I. Budget Report

President Simon stated that due to the uncertainties in the State of Michigan budget, action on tuition and fees would be taken by the Board of Trustees in July. Included in the planning parameters is the goal for MSU to remain in the top 100 universities in the world. The collective commitment at MSU has been assuring that it is at the heart of leading-edge international education for the people of Michigan and is working for a better future for Michigan.

President Simon said the budget principles have been simple and have avoided short term fixes because of MSU’s commitment to the people of Michigan to be financially sound. The major policy decision that has to be worked through is the status of the $32 million promised to MSU from the State of Michigan. Questions remain as to whether the State of Michigan has a plan in place to sustain a budget for 2008.

Eric Hinojosa, student liaison, said MSU has an unsure revenue stream from the State of Michigan which makes budgeting very difficult. The Board of Trustees and administration have been working hard on the budget and will continue to do so.

Jarrod Morrice, student liaison, said MSU needs to continue to encourage the State of Michigan to view MSU as an investment and not a liability. Mr. Morrice thanked the Trustees for their efforts.

the Board of Trustees and administration to preserve affordability for students and the high quality of MSU programs.

Jim Potchen, faculty liaison, applauded the Board of Trustees and administration for their work. The State of Michigan is not likely to come forward with any new money soon. MSU should do whatever possible to enhance alternative revenue streams.
