9. The report of President Guyer included the following:

A. President Guyer commented on his deliberate priority of interacting with people important to the University by hosting events at Cowles House during Spring semester. A list of those events was distributed to Board members.

B. Trustees Shingleton and Gonzales are scheduled to accompany Dr. Guyer to Central America in February to view the University's commitment to international projects.

C. Dr. Guyer expects to visit colleges for meetings with deans and faculty to share his perspective, and provide an opportunity for questions, regarding the financial challenges facing the University. He also will be visiting with students, employees, labor unions, and other constituent groups.

D. An organized team of alumni is working with Admissions to aggressively recruit students in the State and nationally. Dr. Guyer expressed his excitement with this rekindled spirit of recruitment.

E. Dr. Guyer will soon be making decisions on the pending legal issues of Williams and Garner. The Board will be provided with an update of those decisions.

F. The decision has been made for the University to return to decentralized graduation ceremonies for Spring semester. Decentralized ceremonies will allow for more guests which is the desire of the colleges and students.

G. Dr. Guyer commented on the information he provided to the Trustees on NCAA issues and the University's stance on those issues which will be considered at the upcoming NCAA convention.
H. During the holidays, Dr. Guyer visited Lansing area groups and people such as Cristo Rey Community Center, Black Child and Family Institute, Lansing Schools Superintendent Richard Halik, Mr. Richard Letts, and a number of others to better understand how Michigan State can be additionally responsible and responsive to societal concerns. Although he is pleased with current activities taking place in the community, he believes there are additional opportunities for MSU involvement. The University must be more aggressive and visible in sending a signal to the community.

I. Dr. Mawby expressed appreciation to President Guyer for sharing an update of the exciting activities taking place at this great University.

Ms. Sawyer applauded Dr. Guyer for encouraging international travel for Trustees. She believes every member of the Board should take advantage of this opportunity as the University benefits tenfold by the increased appreciation of Trustees for the international mission of the University.

10. Dr. Guyer introduced the next session of the meeting by briefly reviewing the history of the University. The meeting continued with presentations by President Guyer and Dr. James Bonnen, Professor of Agricultural Economics, on the mission and philosophy of the University. Ms. Betty Golden and Mr. Steven Webster, Assistant Vice Presidents for Governmental Affairs, reported on the University-related activities of State and Federal government.
