5. Guiding Principles Report

Vice President Greenleaf reported on South Africa and the Guiding Principles involved with the initiative, such as Diversity within community and Problem Solving. The purpose has been to reengage MSU in South Africa after the University had taken a lead in opposing apartheid. As a result of past activity, Michigan State is well known and highly respected. The Provost will provide $50,000 in seed money to match funds from various colleges. Currently, the Colleges of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Education, and Social Science have been most actively involved. Professor Donald Mead, a leading agricultural economist, has also played an important role. Activities in South Africa are very different than in earlier years. Foundations and governmental agencies are giving funds to institutions, so in order for MSU to participate, partnerships will have to be formed.

6. There were no requests to address the Board of Trustees on issues germane to the agenda.

7. Personnel Actions

Provost Simon presented the following personnel action:

A. Appointment

1) King, Lonnie J., AN-Dean, College of Veterinary Medicine; Professor, Department of Large Animal Clinical Sciences, $140,000, with Tenure, effective July 1, 1996,

9. E. Budget Actions

1) MSU Tuition Guarantee

It was recommended to extend the MSU Tuition Guarantee for the Fall 1996 entering class. Tuition rate increases for the next three years (fiscal years 1996-97, 1997-98, and 1998-99) will be held to the projected rate of inflation, and, as an added incentive to the students of the Fall 1996 entering freshman class to graduate in four years, this assurance will be extended to them for a fourth year (fiscal year 1999-2000). This action is contingent upon state appropriation increases for Michigan State University's general fund of at least the rate of inflation.

After adjustments for inflation, this action will result in no real tuition increases for the next three years for all students and for the next four years for the Fall 1996 entering freshman class. If the state does not provide at least cost of living increases, it is anticipated that the tuition decision will be considered by the committee accordingly in order to sustain quality.

The MSU Tuition Guarantee acknowledges the potential for restructuring the existing tuition and fee structure to address concerns such as course load, and part-time and off-campus students, within the context of an overall inflation-based adjustment.

2) Guidelines for the Development of the 1996-97 Budgets

Vice President Wilkinson said that the Guidelines are basically for a 3% growth in the operating budgets, a 3% tuition and fee adjustment in keeping with the Tuition Guarantee, and working with a 1% efficiency factor with the base operating dollars for program reallocations. In addition, the Guidelines provide for a Quality Fund to focus on special University needs to ensure excellence. If the State appropriation is above the general rate of inflation, those funds would be released following discussions with the Board at a later date. The Guidelines suggest that the Quality Fund should be used for financing part of the new science building and providing for faculty market adjustments as high priorities. Remaining dollars in the Quality Fund would go to a series of significant programmatic priorities.

Provost Simon noted that the faculty salary recommendation inherent in the Guidelines is consistent with the structure of the Faculty Affairs recommendation including that all increases be based on merit. Where it differs is in the amount recommended in terms of the specific percentages. The Quality Fund would be used to deal with the recruitment and retention of those key faculty essential to MSU's reputation. Provost Simon said that a budget from her perspective is always an art of the possible, as opposed to the art of the preferred. Given the quality and contributions of the MSU faculty, it would have been justifiable to have recommended much more in terms of the compensation increase. But in the context of the art of the possible, there is also a need to support the Science Building. This should not be interpreted as bricks and mortar being more important than people, but that for the faculty to be successful, it must have facilities such as the Science Building to advance quality and reputation.

It was recommended to adopt the Guidelines for the Development of the 1996-97 Budgets and direct the administration to implement the tuition and fee schedule contained herein, and to develop the General Fund, Agricultural Experiment Station, Michigan State University Extension, and Intercollegiate Athletics budgets in accordance with these guidelines for submittal to the Board of Trustees at its June meeting.

On a motion by Mr. Nugent, supported by Ms. Gonzales, THE BOARD VOTED to approve the recommendations.

F. Trustee Nugent reported that the Committee received a report on the recent bond financing authorized by the Board of Trustees at its February meeting. The Committee also received a report on investment restructuring actions taken by the Committee pursuant to delegated authority granted by the Board of Trustees at its February meeting.
April 12, 1996

President McPherson thanked Trustee Traxler for his service to the committee and assistance with the tuition guarantee proposal. The President said he looked forward to Mr. Traxler’s continued advocacy for both quality and cost attainment.

10. Committee Chairperson McNamara presented the report of the Trustee Policy Committee as follows.

It remains an important tool in the efforts to continue making progress toward a fairer and more representative America."

11. President McPherson reported on some of the more significant awards of Michigan State faculty.

A. Howard Brody, Professor of Family Practice and director of MSU’s Center for Ethics and Humanities in the Life Sciences, has been elected to the prestigious Institute of Medicine (IOM). The Institute is composed of more than 500 members, all of whom have made significant contributions to health and medicine.

B. Trustee Traxler said he had neglected to mention Secretary Pogel in his earlier comments and wanted to acknowledge her excellent performance.

C. Trustee Mawby expressed appreciation for the leadership Trustee Traxler has provided to the Finance Committee and is delighted that he will continue as a member of the committee.

Dr. Mawby said he continues to be impressed with people and exciting events of significance and substance that are taking place at the University.

One example is the CQI Program which he believes will enhance the character of the University and the experience everyone who engages with the University will have.
April 12, 1996

12. D. Trustee McNamara stated that she is quite alarmed about the language and discussion regarding race that has recently appeared on The State News editorial page. She does not believe it is intellectual discussion representative of the majority of students, faculty, and staff at the University.

E. Trustee Nugent thanked Trustee Traxler for his leadership as Finance Committee chairperson. He said he was pleased that Trustee Traxler would continue as a member of the Finance Committee.

F. Trustee Gonzales commented on the Affirmative Action report presented by Dr. Bonner. She stated that inclusiveness and opportunity at the University are the result of many individuals. In particular, she recognized William Wiseman as an individual who has demonstrated inclusiveness in purchasing practices over a long career.

Ms. Gonzales thanked Trustee Traxler, in his role as committee chair, for challenging Board members to be prudent.

G. Trustee Shingleton thanked Student Liaison members for their contributions as representatives of the student body. He encouraged Trustees to attend the honor awards program for handicapped students that afternoon. Mr. Shingleton also commended the committee which selected the new dean of Veterinary Medicine and complimented Dr. Waldo Keller for his role.

13. The following individuals addressed the Board of Trustees on issues not germane to the agenda.

A. Maunda Burke and Amy Shindorf, MSU students, encouraged the University to participate in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Green Lights program. They recommended that the University replace its T-12 light bulbs with a T-8 light bulb which uses less energy, produces more light, and needs to be replaced much less often creating a savings of work hours.

14. An Executive Session was not requested.

15. On a motion by Ms. Gonzales, supported by Mr. Traxler, the meeting adjourned at 11:33 a.m.
