary from January 1 until a permanent Secretary is appointed.
The president made the following appointments of committees:

Contracts and budgets—Mrs. Stockman, Mr. Brody, of Newfoundland City.

Third Wrestling Match Listed.

Chicago Y. M. C. A. College will send a wrestling team to M. A. C. on February 4 to engage Coach Dever's mat men in friendly battle. This match is the third listed for the team, Indiana, last year's Conference champions, coming to East Lansing; while the squad will travel to Iowa State to meet the Western champions of 1921 at a later date.

Material with which Devers is working is green and inexperienced, as is to be expected the first season of the sport. A number of candidates show real promise, however, and a creditable squad is already in view.

Merrill S. (Chief) Fuller and Kitty Handy, both '16, were married December 12. They are living in St. Johns, Newfoundland, where Chief is on a business trip for the International Timber Company of Lawrence, Michigan. They are the first M. A. siy, so the name “University” would be a usurpation even though qualified with one or more adjectives. In the South the land grant colleges are designated as Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges. I never like to see qualifying adjectives in a proper name. Moreover, these very terms limit the institutions only one degree less than the term Agricultural College. To avoid such limitation and yet lay a foundation broad enough to admit the College growing to any dimensions in the future I venture to suggest that the name “The Michigan College” should meet all objections. I love my Alma Mater. I want to see her grow into a great and influential institution, which shall be guide, philosopher and friend not only to the people of Michigan, but to the people of the United States. This will be her destiny if the governing policy is built on a foundation laid deep enough and broad enough to support the superstructure.

The name Michigan Agricultural College was suited to her at birth; but she has outgrown it. One cannot wear swaddling clothes through life. She is still very young; scarcely out of pinafores, but she has given evidence of a vigor and versatility that prophesies a great future. The qualifying adjective “Agriculture” is a hindrance to growth and not a help. The great institutions of learning, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Oxford, Cambridge, are not limited by qualifying terms. The graduate “Aggies” should favor the name “The Michigan College.” In agriculture circles and among well informed people the term is a name to conjure with. The work for the Aggie graduates have made it so. To adopt it as the official name of the institution will not change their standing and influence a particle; but it will put them, and all future generations of Aggies on their mettle to keep the lead they now have, which I consider a good thing.

There is a sentiment connected with M. A. C. among the older men, myself included, but they will soon pass off the stage, and in the meantime there will be a constantly increasing number of graduates in the non-agricultural branches of learning who feel that they are misrepresented by the name of their Alma Mater, and that she is in fact only a stepmother. The name “The Michigan College” is broad enough not only to cover the agriculturists, stock-breeders, veterinarians, horticulturists, domestic scientists, home economists, but also all kinds of engineering, civil, mechanical, electrical, hydraulic, as well as those who specialize in pure and applied sciences, botany, entomology, chemistry, and anything else that the future may find needful.

I suggest that the official name be changed from Michigan Agricultural College to the simpler form “The Michigan College.”
