THE M. A. C. RECORD

Vol. XXVII. No. 14. EAST LANSING JANUARY 20, 1922

A "STAG" SMOKER for students and faculty will be held in the Gymnasium Friday evening, January 20. These gatherings promote a healthful spirit of loyalty among the men of the college, and are proving more popular each year. The program, which is being arranged by the Intersociety Union, includes discussion of vital campus topics and policies.

THE ANNUAL MILITARY BALL will be held in the College Gymnasium on February 21. The Officers Club is in charge of arrangements, and is planning to entertain 175 couples for the dancing.

HENRY L. SOUTH WICK, President of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston, gave readings from Sheridan's "The Rivals" last Wednesday evening as a regular number on the Liberal Arts Course.

REHEARSALS FOR "THE FAIR CO-ED," to be given as the annual Union Opera, are being held regularly. The itinerary for the "road" showings has not yet been completed, but it is understood that Lansing, Grand Rapids, Owosso, and possibly one or two other Michigan cities will be visited.

A POSTING BEE, something new in college advertising circles, is to be held by students and faculty of the Agricultural Division on Saturday, January 21. The object of the "Bee" is to see that every town within forty or fifty miles of Lansing is thoroughly covered with posters announcing the annual Farmers' Week. A dozen members of the faculty have volunteered to spend the day on the road with their cars, and about twenty-five students are going along to do the necessary work of "posting" the bills.

Co-Eds will dance alone on Friday night, January 20, when they gather in the Gymnasium for their annual Co-Ed Prom. The Prom is strictly a man-less event, and is given as a demonstration that the girls are perfectly independent and able to amuse themselves. Costumes are expected to be exceedingly original and picturesque.

DEMAND FOR M. A. C. FORESTERS to fill important positions in various parts of the country has been great during recent weeks. Prof. H. K. Chittenden has been able to make a number of recommendations from among recent graduates.

C. M. Ferguson, of Guelph, Ontario, has been named extension specialist with the M. A. C. poultry department.

THE CENTRAL MICHIGAN Wireless Association will hold its first annual convention in Olds Hall on February 10 and 11. Maurice Pancost, '19, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

A NEW COURSE in Current History is being given this term by the college history department. The course aims to give the student a discussion of current events, and is proving very popular.

ANOTHER BRICK STORE building is nearing completion in East Lansing's "business" section. The building, a two-story structure, is located across from the campus on Grand River Avenue, near the old "Hamburger" corner. A restaurant is reported to be listed for one of the upstairs' rooms, and a clothing and drug store down stairs.

THE STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE held its January meeting at the college last Wednesday, M. B. McPherson meeting with the body for the first time.

MISS CORAL HAVENS '00, is leaving her position as manager of the Flower Pot Tea Room on February 1, to take up teaching work in Detroit. M. A. C. alumnae are looking for a new manager, preferably an alumnus. The Flower Pot has been doing a big business since taking up its new quarters in the old college waiting room, and is filling a long felt want on the campus. Plans for taking care of hundreds of "boarders" during Farmers' Week are now under way.

THE COLLEGE GYMNASIUM is working on thirteen hour shifts during the winter months. A check of Director Brewer's schedule shows that the building is in constant use from eight in the morning until nine at night—and six days a week, at that. No other building on the campus is in such constant demand. Girls have exclusive use of the Gym until 11 o'clock every morning. At 11 the men "take over" and keep the floor, pool, and apparatus busy until closing time at night. Among the many divisions of work scheduled are the regular gymnasium classes, short course gym and basketball, baseball, swimming, boxing, wrestling, physical disability work, correction work, health lectures, professional courses, and inter-class and inter-society games in all sports. The entire athletic staff is, very apparently, kept constantly on the job by this schedule. Director Brewer, Barron, Frimodig, Dever, Heppinstall, Kurtz, Dr. Reynolds and Flynn, in addition to the women's staff, work daily with the various groups and divisions.
McPherson Takes Seat On State Board.

Melville B. McPherson, of Kent county, took his seat on the State Board of Agriculture at the January meeting last Wednesday. McPherson is to serve a six-year term on the Board, being one of the two members elected for the regular term last year.

Born in Kalkaska county in 1876, McPherson has always lived there, operating the farm which was taken up from the government by his family in 1842. He is truly a "native son," coming of pioneer stock and typifying the best of Michigan rural leadership.

After graduating from the Lowell High School and the Grand Rapids Business College, he taught school for two years. Educational experience has been broadened by 21 years' service as district school officer, and three years as township treasurer. McPherson is now serving his third year as county supervisor and is acting as chairman of the Special Committee on Taxation of the Kent County Board of Supervisors.

Political experience of Mr. McPherson is best given in his own words: "Was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1912. Supported Theodore Roosevelt and the Progressive Party. Campaigned Kent county with the Hon. L. Whitney Watkins, then candidate for governor."

McPherson is married and has two children, both attending the Lowell High School. He is a member of the Grange, the Kent County Farm Bureau, the I. O. O. F., a Thirty-second degree Mason, and a member of the Saladin Temple, Mystic Shrine, Grand Rapids.

"I believe that Michigan is the best state in the Union," says McPherson, "and desire to assist in making M. A. C. the best institution of its class."

Michigan "Alumnus" Praises Ray Stannard Baker '89.

An article in the January 5 issue of the Michigan Alumnus recounts the life work of Ray Stannard Baker '89, calling attention to his unusual success in the journalistic world. Michigan claims Baker as a student at Ann Arbor in '91-'92, but M. A. C. people feel that they have a prior claim to his allegiance, as a member of the class of '89. The Alumnus article is as follows:

"Ray Stannard Baker '91-'92, alias David Grayson, has conquered two worlds. He is both a practical newspaper and magazine man and writer of familiar essays of high literary quality. As Baker, he is newspaper-magazine man, and it was Baker who directed the Press Bureau of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace in 1919. In fact, it was Baker who wrote A Boy's Book of Inventions, Our New Prosperity, Seen in Germany, Following the Color Line, What Wilson Did at Paris, etc. But it was David Grayson who wrote Adventures in Contentment, Adventures in Friendship, the Friendly Road, Hemphill and Great Possessions. Baker is respected and admired; Grayson is loved. That is enough good fortune for one man."

Massachusetts Aggies Approve of M. A. C. Game.

If it is true that it is always interesting to "see ourselves as others see us," the following clipping from an eastern paper will prove acceptable to readers of the Record. The dispatch from Amherst indicates clearly that the Massachusetts Aggies regard the game at East Lansing next November as the real "achievement" of their athletic schedule making.

Appreciation of the intersectional flavor of the game, and consideration of the many ties of association which add interest to the meeting of the two "M. A. C.'s," is manifest in the article:

"The Massachusetts Agricultural College made football history for itself today, when Director of Athletics Curry S. Hicks, announced that a football game with Michigan Agricultural College has been definitely arranged for next Nov. 25 at East Lansing. It will be the first intersectional contest in which the Maroon and White has ever engaged, and will be a battle between two M. A. C.'s."

"The game has been pending for some weeks now and 'Aggie' alumni will be delighted to know that their eleven is going West at last. Michigan is also elated at the prospect, and has reserved Homecoming Day for the event, a date which South Dakota filled this year.

"The two institutions have been closely related through their alumni for some years, and it is doubtless largely due to this relationship that a game has been arranged. President K. L. Butterfield of Massachusetts 'Aggie,' as well as Treasurer F. C. Keny and Director Marshall of the Graduate School, are graduates of Michigan. A. C. So is Curry Hicks himself, and he will find himself sadly 'on the fence' the day of the game. But, says the man who alone is largely responsible for Massachusetts 'Aggie's' athletic prestige, 'no matter who is victor, M. A. C. is bound to win.'"

Wolverine a Step Ahead This Year.

Effort to include features which will be of special interest to alumni is being made by the staff of this year's Wolverine, the annual M. A. C. "year book." Believing that many alumni would be glad to subscribe for Wolverines, if the opportunity were afforded them, and that practically all are interested in the plans for each year's book, Howard J. Root, editor of the 1922 Wolverine, has prepared the following prospectus for readers of the Record. It shows clearly that the high standard set in recent years is to be maintained or bettered by this year's staff:

“Still growing” both in quality and size is the best phrase that can be applied to the Michigan Aggies’ Wolverine of 1922. Anyone that has seen the book put out last year by the Class of 1922 will have an idea of the quality of the present book. The 1921 Wolverine was good; the 1922 Wolverine is planned to be better.

The Wolverine, as every Aggie knows, is the college annual. It is the college memory-book, the college hand-book, the college history book. Beautiful pictures of the most beautiful campus in America will introduce the book. Photos of the deans, heads of departments, etc., are also included. It is the aim of the staff to print the picture of every student in college, including the short-course men and the federal men, if possible.

The society houses and members, clubs, and other groups will all be found in the Organizations section of the book. The athletic division is “going big.” The history of the year in M. A. C. athletics will be told in picture and story; the varsity men will be pictured in the togs in which they fought for M. A. C. There will also be inter-class and inter-society athletics. The women of M. A. C. are taking a great interest in athletic work, too, and their swimming, hockey, baseball and basketball teams, and other activities will be found in a separate section.

These divisions, of course, are always found in any annual, but the distinguishing part of the 1922 Wolverine is the Feature section. In this department will be found pictures and a story of the Homecoming, a comprehensive review of the college year in pictures, old-time pictures of famous Aggie athletes and famous Aggie alumni, a history of the college with cuts of the old buildings and presidents, a “peek” section, and a Who’s Who section. This department will give the history of past college life, and in addition, will serve as a review of the past year in pictures and story.

The humor section of the book is going to be the best found in any annual. Several cartoons will be inserted at various points making the section more interesting. The best in jokes and classroom wit will be found.

Military is commanding a leading part in the Aggie curriculum, and the military department of the Wolverine is being planned accordingly. The M. A. C. corps is one of the leading R. O. T. C. units in the United States; so the material is available for a very interesting and instructive section in the Aggie book.

The Beauty section of last year’s book has been dropped; in its place will appear a Representative Men and Women section. These people will be chosen by the students of the college in connection with the subscription campaign. One man will be elected for his athletic ability, one woman for beauty, and one man and one woman each for service and popularity. This will make six people in all in this section.

From cover to cover, the 1922 Wolverine will be a succession of interesting items that cannot fail to please anyone who knows the Michigan Agricultural College.

Bay City M. A. C. Club Christmas Party.

On Thursday, December 29, a very delightful party was held at the Bay City Board of Commerce Club. The hall was decorated with the college colors, green and white, while M. A. C. banners were placed about the room. The following alumni were present:

The party proved a great success and was quite an accomplishment, for the club has been organized for only two months. At the beginning of the dance the Fight Song was sung and at the end the Alma Mater. A grand march was the big feature of the evening. A joint banquet, consisting of present students at M. A. C., alumni, and former students, is being planned during the spring vacation at Bay City.

President—A. L. Strang '18; Vice-President—Margaret Hummelein '20; Sec'y-Treas.—Daniel H. Ellis '07; Executive Committee—E. C. Peters '93, G. A. Willoughby '16, and H. L. Beatty '16. A. G. Bovay '12, was elected representative to the M. A. C. Association.

Clara Morley '07, in Movie Game.

Interesting activities in specialty lines of the moving picture business are mentioned by Clara Morley '07, in the following letter to the alumni office. Miss Morley admits frankly that she wants a little "advertising" for her venture, but the letter is worth publishing, anyway.

Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 8, 1921.

Dear M. A. C. Folks:

I think that some of you at least have been following my "movie" venture and as it is maturing so rapidly I want to know that all of you who are interested know more of our plans.

Some of you know that I left Patrician Productions and started out to organize a company of my own to produce stories for the kiddies. In a short time I met a man who was organizing to produce biblical, educational and children's pictures, so we threw our plans together and today we are all organized under the name of Scripture Films Inc., with a capitalization of a million dollars and will produce pictures for the non-theatrical public, like schools and churches.

M. A. C. people will be interested in one class of our pictures, I am sure, which will be our educational pictures, scientific, agricultural, etc. It seems to me that there is quite a field there.

If any of you are at all interested in knowing more of our plans I wish you would write me for our booklet. Our office is 238 H. W. Hellman Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

I am going to appoint each one of you individually to act as a booster and tell every one you know about us. Will you?

Good-bye for now.

Clara Morley '07.

Cortright '11, Writes of Campus Visit.

Among alumni who have paid the campus a fleeting visit during recent weeks is I. J. Cortright '11. "Cort" sends in the following letter telling of his present work and of his visit during the holidays:

Studebaker Corporation, South Bend, Indiana, Jan. 12, 1922.

Dropped in one evening during the holidays,—in at eight-thirty P. M. and out at one. The campus as seen at those hours, reminded me of the "quiet" hours when I used to do most of my studying—also after getting Dimmick to sleep. Met Beridge and some of the other old boys, and saw a basketball game. Team looks good,—could stand a little help.

Am with the above corporation since Jan. 1st, in charge of Education and Recreation. There are approximately seven thousand men employed here at present,—making the best car in the world at the price!—I wish you would call the attention of some of our old Profs., to this, for it might give them a bit of pleasure, to repay them for the terrible time they had trying to keep me awake in class.

I find Charley Lord '12, holds a responsible position here.

I can always be found in the Co-Operative Dept., and will always be glad to see anyone from the old school.

As ever,

I. J. Cortright '11.

NEUROLOGY

LEWIS E. SKWOR '15

Lewis E. Skwor '15, died at his home in Bessemer, December 28, 1921. Mr. Skwor entered M. A. C. with the class of 1915. In 1913 he entered the University of Michigan and remained there until June 14, 1915, when he entered the U. S. navy. Skwor was assigned to the radio school and took up the study of wireless telegraphy. After completing the course he was assigned as an officer on the U. S. S. Nevada, the largest battleship in the navy at that time, and was on this ship during the Mexican trouble, when it was in service on the Mexican coast. His health showed some impairment and he was sent to Fort Lyon, Colorado, where he remained until 1919. While there tuberculosis developed rapidly, and it, with complications, made him a helpless invalid for several months before his death.
"Carp" Julian on Way to Recovery.

Editor's Note: Interest in the fight George ("Carp") Julian, famous M. A. C. athlete of the winning years in 1912-14, as waging against sickness is general among alumni of the college. The Thanksgiving Day testimonial game last Fall gave striking evidence of the unusually high regard in which Julian is held by the entire M. A. C. family. Norman O. Weil '17, has prepared the following account of his visit with Julian at the time of the presentation of the testimonial game receipts.

By N. O. Weil.

On last Thanksgiving Day a football game was staged on old College Field that is bound to live long in the minds of those who saw it. The contest itself was nothing that would cause folks to place it among the greatest of games ever played, for the freshman team defeated Lansing High 28 to 0, without much trouble. The significant factor back of the game, however, attracts one’s everlasting interest. It was played as a testimonial to George "Carp" Julian.

Our former star, as most M. A. C. folks know, has been incapacitated for practically five years, due to a blood infection, and not tuberculosis or tuberculosis of the bone as has frequently been reported.

In the fall of 1916 Julian suffered what any of us might suffer—a scratch on the foot coming from a protruding nail in a shoe. Blood poisoning set in. It spread through the lower limb and almost resulted in the amputation of that member. Julian would not consent to an amputation and after almost two years of continuous doctoring was pronounced "physically fit." Followed six to eight months in which time "Carp" regained his strength. Then out of a clear sky the infection broke out in the other leg and spread to the upper thigh. (Sympathetic infection, perhaps). For the past two years "Carp" has been confined to his bed continually. For months he hardly moved a muscle, as absolute quiet, light diet and regularity in sleep reduces respiration and blood pressure. It kept the threatened infection from spreading into the upper body and reduced the chances of endocarditis or other disorder which could cause loss of life.

When I saw Julian on December 21st, at which time I presented a check for $2264, I saw the same rugged, determined, fighting, 'fine fellow who helped make athletic history at M. A. C. There he stood on crutches and in his bathrobe—the perfect picture of health, in his upper body. His color surprised me and his handclasp of warm friendship took me from my feet. Asked as to his rugged features "Carp" explained that all summer long he lay out in the sun—unclothed—so that nature might treat him and materially assist the wonderful Mother and splendid doctor who attend him.

Friends, those of you who may be hero worshipers and those who look upon this man as one of your own, just let me say that "My George," as that great, wonderful Mother of his calls him, will get well. Almighty God answers her prayers and the well wishes of all this big M. A. C. family. No man can experience everlasting suffering when his spirit is as is Julian's and when the hearts of so many friends are as responsive as they were proven to be by the contributions to the "Testimonial Game."
"Are we to have a Stadium at M. A. C.?” he asked. I hope so and expressed an affirmative opinion. Julian seemed delighted at that and he recalled his experience as a high school boy playing a championship game in Archbold Stadium at Syracuse. What a great impression it made. How different an impression from what the tumbled-down stands on College Field would help to make. And we say—Beat Michigan.

“A Stadium,” said “Carp,” “is needed at M. A. C., if you are to compete on equal footing with teams of big schools. Conditions aren’t as they used to be. High school boys of ability go where they can place that ability to best advantage. Think what it would mean as an educational stimulus for Michigan and M. A. C. to have their teams meeting one another, the last game of the year. Think of the state-wide interest in the outcome—nine of every ten boys anxiously awaiting tidings—“M. A. C. Beats Michigan.” Boys and girls are attracted to institutions of higher education largely by the activities of those schools. With her great system of education—no other state boasts, for instance, of two such schools as Michigan and M. A. C.—it does appear that M. A. C. ought to contribute more to the stimulus for college thought in the high school minds.”

Here is food for thought for alumni. Much more was said about M. A. C. and hardly a word of criticism. No deserting the old college because of her name—the best way to get around that is to add another course in Economics or Commerce and Finance; more city boys will be attracted; the college will render even greater service and her business influence will change her name. These and other things were discussed until almost train time, which was all too soon.

I took a final glance at “Carp” as we shook hands and parted. Eyes were moist, I’ll admit, as the old boy said: “My love to old M. A. C., Norm, and thank the Varsity Boys and all of my good friends for their taking such an interest in me. I’ll get well, and M. A. C. will be the first place I’ll visit.”

Student Contestants for Athletic and Beauty Honors.

The practice of selecting representative students, by popular election, for the honor of standing foremost in various lines of campus achievement and popularity was inaugurated by last year’s Wolverine Board. This year six students are being chosen—three men for athletics, service, and popularity, and three girls for beauty, service, and popularity. The three men who are running for athletic honors are shown below, together with the nominees in girls’ beauty contest. The races are said to be very close, with possibility than any of the entries may win in the final balloting.
Take Overtime Game From Ypsilanti Normal.

Two overtime periods, and a desperate rally in the last few minutes of the last period, were necessary before the varsity could down the Ypsilanti basketball squad in College Gym last Saturday evening. The final score stood 28 to 22, due to three successful Aggie shots in the closing seconds of play, but it would be impossible to stage a more evenly contested game.

Ypsi proved much stronger than anyone anticipated, and a slight tendency toward over-confidence apparently slowed up the work of the varsity—especially early in the game. The visitors ran up a six-point lead in the first five minutes, and were still on top by a one-point margin at half time.

Early in the second half, two clever one-hand shots by Foster gave the Green and White a narrow lead, for the first time in the game. From this point on the varsity was usually in the lead, with Ypsi tying the score or going ahead just often enough to keep the crowd on its feet all the time. It is safe to say that no game ever played at East Lansing, with the possible exception of the overtime Michigan game two years ago, has proved such a thriller for the crowd.

At the end of the regular forty minutes of play, the official score book showed the count to be 19 to 19. An overtime period of five minutes was ordered at once, to determine the winner, but the fates were not yet willing to end the suspense. Ypsi scored twice on foul shots in this period, and assumed a lead which looked for a time to be big enough to mean the game. The visitors dropped back on defense, and the fight for positions under the basket which followed was one of the prettiest ever seen on the Gym floor.

An Ypsilanti guard finally held Heasley in his zeal to prevent a possible score. Gilkey, fortunately, as it turned out, missed his free shot, the ball rolling around the rim and topping over the front edge. Foster, who was the individual star of the game all the way, pushed up through a crowd of guards and tipped the ball through the basket for the two points which tied the score. As there were but eight seconds left when Gilkey took his foul shot, scoring of the foul would almost surely have meant an Ypsi victory, by a one-point margin. There would scarcely have been time to work under the basket again from center.

Apparently thoroughly aroused by this near catastrophe, Frimodig’s boys went to work in earnest during the second overtime period. For the first time in the game they clearly outpassed their opponents, and three clean shots from well back on the floor ran the count up to 28, while Ypsi was kept from further scoring.

Captain Heasley was “smothered” by the visiting guards during practically the entire game. “Doc’s” reputation as a scoring star has resulted in his being a marked man in all games lately, with the result that his chances to shoot have been few and far between. In the last overtime period against Ypsi, however, Heasley broke loose from his attentive guards long enough to loop two beautiful shots from the center of the floor—enough to put the game on ice. Gilkey followed with another field goal in the closing seconds, for good measure.

Ypsilanti had a good basketball team. The visitors passed well, held an air-tight defense, and were aggressive. The summary:

Fresh Win Opener From Albion.

The All-Fresh basketball team opened its season last Saturday evening by winning from Albion College 26 to 18. The game was played as a curtain-raiser for the varsity game that evening, and proved to be a real contest. Larry Kurtz’s men showed ability and a very good knowledge of fundamentals for an opening-first-year game.

Captain Beckley and Brooks, at the guards, played strong defensive games, while Beckley also got into the floor work well. Bilkey, at center, passed well, but was inclined to mix football tactics with his basketball. Gasser and Bienes, at the forwards, carried the ball down the floor well, but were a little off on shooting.

The fact that four of the regular varsity players are seniors this year, places special emphasis on the development of good material among the freshmen, and the fine showing of the yearlings was greeted with enthusiasm.

Indoor Track Opens With Society Meet.

Indoor track activities were formally opened last Saturday afternoon with the running of the annual inter-society meet. The Phyleans won the championship cup, after the keenest kind of competition.

DeGay Ernst, captain of the varsity track team and individual star of the squad, was high point man for the winners, although the points were well distributed.

A number of men who show promise of developing into varsity material were brought out in the novice and freshmen events, all of which were closely contested.

An interclass meet on Saturday, Jan. 21, is the next event on the indoor track program. The squad will work up gradually to its dual intercollegiate meets and track carnivals which are scheduled later in the winter.

Summary of the winners in the Intersociety meet is as follows:

3. Ae Theon—17 1-3.
10. Union Literary—5 1-3.

Hockey Team Busy.

The completion of a very good ice rink above the dam on the Red Cedar river has resulted in a sudden boom for skating among campus-ites. Stringing of lights has made possible the use of the rink between 5 and 7 in the evening, and the ice has been crowded constantly during recent days.

An "informal" hockey team has been recruited from among students who have had past experience in the sport, and a tentative schedule of games is being arranged.

The team lost to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor last week by the score of 4 to 1, a good showing in view of the fact that the men were not called together until the day before the game, and had had no practice.

Notre Dame won a 3-1 game at East Lansing Wednesday, January 18. Return games with both Michigan and Notre Dame, and other contests will be scheduled, according to Director Brewer. It is probable that the sport will be put on the official varsity list next year, if the boys made a good start this season.

Athletic Night for Farmers' Week.

An "athletic night" is being arranged for Friday, February 3, as a special feature for Farmers' Week guests at the college. A swimming meet with the Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A., a basketball game between the All-Fresh and Short Course teams, and general mass athletics are to be among the numbers on the program.
College Plans for Biggest Farmers' Week.

Centering around the general theme of agricultural finance, Farmers' Week at M. A. C., from January 30 until February 3 this year, will strike a decidedly practical note. An unusually strong list of speakers, new exhibits on all phases of agriculture and engineering, and meetings of a dozen of the state's leading farm organizations are expected to make this year's conference the best of the many successful ones held at the college.

David Friday, President-elect of M. A. C., will be one of the headliners on the speaking program. He will discuss important questions of farm economics and will take part in the deliberations of the various meetings and conferences. Other nationally known speakers will include: M. L. Burton, President of the University of Michigan; J. R. Howard, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation; G. I. Christie, director of Experiment Station and Extension work at Purdue University, and also director of the International Hay and Grain Show; John C. Ketcham, Michigan Congressman; Dr. Caroline Hedger, of Chicago; J. C. Creelman, former president of the Ontario Agricultural College, and many others.

A feature of this year's general programs will be addresses by the heads of the state's six leading agricultural organizations and institutions: L. Whitney Watkins, Chairman of the State Board of Agriculture; H. H. Halladay, Head of the State Department of Agriculture; James Nicol, President of the State Farm Bureau; A. B. Cook, Master of the State Grange; Grant Slocum, Head of the Gleaners organization; and Lee Noble, President of the State Association of Farmers' Clubs.

Women are to have a complete program of their own, making their headquarters in the Woman's Building and attending their own meetings and conferences. Special exhibits on nutrition, home furnishing, garment making, and other household topics have been prepared by the Home Economics Department and will be on display in the Woman's Building.

Entertainment features will not be lacking.

The Annual Farmers' Week Hort Show

The Hort Show, a feature of Farmers' Week every year, is managed by students of the college. Their displays are always among the most picturesque of the many exhibits.
for the women, either. Tea will be served in the new Practice House and in the Woman's Building each afternoon, while a special day nursery is to be maintained in order that mothers may leave the baby in good care while they "take in" the different programs and exhibits. More than 2,400 women attended the conference last year, and an even larger crowd is expected this winter.

The big "all-college" parade, in which all students and most of the movable equipment of the college will take part, is to be repeated this year. The parade proved such a success at the Farmers' Week in 1921 that visitors have demanded that it be made an annual event. More than a mile of the college will pass in review around the campus drives, affording an unusual opportunity to visualize the extensive equipment of the institution.

Exhibits will include the annual Horticultural Show, planned and executed each year by students of the Horticultural Department. Farm Crops displays which won honors at the International Hay and Grain Show last fall will feature the exhibit in the stock pavilion of the Agricultural Building. A special poultry and rabbit show, and displays of farm mechanics material, live stock, and dairy products will round out the agricultural booths.

Complete engineering exhibits are also being planned by the Engineering Division, this being the first time that this division has taken an extensive part in the preparation of features for the week.

While "hard times" among the farmers may cut into the enrollment figures to a certain extent, a big crowd is expected. Special rates on all railroads, giving round trip fares from any point in the State for one and one-half times the regular one way fare, will have to draw the visitors. More than 6,000 checked in last year, the largest Farmers' Week gathering in the country, and an equally good attendance is expected for the coming conferences.

The Name Question

A Column for Open Discussion

Taxation Without Representation.

New York, N. Y.,
Dec. 19, 1921.

Mr. C. W. McKibbin, Secretary,
East Lansing, Mich.
Dear Mr. McKibbin:
Discussion regarding the changing of our Alma Mater's name is both very interesting and possibly beneficial. Without reservation I affiliate myself with those who recommend a change in name that will be advantageous to all regardless of vocation, and at the same time not result in any detriment to the institution. At the present time I cannot help but feel that the policy of "taxation without representation" is effective.

Respectfully yours,
G. W. Bloemendal '16-E.

Another Ag. is Willing.

North Dakota Agricultural College,
Jan. 12, 1922.

The Editor,
"M. A. C. Record,"
East Lansing, Mich.
Dear Sir:
I am glad to learn that the Native Sons of Michigan have "to explain about their Alma Mater." I went to M. A. C. from the land of "Penn State," and the day after I decided to go to Michigan I began to explain that M. A. C. was really the State College of Michigan, and through all the years, when I have been asked what college I graduated from, I have felt that it was necessary to explain the misnomer.

I had supposed that the great majority of the Alumni, who live in Michigan, did not have to make such explanations, and now that I know they do I cannot understand why we get so excited about "The Campus Circle" or even the "National Fraternities" and remain comparatively silent on the "Name Question."

Very truly yours,
J. R. Dice '08.

An Engineer's Viewpoint.

Schenectady, N. Y.,
M. A. C. Record, Dec. 12, 1921,
East Lansing, Michigan.
Dear Sirs:
The following is my contribution to the effort of changing the name of M. A. C.: Wake Up, Engineers
I, for one, am thoroughly disgusted with the stubbornness of the old-timers, who are bound to let the moss grow on the old traditions and are afraid to get up-to-date, lest some old tree be cut down or some stone moved from the place where the glaciers left it.

I think it is a fact that the engineering grads down their Alma Mater on account of its name. In looking over class notes in the Record I generally find fifty or sixty news items and eight or ten are from engineers; which shows an unwarranted lack of interest in the college by the boys from the engineering department.
A short time ago one of our graduates was promoted to an important position, and in writing him up, the daily papers, after praising his engineering ability very highly, stated that he was a graduate of the University of Michigan; he evidently was ashamed to tell the reporter that he received his engineering education at the Michigan Agricultural College. That is but one case, for to almost every M. A. C. engineer I meet I put this question: "What College did you attend?" and practically every one of them will smile and say: "You can bet it was not the Michigan Agricultural College."

So, fellow engineers, let's put our shoulder to the wheel and try to put a new name across this time, and if the Ags are so selfish or narrow-minded as not to meet us half way, I for one am willing to let them have their "Agricultural College"; but I wouldn't let my son attend a college from which he would have to start out into the world under the handicap of being an engineer graduate from an agricultural college.

Yours truly,

George W. Strobel '02.

Wrestling and Swimming to Make News

Inauguration of swimming and wrestling as varsity sports at M. A. C. is scheduled for next week. On Friday, January 27, the swimming team will meet the Detroit Junior College in the college pool, while Indiana University will send a wrestling team to East Lansing on Saturday, January 28, for the curtain raiser of the mat game.

This will be the first "outside" competition ever met by an M. A. C. team in either sport, and marks a distinct period in the growth of the college's athletic program. Intramural wrestling matches have been held under the direction of Coach Jimmy Dever for the past two years, while inter-society and inter-class swimming has served to develop men for the present varsity squad.

Indiana, by the way, won the Western Conference wrestling championship last year, and is reported to have a veteran team.

Later in the season the wrestling team will meet the Chicago A. M. C. A. College and Iowa State College.

Livestock Men Meet at M. A. C.

Favoring tariff protection for wool and sugar, in order that production of these important Michigan products may be increased in the state, members of the Michigan Livestock Breeders and Feeders Association passed resolutions to this effect at their thirty-second annual meeting, held at the college, Jan. 11 and 12. More than 500 men gathered for the conferences, as members of the different special breed associations which held sectional meetings during the gathering.

Officers of the general association, elected for 1922, include: President, H. H. Halladay, Lansing; Vice-President, Jacob De Geus, Battle; Secretary, G. A. Brown, East Lansing; Ass't Sec'y, W. E. J. Edwards, East Lansing; Treasurer, I. K. Maystead, Osseo.

Fifteen separate stock associations also elected their annual officers at their special meetings. Auction sales of horses and cattle were held in the college livestock pavilion on Friday, Jan. 13.

Headliners among the speakers at the general meetings were Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, also president of the American Holstein-Friesian Association; and Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck, of Michigan.

Mutt and Jeff won first honors for special costumes at the 1921 Co-Ed Prom. Competition for the prizes this year will be keen.
