She also drew attention to the critical need of the University to renew its commitment to its infrastructure, both for historical and for practical purposes.

Trustee Reinhold's success in the business world also served the University's interests well. She began her landscaping career in 1977 after receiving her degree in Ornamental Horticulture from Michigan State University. Joining Reinhold Landscape, a firm founded by her father, William Reinhold, in 1924, she was promoted to President in 1983 and rapidly built the firm into one of the nation's leading landscape companies.

Since then she has merged the firm with Vidosh, Inc., creating Reinhold & Vidosh, Inc., now one of the nation's largest full-service landscape contracting firms.

For her insight and service during a time of critical change at the University, the Board of Trustees, on behalf of Michigan State University and the citizens of Michigan, extend to Melanie Reinhold our sincere gratitude and best wishes for the future.

C. Vice Chairperson Cook presented the following resolution to Chairperson Pridgeon:

Resolution to Trustee Dean Pridgeon

"The Board of Trustees of Michigan State University today pays special tribute to Trustee Dean M. Pridgeon, colleague and friend. On the occasion of his final meeting as a member of this body, we recognize an individual whose career has not only encompassed many moments of historical significance as a Trustee, but one whose very spirit embodies the land-grant philosophy pioneered and fostered by this University.

As a Trustee and Chairperson, and while not always in the spotlight, his reasoned, measured responses to challenges were directed toward enhancing the stature of Michigan State University.

During his eight years, he was witness to and helped develop some of the most significant changes in the University's history. The undergraduate and graduate research programs were reviewed and restructured. Greater emphasis was placed on diversity, and the academic calendar changed from the quarter to the semester system. He also saw the launching of the highly successful first University-wide capital campaign, "MSU 2000."

Dean Pridgeon is of the land and from the land. Throughout his career, at this University and in community and governmental service, he has articulated the importance of Michigan's agriculture.

His contributions were recognized when Michigan State University honored him with the Distinguished Service to Agriculture award in 1970. His talents were further recognized when he was appointed to and headed the Natural Resources Commission and later was named Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Therefore, be it hereby resolved that the members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University acknowledge Trustee Dean Pridgeon's devoted service and accomplishments in community and governmental service and, in particularly for his contributions as a member of this Board.

On behalf of the entire Michigan State University community, we wish him well as he joins his two sons in Branch County to operate the farm that has been in the family for six generations."

Trustee Pridgeon remarked about the rewards of serving the University. He spoke of the importance of agriculture, the land-grant mission, the accomplishments and future challenges of Michigan State. Mr. Pridgeon's comments are included with the Board Agenda in the Office of the Secretary of the Board of Trustees.
Individual Trustees expressed personal sentiments to Trustees Pridgeon and Reinhold in appreciation of their friendship and their service to the University.

D. Trustee Cook remarked that last evening when the two retiring Trustees were honored the Board also acknowledged, by resolution, the stewardship and outstanding service of former Provost David K. Scott and former Secretary of the Board of Trustees Marylee Davis.

Resolution to Dr. David K. Scott

"From the time of his birth and youth on the Orkney Islands off the coast of Scotland, Dr. David K. Scott has been driven by a quest for excellence in himself, his colleagues, and his students.

And, he has achieved excellence as a student at Edinburgh University and Oxford University, as a nuclear physics researcher and Director of the Cyclotron Laboratory at the University of California-Berkeley, and in his roles at MSU as a Hannah Professor of Physics and Astronomy and of Chemistry, as Associate Provost, and as Provost.

The Board of Trustees is particularly appreciative of Dr. Scott's achievements as Provost. He led the academic community effectively and imaginatively, seeking at all times to provide an environment that nurtures the continuing growth of both students and faculty. During a period of limited financial resources, enabled growth in critical areas.

He pioneered educational innovation by launching R-Cubed, a campus-wide initiative that is now being used as a pattern for other universities. By refocusing, rebalancing, and refining Michigan State University, R-Cubed has prepared the campus community to meet the opportunities and challenges of a new decade a new century. His recognition of the needs of the future, and his determination to help the campus prepare, placed the university in a position to compete in a changing world.

He led the development of programs for providing students with a broad, integrated education, for bringing MSU to a semester system, and for making everyone in the MSU community more appreciative and knowledgeable of the strength of diversity.

At the Winter Term Commencement in 1982, Dr. Scott said to the graduating class:

'There is a university visible and a university invisible. The one is made up of buildings, like those on this lovely campus here at Michigan State, of teachers and students and of ceremonious occasions such as this. The other exists in the spirit which animates the whole.'

Today, the Board of Trustees recognizes, commends, and offers its profound gratitude for Dr. Scott's leadership of the university visible and to say that wherever the future leads him, he will remain an energizing force in the university invisible."

Resolution to Dr. Marylee Davis

"The Board of Trustees of Michigan State University today extends to Marylee Davis its deep appreciation and best wishes.

For more than six years, Dr. Davis served with distinction as Executive Assistant to the President of Michigan State University and as Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

In these dual roles, she served the President as chief of staff and served the Board of Trustees as its administrative liaison. Prior to these key appointments, she was Special Assistant to the Executive Vice President and later was named Assistant Vice President for Administration and Public Affairs.

This past summer, Dr. Davis was appointed Associate Vice President of University Relations for Public Service and Community Affairs.

Her work as a University administrator is complemented by her presence in the classroom as a Professor of Higher Education."
December 11, 1992

Dr. Davis is active in alumni and civic affairs, and serves on numerous community service boards.

She is past President and past General Campaign Chair for the Capitol Area United Way—the first woman to serve in this capacity in the Tri-County Area.

Among her numerous honors is the "Business/Professional Woman of the Year Award," presented in 1982 by the Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce. This Chamber recognition, known as the "Athena Award," became a national award in 1985, making Dr. Davis the first "Athena" recipient nationwide.

For her leadership, on and off the University campus; for her commitment to higher education; and for her dedication to public service—the Board of Trustees, on behalf of Michigan State University and the citizens of Michigan, extends to Marylee Davis gratitude and best wishes for the future."

On a motion by Mr. Weiss, supported by Dr. Mawby, THE BOARD VOTED to participate in an amicus brief, Booth Newspapers versus Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, in support of the University of Michigan in its appeal.

Mr. Weiss commented on the importance of the involvement, representation, and participation of all University groups in the decision of selecting a President for this University.

Mr. Weiss expressed his strong conviction that Michigan State has a responsibility to fulfill its land-grant mission by serving the people of the world.

Ms. Rujuta Bhatt, a senior in James Madison College and biochemistry, was introduced by President Guyer as the University's sixth Rhodes Scholar in ten years. Ms. Bhatt thanked professors who have been supportive, the Honors College, Department of Biochemistry, and especially James Madison College.
